The First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians Clement of Rome, Aeterna Press, Owing dear brethren to the sudden and successive calamitous events which have happened to ourselves we feel that we have been somewhat tardy in turning our attention to the points respecting which you consulted us and especially to that shameful and detestable sedition utterly abhorrent to the elect of God which a few rash and self confident persons have kindled to such a pitch of frenzy that your venerable and illustrious name worthy to be universally loved has suffered grievous injury For who ever dwelt even for a short time among you and did not find your faith to be as fruitful of virtue as it was firmly established Who did not admire the sobriety and moderation of your godliness in Christ Who did not proclaim the magnificence of your habitual hospitality

The First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians Pope Clement I,1937 The First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians Clemens Alexandrinus,2017-11-03 The First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians The Suppressed Gospels and Epistles of the Original New Testament of Jesus the Christ Translated from the Original Tongues With Historical References to their authenticity by Archbishop Wake and other Learned Divines The First Epistle of Clement is a letter addressed to the Christians in the city of Corinth The letter was composed at some time between AD 80 and AD 140 and ranks with Didache as one of the earliest if not the earliest of extant Christian documents outside the canonical New Testament As the name suggests a Second Epistle of Clement is known but this is a later work by a different author Neither 1 nor 2 Clement are part of the canonical New Testament but they are part of the Apostolic Fathers collection The letter was occasioned by a dispute in Corinth which had led to the removal from office of several presbyters Since none of the presbyters were charged with moral offences 1 Clement charges that their removal was high handed and unjustifiable The letter was extremely lengthy it was twice as long as the Epistle to the Hebrews and includes many references to the Old Testament of which he demonstrates a knowledge Clement repeatedly refers to the Old Testament as Scripture The First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians Clement Of Rome,2022-04 The Patristic Treasury is a collection of assorted works by the early Church Fathers spanning from the Ante Nicene to the Nicene and Post Nicene periods In this collection you will uncover the wisdom of the ancients with deep roots in the divinely inspired Scriptures as they speak on various doctrinal matters It is no exaggeration that nearly the whole New Testament can be reconstructed from the writings of the Church Fathers such was the veneration that the Church Fathers had for the divinely inspired Scriptures While certainly not perfect and by no means the fount of the church for its growth and development by the grace of God the writings of the Church Fathers have proven to be a guiding light for the church in its spiritual devotion and its quest for better understanding God s revealed Truth Whether we are aware of it or not the Church Fathers were foundational in the growth and purity of early Christianity having a lasting impact that extends to today The 1st Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians Clement Rome,2016-12-09 Ever wondered if there were more writings from the first few centuries by Christians Well the answer is YES There is much that the early Christians left us and they are available in this day and time The New Testament is our rock to stand upon but there are other works that we can glean from that are filled with godly wisdom and virtue The 1st Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians is just that kind of work that can further your walk with Christ in this present day Clement was a man that was said to have known the great apostles Paul and Peter Can you imagine that What if you could learn from someone that was familiar with the great pillars of our faith Here is your chance Bless you in Christ name The First Epistle to the Corinthians Anthony C. Thiselton,2000 A new examination of a classic Christian text begins with the Greek text of the Corinthians and outlines the most important theological ethical and socio historical issues surrounding this seminal book

First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians Clement Of Rome, 2024-02-23 a d 30 100 Clement was probably a Gentile and a Roman He seems to have been at Philippi with St Paul a d 57 when that first born of the Western churches was passing through great trials of faith There with holy women and others he ministered to the apostle and to the saints As this city was a Roman colony we need not inquire how a Roman happened to be there He was possibly in some public service and it is not improbable that he had visited Corinth in those days From the apostle and his companion St Luke he had no doubt learned the use of the Septuagint in which his knowledge of the Greek tongue soon rendered him an adept His copy of that version however does not always agree with the Received Text as the reader will perceive The First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians.-The Second Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians. [Both in the Translation by William Wake.] Pope Clement I, 1863 THE WRITINGS OF THE APOSTOLIC FATHERS. Irving Risch, 1910 THE first Epistle bearing the name of Clement has been preserved to us in a single manuscript only Though very frequently referred to by ancient Christian writers it remained unknown to the scholars of Western Europe until happily discovered in the Alexandrian manuscript This MS of the sacred Scriptures known and generally referred to as Codex A was presented in 1628 by Cyril Patriarch of Constantinople to Charles 1 and is now preserved in the British Museum Subjoined to the books of the New Testament contained in it there are two writings described as the Epistles of one Clement Of these that now before us is the first It is tolerably perfect but there are many slight lacunae or gaps in the ms and one whole leaf is supposed to have been lost towards the close These lacunae however so numerous in some chapters do not generally extend beyond a word or syllable and can for the most part be easily supplied Who the Clement was to whom these writings are ascribed cannot with absolute certainty be determined The general opinion is that he is the same as the person of that name referred to by St Paul Phil iv 3 The writings themselves contain no statement as to their author The first and by far the longer of them simply purports to have been written in the name of the church at Rome to the church at Corinth But in the catalogue of contents prefixed to the MS they are both plainly attributed to one Clement and the judgment of most scholars is that in regard to the first epistle at least this statement is correct and that it is to be regarded as an authentic production of the friend and fellow worker of St Paul This belief may be traced to an early period in the history of the church It is found in the writings of Eusebius Hist Eccl iii 15 of Origen Comm in Joan i 29 and others The internal evidence also tends to support this opinion The doctrine style and manner of thought are all in accordance with it so that although as has been said positive certainty cannot be reached on the subject we may with great probability conclude that we have in this epistle a composition of that Clement who is known to us from Scripture as having been an associate of the great apostle The date of this epistle has been the subject of considerable controversy It is clear from the writing itself that it was composed soon after some persecution chap i which the Roman church had endured and the only question is whether we are to fix upon the persecution under Nero or Domitian If the former the date will be about the year 68 if the latter we must place it towards the close of the first century or the beginning of the second We possess no external aid to the settlement of this question The lists of early Roman bishops are in hopeless confusion some making Clement the immediate successor of St Peter others placing Linus and others still Linus and Anacletus between him and the apostle The internal evidence again leaves the matter doubtful though it has been strongly pressed on both sides The probability seems on the whole to be in favour of the Domitian period so that the epistle may be dated about A D 97 This epistle was held in very great esteem by the early church The account given of it by Eusebius Hist Eccl iii 16 is as follows There is one acknowledged epistle of this Clement whom he has just identified with the friend of St Paul great and admirable which he wrote in the name of the church of Rome to the church at Corinth sedition having then arisen in the latter church We are aware that this epistle has been publicly read in very many churches both in old times and also in our own day The epistle before us thus appears to have been read in numerous churches as being almost on a level with the canonical writings And its place in the Alexandrian MS immediately after the inspired books is in harmony with the position thus assigned it in the primitive church There does indeed appear a great difference between it and the inspired writings in many respects such as the fanciful use sometimes made of Old Testament statements the fabulous stories which are accepted by its author and the general diffuseness and feebleness of style by which it is distinguished But the high tone of evangelical truth which pervades it the simple and earnest appeals which it makes to the heart and conscience and the anxiety which its writer so constantly shows to promote the best interests of the church of Christ still impart an undying charm to this precious relic of later apostolic times
