Surviving The Slaughter The Ordeal Of A Rwandan Refugee In Zaire:

Surviving the Slaughter Marie Beatrice Umutesi, 2004-10-15 Though the world was stunned by the horrific massacres of Tutsi by the Hutu majority in Rwanda beginning in April 1994 there has been little coverage of the reprisals that occurred after the Tutsi gained political power During this time hundreds of thousands of Hutu were systematically hunted and killed

Surviving the Slaughter The Ordeal of a Rwandan Refugee in Zaire is the eyewitness account of Marie B atrice Umutesi She tells of life in the refugee camps in Zaire and her flight across 2000 kilometers on foot During this forced march far from the world s cameras many Hutu refugees were trampled and murdered Others died from hunger exhaustion and sickness or simply vanished ignored by the international community and betrayed by humanitarian organizations Amidst this brutality day to day suffering and desperate survival Umutesi managed to organize the camps to improve the quality of life for women and children In this first hand account of inexplicable brutality day to day suffering and survival Marie B atrice Umutesi sheds light on a backlash of violence that targeted the Hutu refugees of Rwanda after the victory of the Rwandan Patriotic Front in 1994 Umutesi s documentation of the flight and terror of these years provides the world a veritable account of a history that is still widely unknown After translations from its original French into three other languages this important book is available in English for the first time It is more than a testimony to the lives and humanity lost it is a call for those politicians military personnel and humanitarian organizations responsible for the atrocious crimes and the devastating silence to be held accountable Umutesi s tale told with honesty and eloquence is a tribute to the human spirit a searing indictment of the agents who perpetrated these horrors and a reproach to those who turned away Catharine Newbury African Studies Review Restores a human dimension that has been lacking in the history of the genocide and massacres in Rwanda Danielle de Lame African Studies Review A vivid account of the grueling nightmare experienced by tens of thousands of Rwandan civilians whom the world had deliberately forsaken An outstanding call for justice Aloys Habimama African Studies Review A towering work An epic for our times a tale to ponder for the lessons it conveys testimony so powerful and moving that it reaches an unintended literary greatness Jan Vansina African Studies Review Of all the current books and films ten years after the Rwandan genocide none is more effective than Surviving the Slaughter This book carries one along often as if running with the refugees Anne Serafin Multicultural Review

African Women Under Fire Pauline Ada Uwakweh, 2017-03-16 African writers and literary critics must account for the changing political terrain and how these contribute to creating new sources of conflicts and aggression toward women This book brings insight and scholarly breadth to the growing research on women war and conflict in Africa The aftermath of wars and conflicts initiates new forms of violence and related gender challenges The contributors establish compelling evidence for the significance of gender in the analyses of contemporary warfare and conflict Articulating war s consequences for women and children remains a major challenge for critics policy makers and human rights organizations There is a need for deeper understanding of the new sources of violence and male aggression on women the gendered challenges of reintegration in the aftermath and the future consequences of gendered violence for the African continent This book will be useful to scholars researchers instructors students of literature in the humanities women s studies liberal studies African studies etc at both undergraduate and graduate levels It also offers interdisciplinary utility for readers interested in literary representations of women s experience in war and conflict

The Making of the Modern Refugee Peter Gatrell, 2013-09-13 The Making of the Modern Refugee is a comprehensive history of global population displacement in the twentieth century It takes a new approach to the subject exploring its causes consequences and meanings History the author shows provides important clues to understanding how the idea of refugees as a problem embedded itself in the minds of policy makers and the public and poses a series of fundamental questions about the nature of enforced migration and how it has shaped society throughout the twentieth century across a broad geographical area from Europe and the Middle East to South Asia South East Asia and sub Saharan Africa Wars revolutions and state formation are invoked as the main causal explanations of displacement and are considered alongside the emergence of a twentieth century refugee regime linking governmental practices professional expertise and humanitarian relief efforts This new study rests upon scholarship from several disciplines and draws extensively upon oral testimony eye witness accounts and film as well as unpublished source material in the archives of governments international organisations and non governmental organisations The Making of the Modern Refugee explores the significance that refugees attached to the places they left behind to their journeys and to their destinations in short how refugees helped to interpret and fashion their own history

