Sustainable Strategic Management:

Sustainable Strategic Management Jean Garner Stead, W Edward Stead, 2014-12-18 From creating organizational visions to formulating goals and strategies to strategy implementation and evaluation this book provides readers with new ways of thinking about their organization's role in the greater society and ecosystem

Sustainable Strategic Management Jean Garner Stead, 2017 Sustainable strategic management refers to strategic management policies and processes that seek competitive advantages consistent with a core value of environmental sustainability This book has been specifically written as a text to augment traditional graduate and undergraduate management courses on strategic management It fills the need for a strategy text that gives full attention to sustainability and environmental protection The authors have structured the book to follow the usual order of topics in any standard management text Sustainable Strategic Management also features an on going chapter by chapter case study Eastman Chemical Company that exemplifies many of the principles of environmentally sound management practices From creating organizational visions to formulating goals and strategies to strategy implementation and evaluation this book provides readers with new ways of thinking about their organization's role in the greater society and ecosystem From the Authors Preface Ours is the first book to integrate sustainability into strategic management It covers the full gamut of strategic management concepts and processes that would be expected in any quality strategic management book and it does so in a way that thoroughly weaves sustainability into each and every one of them Students using this book understand such things as why reducing materials and energy intensity is an effective functional level strategy why socially differentiated products command premium prices and why a business ecosystem pursuing a vision of social and ecological responsibility can dominate its market Further because the book is relatively short reasonably priced and very thorough in its coverage of strategic management concepts and ideas it can be used either as a stand alone text for graduate and undergraduate strategic management courses as a supplement to another book or as one of a group of short texts Provided by publisher

Sustainable Development - a special strategic management issue Thomas Hollwedel, 2004-07-19 Essay from the year 2002 in the subject Business economics Miscellaneous grade 1.0 A University of Dusseldorf Heinrich Heine Department for Economics Production course Strategic Management a process and its practical implementation language English abstract This paper is divided in three major parts In the first one a definition of sustainable development and an overview about its history and importance will be given before part two chapter 3 will follow with the consequences and importance sustainable development has for business In the third part chapter 4 the author will give an idea how sustainable development and strategic management can be linked Finally the author will draw a brief conclusion To have a common understanding throughout the text one of the most popular definitions will be given It is taken from the report Our Common Future published 1987 by the WCED better known as the Brundtland Commission Sustainable development is development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs It contains within two key concepts the concept of needs in particular the essential needs of the world's poor to which overriding priority should be given and the idea of limitations imposed by the state of technology and social organization on the environment's ability to meet present and future needs 1 The idea itself is not new and can be found in a lot of cultures e.g. the Indians say Treat earth well it is brought from your grandchildren The important aspect of having this rather vague definition is that for the first time a definition on an international level was found and widely discussed by governments NGOs and the industry 2 1 Wagner G R 1997 S 35 2 compare Matten D Wagner G R 1998 pp 55 56

Social

Sustainability for Business Jerry A. Carbo,Viet T. Dao,Steven J. Haase,M. Blake Hargrove,Ian M. Langella,2017-08-16

Social Sustainability for Business demonstrates the need for a transformational change to the way businesses across the globe operate. What has become the standard accepted business model with a focus on corporate profit, shareholder wealth maximization and GDP growth is no longer a sustainable business model for workers, consumers, communities, society, the planet or any of its inhabitants and ecosystems. The authors argue that the current commercial system depletes natural resources, denigrates human rights and inhibits positive social and technological innovation. To address these issues, they focus on societal goals such as a sustainable planet, meeting human rights of workers and safe products for consumers and outline steps that organizations and individuals must take to achieve them. Readers will gain insight into the psychological barriers to and influences on sustainable behavior. They will also learn how reconsidering corporate social responsibility and business ethics can stop and reverse the destruction of a profit-based approach. Cases on modern examples of sustainability or lack thereof explain how establishing and maintaining a socially sustainable business system can protect the environment, meet the rights of its people and ensure that their needs are met tomorrow. End of chapter and end of case discussion questions will help students in sustainability classes to think critically about the practical impact of the topics discussed.

Business and Environmental Sustainability Sigrun M. Wagner, 2020-07-19. Environmental sustainability is increasingly important to organisations, whether for regulatory, financial or ethical reasons. Business and Environmental Sustainability looks at the environmental aspect of sustainability for all organisations pursuing competitive advantage. The book provides theoretical foundations from science, economics, policy and strategy, introduces three environmental challenges: climate change, pollution and waste, and looks at how corporate functions can address these. This textbook provides a thorough foundation by introducing readers to the science, reasoning and theory behind environmental sustainability and then delves into how these ideas translate into principles and business models for organisations to use. Next, it covers environmental challenges from climate change, pollution and waste and then goes on to examine the different corporate functions from supply chain management to human resources to illustrate how environmental sustainability is managed and put into practice in organisations. Finally, a set of integrative case studies draws everything together and enables the reader to apply various analytical tools with the aim of understanding how companies can not only reduce their environmental footprint but can positively contribute to environmental sustainability. Written by an award-winning lecturer, Business and Environmental Sustainability boasts a wealth of pedagogical features, including examples from a range of industries and countries, plus a companion website with slides, quiz questions and instructor material. This will be a valuable text for students of business management and environmental sustainability and will also be suitable for broader courses on corporate responsibility and sustainability across environmental studies, political science and engineering.
