N. Gorb, 2007-05-08 In 1974 when I published my book Biological Mechanism of Attachment not many pages were required to report on the attachment devices of insect cuticles As in most fields of research our knowledge on this specific subject has simply exploded Dr Stanislav N Gorb now describes the present day level of our knowledge to which he has personally contributed so much and a research team working on biological microtribology has gradually developed also With modern methods of measurement it is possible to enter the structure function relationship much more deeply even down to a molecular level which was not possible two and a half decades ago It is a well known fact that in biology the more sophisticated the measuring method the greater the achievement of biological fundamental research and its resulting evidence Our knowledge remains at a certain level until new methods once more permit a forward leap Biological knowledge develops in the form of a stepped curve rather than linear as reflected in the studies carried out on the attachment devices of insect cuticles Dragonflies Pieter van Dokkum,2015-01-01 Fotoboek met close up foto s van libellen The Dragonfly Flight. John C.