Navigating Cultural Memory David Mwambari, 2023 A friend of mine asked me to accompany him to visit a young woman in her twenties named Kayitesi At the time in April 2007 Kayitesi lived in rural Kigali with two siblings Kayitesi s parents and many of her relatives were killed during the genocide perpetrated against the Tutsi in Rwanda in 1994 The genocide took place in the central and eastern African country of Rwanda when radical Hutu youth militias and Hutu political elites targeted and killed the Tutsi for about three months between April and July The Hutus and some foreigners who protected the Tutsi or opposed the genocidal violence were also killed

A Companion to African History William H. Worger, Charles Ambler, Nwando Achebe, 2018-09-17 Covers the history of the entire African continent from prehistory to the present day A Companion to African History embraces the diverse regions subject matter and disciplines of the African continent while also providing chronological and geographical coverage of basic historical developments Two dozen essays by leading international scholars explore the challenges facing this relatively new field of historical enquiry and present the dynamic ways in which historians and scholars from other fields such as archaeology anthropology political science and economics are forging new directions in thinking and research Comprised of six parts the book begins with thematic approaches to African history exploring the environment gender and family medical practices and more Section two covers Africa s early history and its pre colonial past early human adaptation the emergence of kingdoms royal power and warring states The third section looks at the era of the slave trade and European expansion Part four examines the process of conquest the discovery of diamonds and gold military and social response and more Colonialism is discussed in the sixth section with chapters on the economy transformed due to the development of agriculture and mining industries The last section studies the continent from post World War II all the way up to modern times Aims at capturing the enthusiasms of practicing historians and encouraging similar passion in a new generation of scholars Emphasizes linkages within Africa as well as between the continent and other parts of the world All chapters include significant historiographical content and suggestions for further reading Written by a global team of writers with unique backgrounds and views Features case studies with illustrative examples In a field traditionally marked by narrow specialisms A Companion to African History is an ideal book for advanced students researchers historians and scholars looking for a broad yet unique overview of African history as a whole

Rwanda 1994 Barrie Collins, 2014-08-26 Through a rigorous critique of the dominant narrative of the Rwandan genocide Collins provides an alternative argument to the debate situating the killings within a historically specific context and drawing out a dynamic interplay between national and international actors Narrating Human Rights in Africa Eleni Coundouriotis, 2020-12-13 Narrating Human Rights in Africa claims human rights from the perspective of artists from the African continent and situates the key theoretical concepts in African perspectives undercutting the stereotypes of victimhood and voicelessness Instead of positioning literary texts as illustrative of points already theorized elsewhere the author foregrounds the literature itself to show the concepts it offers the ideas and responses stemming from complex historical circumstances in Africa and expressed by African writers The book focuses on how narrative creates new categories of thought challenging human rights dogma whereas the sum of the literary voices evoked also stands by the values of social justice and protection of human rights The chapters take up key challenges to the narration of human rights in which the contribution of African writers is particularly important This includes human dignity in the resistance to apartheid the figure of the child soldier how humanitarianism's images affect representational strategies of contemporary African writers the challenge of testifying about rape in war how to evoke the disappeared body of the torture victim the centrality of flight in the refugee and migrant experiences and finally the long shadow of the heart of darkness motif Offering a sustained examination of the narrative treatment of key human rights concerns as expressed by African writers this book will be of interest to scholars of African literature postcolonial studies African studies and human rights

The Heritage of War Martin Gegner, Bart Ziino, 2011-08-16 The Heritage of War is an interdisciplinary study of the ways in which heritage is mobilized in remembering war and in reconstructing landscapes political systems and identities after conflict It examines the deeply contested nature of war heritage in a series of places and contexts highlighting the modes by which governments communities and individuals claim validity for their own experiences of war and the meanings they attach to them From colonizing violence in South America to the United States Civil War the Second World War on three continents genocide in Rwanda and continuing divisions in Europe and the Middle East these studies bring us closer to the very processes of heritage production The Heritage of War uncovers the histories of heritage it charts the constant social and political construction of heritage sites over time by a series of different agents and explores the continuous reworking of meaning into the present What are the forces of contingency agency and political power that produce define and sustain the heritage of war How do particular versions of the past and particular identities gain legitimacy while others are marginalised In this book contributors explore the active work by which heritage is produced and reproduced in a series of case studies of memorialization battlefield preservation tourism development private remembering and urban reconstruction These are the acts of making sense of war they are acts that continue long after violent conflict itself has ended

