Prescott, 1997-01-01 World Bank Discussion Paper No 374 China's far ranging program of macroeconomic reform affects monetary financial fiscal and exchange rate policies as well as institution building This book contains papers produced from 1992 to 1994 by China's Department of Macroeconomic Regulation Studies DMRS under the direction of the System Restructuring Commission These include reports and essays on Chinese macroeconomic policy and reforms carried out or led by the DMRS reflecting the key issues and debates of this period The papers provide a history of the department's work corrects some misunderstandings and constitutes a record of experiences that may be useful for future studies on economic reform and policy initiatives The Regulation of Non-bank Financial Institutions Anjali Kumar, Terry M. Chuppe, Paula Perttunen, 1997 World Bank Discussion Paper No 362 There has been tremendous growth worldwide in the mobilization of financial resources outside traditional banking systems Channeled mainly through capital markets such rapid financial diversification is posing new challenges for regulators in many emerging markets This document describes the various aspects and implications of this growth reviews the regulatory framework adopted in some mature market economies including the United States and the European Union and discusses regulatory issues in emerging markets Market-based Instruments for Environmental Policymaking in Latin America and the Caribbean Richard M. Huber, H. Jack Ruitenbeek, Ronaldo Seroa da Motta, 1998 To preserve the environment with the lowest possible cost to the social sector means that private costs should be aligned with social costs Many governments in the Latin American and Caribbean Region are doing this now using market based instruments MBIs This publication investigates the use of MBIs in the Latin America and the Caribbean LAC context The investigation covers a sample of eleven countries in the region and a cross section of environmental issues in an urban setting Financial Incentives for Renewable Energy Development ,1998-01-01 The World Bank is providing assistance to the Government of China to help develop recommendations for changes to China's present system of financial incentives for commercial renewable energy development This book reports on a Bank workshop that examined international experience with financial incentives for grid connected wind power systems and off grid photovoltaic systems in the United Kingdom Germany the Netherlands Denmark the United States California India and China The collective experiences of the countries were further examined to indicate other directions for developing financial incentives for market based renewable energy development as well as the underlying reasons for these tendencies Preventing Banking Sector Distress and Crises in Latin America Suman K. Bery,Valeriano F. García,1997-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 361 Education has emerged as an essential component of the transition to a market economy in Central and Eastern Europe Although the countries of the region inherited broadly accessible education systems the legacies of central planning have constrained the systems from fully adjusting to market economies This study examines empirical trends in access to and financing of education in nine Central and East European countries by drawing on the findings of a World Bank project that examined the social risks facing people and the policy responses taken by governments since 1989 Chapters address access and participation the labor market financing and staff in the education sector China Shiwei Shao,1997 Based on a report by a World Bank task force this book provides a candid assessment of the Bank's operations in Sub Saharan Africa The book examines how the Bank can strengthen its operational response to poverty and improve food security recommends improvements and innovative approaches to poverty reduction and discusses ways of strengthening and making further use of regional initiatives Although the report identifies improvements in the work on poverty reduction that have taken place since 1995 it finds that much remains to be done On average 45 to 50 percent of Sub Saharan Africans live below the poverty line a much higher proportion than any other region of the world except South Asia The commitment of governments to poverty reduction is usually weak only about 12 African governments have such a commitment Economic growth rates are generally far too low to reduce poverty significantly growth rates of 6.5 percent per year are required for countries in this region to reduce poverty at an acceptable rate The World Bank's lending has emphasized growth focusing almost 58 percent of its assistance to the region on creating the mechanisms for growth through policy change and large scale investments The World Bank's focus on poverty reduction in programming and lending must intensify in all its operational work All development partners should establish stronger collaboration in planning their assistance programs Developing the Nonfarm Sector in Bangladesh Shahid Yusuf,Praveen Kumar,1996-01-01 IFC Discussion Paper No 30 Draws on a case study of a cement plant in Estonia to compare the private costs of curbing pollution with the social benefits that may accrue to the population The study concludes that the social benefits exceed private costs by a margin that sufficiently justifies the environmental investment Land Reform in Ukraine Csaba Csáki,Zvi Lerman,1997-01-01 This study summarizes the first five years 1991-96 of agrarian reforms in Ukraine presenting the results of a farm level survey conducted in 11 provinces between January and March 1996 The findings show that the growth of private farming has slowed down

Land Reform and Farm Restructuring in Moldova Zvi Lerman, Csaba Csáki, Victor Moroz, 1998-01-01 Agricultural reforms including privatization of land and farm restructuring are an important cornerstone for overall transformation of the economies of the former socialist world This paper summarizes the current status of land reform in Moldova and shows how there has been clear progress in creating a market based agriculture and food sector in Moldova The results of this study indicate that genuine restructuring and transition to full fledged private farming have resulted in improved profitability and higher incomes for private farmers than those achieved by traditional collectives
