Tall Singer:

Navajo Blessingway Singer Frank Mitchell, 2003 This life history of a Navajo leader recorded in the 1960s and first published in 1977 is a classic work in the study of Navajo history and religious traditions A skillful meticulous and altogether praiseworthy contribution to Navajo studies Although the focus of Mitchell s autobiography is upon his role as a Blessingway singer there is much material here on Navajo history and culture in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Mitchell attended the government school at Fort Defiance worked on the railroad in Arizona served as a handyman and interpreter at several trading posts and the Franciscan missions and later served as a tribal councilman in the 1930s and as a judge in the 1940s and 1950s His observations on these experiences are relevant to our understanding of contemporary Navajo life

Lawrence C Kelly Western Historical Quarterly This book stands easily among the best of the native autobiographies Narrated by a thoughtful and articulate Navajo leader over a span of eighteen years this life history is brought into English with none of the selective romanticizing that has spoiled some books It is a superb job of bringing one culture ever closer to another Barre Tolken Western Folklore

The ^AInnate Mind Peter Carruthers, Stephen Laurence, Stephen Stich, 2005-07-14 This is the first volume of a projected three volume set on the subject of innateness The extent to which the mind is innate is one of the central questions in the human sciences with important implications for many surrounding debates By bringing together the top nativist scholars in philosophy psychology and allied disciplines these volumes provide a comprehensive assessment of nativist thought and a definitive reference point for future nativist inquiry The Innate Mind Structure and Content concerns the fundamental architecture of the mind addressing such question as What capacities processes representations biases and connections are innate How do these innate elements feed into a story about the development of our mature cognitive capacities and which of them are shared with other members of the animal kingdom The editors have provided an introduction giving some of the background to debates about innateness and introducing each of the subsequent essays as well as a consolidated bibliography that will be a valuable reference resource for all those interested in this area The volume will be of great importance to all researchers and students interested in the fundamental nature and powers of the human mind Together the three volumes in the series will provide the most intensive and richly cross disciplinary investigation of nativism ever undertaken They point the way toward a synthesis of nativist work that promises to provide a new understanding of our minds and their place in the natural order

The Fifth World of Forster Bennett Vincent Crapanzano, 2003-01-01 It is told that the ancestors of the Navajos journeyed through four worlds to reach the fifth or present one The pressing complexities and underlying wonder of their fifth world of modern reservation life are portrayed in this classic ethnographic account by Vincent Crapanzano As a young inexperienced anthropologist Crapanzano spent a summer with a Navajo man he calls

Forster Bennett In his fifties Bennett was raised during the early reservation years fought in the South Pacific in the Second World War and like many carried a deep but not always openly expressed resentment toward whites Crapanzano's honest and gritty account of his time with Bennett and Bennett's community reveals a stark portrait of the flat slow quality of reservation life where boredom and poverty coexist with age old sacred rituals and the varying ways that Navajos react and adjust to changes in their culture Dinéj Na`nitin Robert S.