Exiled Scholars in Western Academia: Refugees or Intellectuals? Alfred Babo, Sayed Hassan Akhlaq, 2025-04-09 This volume focuses on the experiences of refugee scholars in Western academia through first hand narratives that move between dominant humanitarianism and the academic establishment It provides an intellectual view of this humanitarian industry from a refugee perspective alongside stories of the refugee scholars contribution to the production of knowledge in the West Contributors discuss their unique experiences and reflect on the changing nature of knowledge production transfer and exchange in a world increasingly affected by forced migration. Such reflections are not new. However, in this volume, they explore how personal life difficulties and/or successes mixed with emotional distress and cultural adjustments could be framed into a scholarly analysis of academia in exile. In today's globalized world, the term refugee often evokes both sympathy and criticism, leaving refugee scholars in Western universities to ponder the ambivalent nature of their identity. This duality of identity creates new opportunities for rethinking concepts such as humanitarianism, indigenization, asylum, diversity, equity, and integration, scholar activism, and the transnational production of knowledge in the universities of the twenty-first century. Assembling scholars from around the world working in political sciences, international studies, anthropology, law, philosophy, and the humanities, this volume addresses both the geopolitical predicaments and the intellectual contributions of exiled academics in our troubled times.

Rwanda Noah Berlatsky, 2015-06-11 From April to July 1994, members of the Hutu ethnic majority in the east-central African nation of Rwanda murdered as many as 800,000 people, mostly of the Tutsi minority. The essays in this anthology document and explain the social, historical, and economic factors that led to the genocide in Rwanda. Background information and first-person accounts of the events are provided as well to give the reader a more rounded knowledge of the events. Charts and graphs are provided to summarize important statistical information, and timelines are included to help the reader trace the sequence of events. Maps provide details about the areas of contention and locations of conflux.

Memory and Justice in Post-Genocide Rwanda Timothy Longman, 2017-07-13 A critical exploration of the steps taken to promote peace, reconciliation, and justice in post-genocide Rwanda.

Hutu Rebels Anna Hedlund, 2019-11-01 In 1994, almost one million ethnic Tutsis were killed in the genocide in Rwanda. In the aftermath of the genocide, some of the top echelon Hutu officers who had organized it fled Rwanda to the eastern Congo (DRC) and set up a new base for military operations with the goal of retaking power in Kigali, Rwanda. More than twenty years later, these rebel forces comprise a diverse group of refugees, rebel fighters, and civilian dependents who operate from mountain areas in the Congo forests and have a long and complex history of war and violence. While media and human rights reports typically portray this rebel group as one of the most brutal rebel factions operating in the eastern Congo region, Hutu Rebels paints a more complex picture. Having conducted ethnographic fieldwork in a rebel camp located deep in the Congo forest, Anna Hedlund explores the micropolitics and practices of everyday life among a community of Hutu rebel fighters and their families living under the harshest of conditions. She describes the Hutu fighters not only as a military unit with a vision of return to Rwanda but also as a community engaged in the present Congo conflicts. Hedlund focuses on how fighters and their families perceive their own life conditions, how they remember and articulate the events of the genocide, and why they continue to fight in what appears to be an endless conflict. Hutu Rebels argues that we need to move beyond compiling catalogs of atrocities and start examining the ordinary life of combatants if we want to understand the ways in which violence is expressed in the context of a most brutal conflict.

Do Not Disturb Michela Wrong, 2021-03-30 A powerful investigation into a grisly political murder and the authoritarian regime behind it Do Not Disturb upends the narrative that Rwanda sold the world after one of the deadliest genocides of the twentieth century We think we know the story of Africa s Great Lakes region Following the Rwandan genocide an idealistic group of young rebels overthrew the brutal regime in Kigali ushering in an era of peace and stability that made Rwanda the donor darling of the West winning comparisons with Switzerland and Singapore But the truth was considerably more sinister Vividly sourcing her story with direct testimony from key participants Wrong uses the story of the murder of Patrick Karegeya once Rwanda s head of external intelligence and a quicksilver operator of supple charm to paint the portrait of a modern African dictatorship created in the chilling likeness of Paul Kagame the president who sanctioned his former friend s assassination

