male re examines the problematic status of masculinity both in Hollywood cinema and feminist film theory Classical Hollywood cinema has been theoretically established as a vast pleasure machine manufacturing an idealized viewer through its phallocentric ideological apparatus Feminist criticism has shown how difficult it is for the female viewer to resist becoming implicated in this representational system But the theroies have overlooked the significance of the problem itself of the masuline motivation at the core of the system The essays here explore those male characters spectators and performers who occupy positions conventionally encoded as feminine in Hollywood narrative and questions just how secure that orthodox male position is Screening the Male brings together an impressive group of both established and emerging scholars from Britain the United States and Australia unified by a concern with issues that film theorists have exclusively inked to the femninie and not the masculne spectacle masochism passivity masquerade and most of all the body as it signifies gendered racial class and generatonal differences
