Fletcher, 1991 Parallel Texts Victor Burgin, 2012-01-01 Artist and critic Victor Burgin's visual and written works span four decades and Parallel Texts presents a compilation of essays interviews and extracts that evidence the interconnectedness throughout his career of his vast artistic oeuvre exhibited around the world and his influential critical and theoretical writings on art Organized chronologically Parallel Texts includes Burgin's take on the emergence of conceptual art in the early 1970s his explorations on the theoretical foundations for a post conceptualist socialist art practice in such non Western precedents as Maoism and Russian Formalism and essays on the issues of gender politics and sexuality as they came to the fore in psychoanalytic criticism In addition excerpts from The End of Art Theory record his observations on an art world turning toward fashion and gaining unusual wealth His later works influenced by his experiences teaching cultural theory at the University of California look at art theory from within an environment almost unrecognizably transformed by cultural political and economic globalization as well as unprecedented forms of technology and violence An extensive selection of works from a long and influential artistic career Parallel Texts will be invaluable to admirers of Burgin's art and writing as well as those readers with an interest in contemporary art and art theory Situation Aesthetics Kirsii Peltomaki, 2014-02-14 The first book length study of this influential artist's work focusing on the participatory role of the human subject rather than the art object Michael Asher doesn't make typical installations. Instead he extracts his art from the institutions in which it is shown, culling it from collections, histories, or museums' own walls. Since the late 1960s, Asher has been creating situations that have not only taught us about the conditions and contexts of contemporary art but have worked to define it. In Situation Aesthetics, Kirsi Peltomäki examines Asher's practice by analyzing the social situations that the artist constructs in his work for viewers, participants, and institutional representatives, including gallery directors, curators, and other museum staff members. Drawing on art criticism, the reports of viewers and participants in Asher's projects, and the artist's own archives, Peltomäki offers a comprehensive account of Asher's work over the past four decades. Because of the intensely site-specific nature of this work, as well as the artist's refusal to reconstruct past works or mount retrospectives, many of the projects Peltomäki discusses are described here for the first time. By emphasizing the social and psychological sites of art rather than the production of autonomous art objects, Peltomäki argues, Asher constructs experientially complex situations that profoundly affect those who encounter them, bringing about both personal and institutional transformation.

Ed Moses Ed Moses, John Yau, 1996 Ed Moses, b. 1928, is widely considered to be one of the central figures in the rich and complex history of postwar West Coast art. Like Richard Diebenkorn and Sam Francis, his work has been greatly influenced by the brilliant light of Southern California. Modernism and European and American abstract art are also echoed in Moses's work, and the vitality of his diverse oeuvre radiates throughout this first major retrospective of his paintings and drawings. Although he attended art school, Ed Moses is an autodidact who has labored to overcome his inability as he put it to draw three dimensionally. And drawing has been central to his work, the spine from which all of his art extends. From his egg tempera paintings in the early 1950s to the raw shock paintings and drawings of the early 1990s, he has found ways to investigate the relationship between spontaneity, the legacy of abstract expressionism, and control and balance inherited from Mondrian and the Russian constructivists. Moving decisively from abstraction to figuration and from monochrome to tonality and color, Moses like de Kooning and Pollock has consistently turned away from the predictable and has sought new ground. In his bold exploration of forms and methods, Ed Moses has avoided the label of a particular tradition and instead continues to reinvent himself. With over seventy paintings and drawings that span his career, this is the most comprehensive book on Ed Moses available today. I felt as though these paintings were not something I created; they were something I discovered. Ed Moses
