The Politics of Taste Ana María Reyes, 2019-11-15 In The Politics of Taste Ana María Reyes examines the works of Colombian artist Beatriz González and Argentine born art critic Marta Traba who championed González's art during Colombia's National Front coalition government 1958-74 During this critical period in Latin American art artistic practice art criticism and institutional objectives came into strenuous yet productive tension While González's triumphant debut excited critics who wanted to cast Colombian art as modern sophisticated and universal her turn to urban lowbrow culture proved deeply unsettling Traba praised González's cursi tacky recycling aesthetic as daringly subversive and her strategic localism as resistant to U.S. cultural imperialism Reyes reads González's and Traba's complex visual and textual production and their intertwined careers against Cold War modernization programs that were deeply embedded in the elite's fear of the masses and designed to avert Cuban inspired revolution In so doing Reyes provides fresh insights into Colombia's social anxieties and frustrations while highlighting how interrogations of taste became vital expressions of the growing discontent with the Colombian state

The Coloniality of Modern Taste Zilkia Janer, 2022-12-30 This book analyzes the coloniality of the concept of taste that gastronomy constructed and normalized as modern It shows how gastronomy's engagement with rationalist and aesthetic thought and with colonial and capitalist structures led to the desensualization bureaucratization and racialization of its conceptualization of taste The Coloniality of Modern Taste provides an understanding of gastronomy that moves away from the usual celebratory approach Through a discussion of nineteenth century gastronomic publications this book illustrates how the gastronomic notion of taste was shaped by a number of specifically modern constraints. It compares the gastronomic approach to taste to conceptualizations of taste that emerged in other geographical and philosophical contexts to illustrate that the gastronomic approach stands out as particularly bereft of affect. The book argues that the understanding of taste constructed by gastronomic texts continues to burden the affective experience of taste while encouraging patterns of food consumption that rely on an exploitative and unsustainable global food system. This book will appeal to students and scholars interested in cultural studies, decoloniality, affect theory, sensory studies, gastronomy, and food studies. TASTE Andrea Pavoni, Danilo Mandić, Caterina Nirta, Andreas Philippopoulos-Mihalopoulos, 2018-07-25. Taste usually occupies the bottom of the sensorial hierarchy as the quintessentially hedonistic sense too close to the animal, the elemental and the corporeal and for this reason disciplined and moralised. At the same time taste is indissolubly tied to knowledge. To taste is to discriminate, emit judgement, enter an unstable domain of synaesthetic normativity where the certainty of metaphysical categories begins to crumble. This second title in the Law and the Senses series explores law using taste as a conceptual and ontological category able to unsettle legal certainties and a promising tool whereby to investigate the materiality of law's relation to the world. For what else is law's reduction of the world into legal categories if not law's ingesting the world by tasting it and emitting moral and legal judgements accordingly. Through various topics including coffee, wine, craft, cider and Japanese knotweed, this volume explores the normativities that shape the way taste is felt and categorised within and beyond subjective phenomenological and human dimensions. The result is an original interdisciplinary volume complete with seven speculative recipes dedicated to a rarely explored intersection with contributions from artists, legal academics, philosophers, anthropologists and sociologists. Essentials of Machine Olfaction and Taste Takamichi Nakamoto, 2016-05-03. Essentials of Machine Olfaction and Taste. This book provides a valuable information source for olfaction and taste which includes a comprehensive and timely overview of the current state of knowledge of use for olfaction and taste machines. Ryan, 2018-01-16. From one of the world's leading authorities on animal behavior, the astonishing story of how the female brain drives the evolution of beauty in animals and humans. Darwin developed the theory of sexual selection to explain why the animal world abounds in stunning beauty from the brilliant colors of butterflies and fishes to the songs of birds and frogs. He argued that animals have a taste for the beautiful that drives their potential mates to evolve features that make them more sexually attractive and reproductively successful. But if Darwin explained why sexual beauty evolved in animals, he struggled to understand how. In A Taste for the Beautiful Michael Ryan, one of the world's leading authorities on animal behavior, tells the remarkable story of how he and other scientists have taken up where Darwin left off and transformed our understanding of sexual selection shedding new light on human behavior in the process Drawing on cutting edge work in neuroscience and evolutionary biology as well as his own important studies of the tiny T ngara frog deep in the jungles of Panama Ryan explores the key questions Why do animals perceive certain traits as beautiful and others not Do animals have an inherent sexual aesthetic and if so where is it rooted Ryan argues that the answers to these questions lie in the brain particularly of females who act as biological puppeteers spurring the development of beautiful traits in males This theory of how sexual beauty evolves explains its astonishing diversity and provides new insights about the degree to which our own perception of beauty resembles that of other animals Vividly written and filled with fascinating stories A Taste for the Beautiful will change how you think about beauty and attraction
