Stone Priest The:

The Sulu Zone, 1768-1898 James Francis Warren, 2007 First published in 1981 The Sulu Zone has become a classic in the field of Southeast Asian History The book deals with a fascinating geographical cultural and historical border zone centred on the Sulu and Celebes Seas between 1768 and 1898 and its complex interactions with China and the West The author examines the social and cultural forces generated within the Sulu Sultanate by the China trade namely the advent of organized long distance maritime slave raiding and the assimilation of captives on a hitherto unprecedented scale into a traditional Malayo Muslim social system How entangled commodities trajectories of tastes and patterns of consumption and desire that span continents linked to slavery and slave raiding the manipulation of diverse ethnic groups the meaning and constitution of culture and state formation James Warren responds to this question by reconstructing the social economic and political relationships of diverse peoples in a multi ethnic zone of which the Sulu Sultanate was the centre and by problematizing important categories like piracy slavery culture ethnicity and the state His work analyzes the dynamics of the last autonomous Malayo Muslim maritime state over a long historical period and describes its stunning response to the world capitalist economy and the rapid forward movement of colonialism and modernity It also shows how the changing world of global cultural flows and economic interactions caused by cross cultural trade and European dominance affected men and women who were forest dwellers highlanders and slaves people who worked in everyday jobs as fishers raiders divers or traders Often neglected by historians the response of these members of society are a crucial part of the history of Southeast Asia

Looting or Missioning Egil Mikkelsen, 2019-09-15 Until now insular and continental material mostly metal work found in pagan Viking Age graves in Norway has been interpreted as looted material from churches and monasteries on the British Isles and the Continent The raiding Vikings brought these objects back to their homeland where they were often broken up and used as jewellery or got alternative functions Looting or Missioning looks at the use and functions of these sacred objects in their original Christian contexts Based on such an analysis the author proposes an alternative interpretation of these objects they were brought by Christian missionaries from different parts of the British Isles and the Continent to Norway The objects were either personal crosses croziers portable reliquaries etc objects used for baptism hanging bowls equipment to officiate a mass mountings from books or reading equipment altars or crosses or to give the communion pitchers glass vessels chalices paten We know from contemporary sources Ansgar in Birka Sweden in the ninth century that missionaries brought this sort of equipment on their mission journeys We also hear that missionaries were robbed killed or chased off Mikkelsen interprets the sacred objects found in Viking Age pagan graves as objects that originate from the many unsuccessful mission attempts in Norway throughout the Viking Age They changed function and were integrated in the pagan tradition The conversion and Christianisation of Norway can thus be seen as a long lasting process at least from about 800 but probably earlier to the beginning of the eleventh century As we must assume that the written sources on the subject are incomplete the archaeological evidences are the main source In addition to metal work and written sources the dating and interpretation of stone crosses rune stones manuscript fragments and early Christian graves and churches are discussed The main part of the manuscript regards the context of all these sources studied in each part of Norway separately Where do we find concentrations of objects that could support the interpretation of these being the result of mission attempts and where can we combine archaeological and written sources to tentatively create more complete stories related to mission One analysis is of special interest to British and Norwegian scholars and even a broader audience It refers to the chieftain Ohthere from Northern Norway who visited King Alfred the Great in Winchester in 890 The author finds a link between Alfred s court and Ohthere s farm which it is argued for was Borg at Vestvågøy Lofoten where the biggest Viking Age house in Northern Europe has been excavated In the hall of this house were found a rare glass beaker with gold cross decorations a Continental or British made pitcher pieces of a bronze bowl and an stel of gold This last piece is only found in Northern Norway and in England with Wessex and Mercia as the core areas The Alfred Jewel Ashmolean Museum is also an stel of the same main type but much more splendid and with an inscription relating it to King Alfred Mikkelsen argues for a bishop being sent from Wessex and Alfred s court on Ohthere s ship back to Northern Norway as a missionary

A Testimony of Jesus Christ - Volume 1 Anthony Charles Garland,2007 A

Commentary on the Book of Revelation Volume 2 The author presents a detailed study of the Book of Revelation emphasizing prophetic themes from the rest of the Bible which find their fulfillment in Revelation To understand this controversial book the author explores the many connections between the visions seen by the Apostle John and previous prophetic revelation given to Old Testament prophets such as Daniel Ezekiel and others It is the author s conviction that an understanding of related passages elsewhere in the Bible is the most important key to unlocking the bewildering variety of interpretations which often accompany the study of the last book of the Bible The commentary is linked to a free companion internet course providing an additional 70 hours of audio instruction linked to almost 1 000 slides

The Snakes of Trinidad and Tobago

Hans E. A. Boos,2001 Scientific fact meets island folklore as Hans Boos presents more than sixty species of snakes found in the twin island independent Caribbean nation of Trinidad and Tobago The culmination of thirty years of collecting and observing the snakes of these islands The Snakes of Trinidad and Tobago engagingly informs readers about these often feared and misunderstood creatures Tracing the contributions of scientists to the evolving taxonomy of the islands reptiles Boos describes each unique species of snake found on the two islands including local names from two centuries back Species accounts come complete with tales both documented and apocryphal of human encounters with the more dangerous island snakes Forty eight color photographs and fifty black and white photographs and pieces of line art most by the author illustrate the text and aid in identification While tiny Tobago is mercifully devoid of poisonous snakes Trinidad hosts four venomous species including coral snakes and the notorious bushmaster Boos refutes many of the myths about these deadly but usually nonaggressive snakes with information about their habits and behavior He also writes about the giant anaconda and the boa constrictor about which many half truths and fictions abound All snakes bite but only a few species are venomous Boos gives information about what to do and what not to do in the event of a bite and discusses intriguing folk medicine cures such as the Belgian Black Stone sure to work only if a bite was harmless to begin with The Snakes of Trinidad and Tobago will find an enthusiastic audience among herpetologists ecologists and other scientists concerned about the snakes and wildlife of Trinidad and Tobago the Caribbean and South America It will also appeal to general readers interested in snakes and in Caribbean folklore
