Cinema and Secularism Mark Cauchi,2023-12-14 Cinema and Secularism is the first collection to make the relationship between cinema and secularism thematic utilizing a number of different methodological approaches to examine their identification and differentiation across film theory film aesthetics film history and throughout global cinema The emergence of moving images and the history of cinema historically coincide with the emergence of secularism as a concept and discourse More than historically coinciding however cinema and secularism would seem to have and many contemporary theorists and critics seem to assume a more intrinsic almost ontological connection to each other While early film theorists and critics explicitly addressed questions about secularism religion and cinema once the study of film was professionalized and secularized in the Western academy in both film studies and religious studies explicit and critical attention to the relationship between cinema and secularism rapidly declined Indeed if one canvases film scholarship today one will find barely any works dedicated to thinking critically about the relationship between cinema and secularism Extending the recent secular turn in the humanities and social sciences Cinema and Secularism provokes critical reflection on its titular concepts Making contributions to theory philosophy criticism and history the chapters in this pioneering volume collectively interrogate the assumption that cinema is secular how secularism is conceived and related to cinema differently in different film cultures and whether the world is disenchanted or enchanted in cinema Coming from intellectually diverse backgrounds in film studies religious studies and philosophy the interdisciplinary contributors to this book cover films and traditions of thought from America Europe Africa the Middle East South Asia and East Asia In these ways Cinema and Secularism opens new areas of inquiry in the study of film and contributes to the ongoing interrogation of secularism more broadly Roland Barthes and Film Patrick Ffrench, 2019-10-31 Suspicious of what he called the spectator's sticky adherence to the screen Roland Barthes had a cautious attitude towards cinema Falling into a hypnotic trance the philosopher warned an audience can become susceptible to ideology and myth In this book Patrick Ffrench explains that although Barthes was wary of film he engaged deeply with it Barthes thought was Ffrench argues punctuated by the experience of watching films and likewise his philosophy of photography culture semiotics ethics and theatricality have been immensely important in film theory Focusing particularly on the essays The Third Meaning and On Leaving the Cinema and the acclaimed book Camera Lucida Ffrench examines Barthes writing and traces a persistent interest in films and directors from Fellini and Antonioni to Eisenstein the Marx Brothers and Hitchcock Ffrench explains that although Barthes found pleasure in leaving the cinema disconnecting from its dangerous allure by a literal exit or by forcefully breaking the trance he found value in returning to the screen anew Barthes delved beneath the pull of progressing narrative and the moving image by becoming attentive to space and material aesthetics This book presents an invaluable reassessment of one of the most original and subtle thinkers of the twentieth century a figure indebted to the movies Cinema of Disorientation Dominic Lash, 2020-07-06 Precisely perhaps because they are so immediately absorbing narrative films can also be profoundly confusing and disorienting This fascinating book neither proposes foolproof methods for avoiding confusion nor does it suggest that disorientation is always a virtue Instead it argues that the best way to come to terms with our confusion is to look closely at exactly what is confusing us and why At the heart of the book are original close readings of four important recent films David Lynch's INLAND EMPIRE 2006 Leos Carax's Holy Motors 2012 Pedro Costa's Colossal Youth 2006 and Jean Luc Godard's Goodbye to Language 2014 Clearly written but critically and theoretically bold The Cinema of Disorientation Inviting Confusions explores both how we get or fail to get our bearings with respect to a film and what we might discover by and while doing so Happiness by Design Justus Nieland, 2020-02-18 A cultural history of modern lifestyle viewed through film and multimedia experiments of midcentury designers Charles and Ray Eames For the designers Charles and Ray Eames happiness was both a technical and ideological problem central to the future of liberal democracy Being happy demanded new things but also a vanguard life in media that the Eameses modeled as they brought film into their design practice Midcentury modernism is often considered institutionalized but Happiness by Design casts Eames era designers as innovative media artists technophilic humanists change managers and neglected film theorists Happiness by Design offers a fresh cultural history of midcentury modernism through the film and multimedia experiments of Charles and Ray Eames and their peers Will Burtin L szl Moholy Nagy and Gy rgy Kepes among others at a moment when designers enjoyed a new cultural prestige Justus Nieland traces how as representatives of the American Century s exuberant material culture Cold War designers engaged in creative activities that spanned disciplines and blended art and technoscience while reckoning with the environmental reach of media at the dawn of the information age Eames era modernism Nieland shows fueled novel techniques of culture administration spawning new partnerships between cultural and educational institutions corporations and the state From the studio showroom floor or classroom to the stages of world fairs and international conferences the midcentury multimedia experiments of Charles and Ray Eames and their circle became key to a liberal democratic lifestyle and also anticipated the look and feel of our networked present