A History of Genocide in Africa Timothy J. Stapleton, 2017-04-17 Based on a series of detailed case studies this book presents the history of genocide in Africa within the specific context of African history examining conflicts in countries such as Burundi Democratic Republic of Congo Namibia Rwanda and Sudan Why has Africa been the subject of so many accusations related to genocide Indeed the number of such allegations related to Africa has increased dramatically over the past 15 years Popular racist mythology might suggest that Africans belong to tribes that are inherently antagonistic towards each other and therefore engage in tribal warfare which cannot be rationally explained This concept is wrong as Timothy J Stapleton explains in A History of Genocide in Africa the many conflicts that have plagued post colonial Africa have had very logical explanations and very few of these instances of African warring can be said to have resulted in genocide Authored by an expert historian of Africa this book examines the history of six African countries Namibia Rwanda Burundi Democratic Republic of Congo Sudan and Nigeria in which the language of genocide has been mobilized to describe episodes of tragic mass violence It seeks to place genocide within the context of African history acknowledging the few instances where the international legal term genocide has been applied appropriately to episodes of mass violence in African history and identifying the many other cases where it has not and instead the term has been used in a cynical manipulation to gain some political advantage Readers will come to understand how to a large extent genocide accusations related to post colonial Africa have often served to prolong wars and cause greater loss of life The book also clarifies how in areas of Africa where genocides have actually occurred there appears to have been a common history of the imposition of racial ideologies and hierarchies during the colonial era which when combined with other factors such as the local geography demography religion and or economics resulted in tragic and appalling outcomes

Narrating and Teaching the Nation Denise Bentrovato, 2016-02-15 The book investigates the politics of education in pre and post genocide Rwanda examining the actors interests and discourses that have historically influenced educational policy and practice and in particular the production and revision of history curricula and textbooks This study combines a systematic historical and comparative analysis of curricula and textbooks in Rwanda stakeholder interviews classroom observations and a large scale investigation of pupils understandings of the country s history Written at a crucial time of transition in Rwanda it illuminates the role of education as a powerful means of socialisation through which dominant discourses and related belief systems have been transmitted to the younger generations thus moulding the nation It outlines emergent challenges and possibilities urging a move away from the use of history teaching to disseminate a conveniently selective official history towards practices that promote critical thinking and reflect the heterogeneity characteristic of Rwanda's post genocide society

Performing Trauma in Central Africa Laura Edmondson, 2018-03-26 An outstanding addition to the literature on theatre and performance in situations of conflict and post conflict New Theatre Quarterly What are the stakes of cultural production in a time of war How is artistic expression prone to manipulation by the state and international humanitarian organizations In the charged political terrain of post genocide Rwanda post civil war Uganda and recent violence in the Democratic Republic of Congo Laura Edmondson explores performance through the lens of empire Instead of celebrating theatre productions as expression of cultural agency and resilience Edmondson traces their humanitarian imperatives to a place where global narratives of violence take precedence over local traditions and audiences Working at the intersection of performance and trauma Edmondson reveals how artists and cultural workers manipulate narratives in the shadow of empire and how empire in turn infiltrates creative capacities

Women in Twentieth-Century Africa Iris Berger, 2016-04-26 Explores the paradoxical image of African women as exceptionally oppressed but also as strong resourceful and rebellious

Revival and Reconciliation Phillip A. Cantrell, 2022-01-18 Phillip A Cantrell II takes a critical look at the Anglican Church's crucial role in many aspects of Rwanda's history particularly its complicity with the current Rwandan regime He boldly illuminates the Anglican Church's culpability in the events leading to the genocide calling attention to the consequences of the church's unwavering support for the Rwandan regime

Counterterrorism Law and Practice in the East African Community Christopher E. Bailey, 2019-02-11 This book examines the existing counter terrorism laws and practices in the six member East African Community EAC as it applies to a range of law enforcement and military activities under various international legal obligations Dr Christopher E Bailey provides a comparative examination of existing national law for EAC countries including compliance with obligations under international human rights and international humanitarian law and offers a range of legal reform recommendations This book addresses two primary related research questions To what extent do the current national counter terrorism laws and practices of the EAC Partner States comply with existing international human rights safeguards What laws or practices can the EAC adopt to achieve better compliance with human rights safeguards in both civilian and military counter terrorism operations
