Hubbard, 2018-08-23 Our experience of the world is influenced by numerous spatial biases most of which influence us without our being aware of them These biases are related to illusions and asymmetries in our perception of space relationships between space and other qualities dynamics of moving objects dynamics of scene configuration and dynamics related to perception and action Consideration of these biases provides insight into how we perceive remember and navigate space as well as how we interact with objects and people in space This volume introduces and reviews numerous spatial biases and provides descriptions and examples of each bias The contributors discuss historical and current theories for many biases and for some biases provide new explanatory theories Providing a one stop shop for information on such a key aspect of our experience in the world this volume will interest anyone curious about our understanding of space

Representing Space in Cognition Thora Tenbrink, Jan M. Wiener, Christophe Claramunt, 2013-10 This book considers how people talk about their environment find their way in new surroundings and plan routes Leading scholars and researchers in psychology linguistics computer science and geography show how empirical research can be used to inform formal approaches towards the development of intuitive assistance systems Collective Spatial Cognition Kevin Curtin, Daniel R. Montello, 2023-10-02 This book integrates the science of spatial cognition and the science of team cognition to explore the social psychological and behavioral phenomenon of spatial cognition as it occurs in human collectives such as dyads and work teams It represents the culmination of a process of outlining and defining a growing field of research termed Collective Spatial Cognition It engages contributions from an international and multi disciplinary community of scholars who have collaborated to provide a foundation for knowledge discovery regarding how groups of people of varying size acquire information and solve problems involving spatiality as a key component leading to action that incorporates the spatial information and problem solving collectively achieved The collectives under study can be as small as dyads teams of two to large teams of teams who are working alongside each other to complete a mutual goal The book lays the foundation for multi and interdisciplinary work regarding Collective Spatial Cognition in the years to come and this book documents that foundation This book will be of interest to those researching spatial behavioural cognitive and information sciences in the fields of human geography sociology psychology and computer science Space and Spatial Cognition Michel

Denis, 2017-11-13 All living creatures inscribe their activity in space Human beings acquire knowledge of this space by traversing it listening to verbal descriptions and looking at maps atlases and digital media We memorize routes compare distances mentally and retrieve our starting place after a long journey Space and Spatial Cognition provides an up to date introduction to the elements of human navigation and the mental representation of our environment This book explores the mental capacities which enable us to create shortcuts imagine new pathways and thus demonstrate our adaptation to the environment Using a multidisciplinary approach which draws on psychology neuroscience geography architecture and the visual arts the author presents answers to a number of questions Which mental capacities do people mobilize when confronted with space Which brain functions do they implement How do digital technologies extend these capacities By presenting space at the crossroads of a number of disciplines this volume reveals how each of them enhances our understanding of human behaviour in space Space and Spatial Cognition provides a unique insight into all facets of spatial cognition including spatial behaviour language and future technologies It will be the ideal companion for all students and researchers in the field Proceedings of the European Cognitive Science Conference 2007 Stella Vosniadou, Daniel

Kayser, Athanassios Protopapas, 2017-09-29 This volume contains the invited lectures invited symposia symposia papers and posters presented at the 2nd European Cognitive Science Conference held in Greece in May 2007 The papers presented in this volume range from empirical psychological studies and computational models to philosophical arguments meta analyses and even to neuroscientific experimentation The quality of the work shows that the Cognitive Science Society in Europe is an exciting and vibrant one There are 210 contributions by cognitive scientists from 27 different countries including USA France UK Germany Greece Italy Belgium Japan Spain the Netherlands and Australia This book will be of interest to anyone concerned with current research in Cognitive Science Robotics and Cognitive Approaches to Spatial Mapping Margaret E. Jefferies, Wai-Kiang Yeap, 2008-01-10 This important work is an attempt to synthesize two areas that need to be treated in tandem The book brings together the fields of robot spatial mapping and cognitive spatial mapping which share some common core problems One would expect some cross fertilization of research between the two areas to have occurred yet this has begun only recently There are now signs that some synthesis is happening so this work is a timely one for students and engineers in robotics

Spatial Cognition VII Christoph Hölscher, Thomas F. Shipley, Marta Olivetti Belardinelli, John A Bateman, Nora S. Newcombe, 2010-07-30 This is the seventh volume of a series of books on fundamental research in spatial cognition As with past volumes the research presented here spans a broad range of research traditions for spatial cognition concerns not just the basic spatial behavior of biological and artificial agents but also the reasoning processes that allow spatial planning across broad spatial and temporal scales Spatial information is critical for coordinated action and thus agents interacting with objects and moving among objects must be able to perceive spatial relations learn about these relations and act on them or store the information for later use either by themselves or communicated to others Research on this problem has included both psychology which works to understand how humans and other mobile organisms solve these problems and computer science which considers the nature of the information available in the world and a formal consideration of how these problems might be solved Research on human spatial cognition also involves the application of representations and processes that may have evolved to handle object and location information to reasoning about higher order problems such as displaying non spatial information in diagrams Thus work in spatial cognition extends beyond psychology and computer science into many disciplines including geography and education The Spatial Cognition conference offers one of the few forums for consideration of the issues spanning this broad academic range

Spatial Cognition, Spatial Perception Francine L. Dolins, Robert W. Mitchell, 2010-03-25 An analysis of human and non human animals spatial cognitive perceptual and behavioural processes through mapping internal and external spatial knowledge

Handbook of Behavioral and Cognitive Geography Daniel R. Montello, 2018-04-27 This comprehensive Handbook summarizes existing work and presents new concepts and empirical results from leading scholars in the multidisciplinary field of behavioral and cognitive geography the study of the human mind and activity in and concerning space place and environment It provides the broadest and most inclusive coverage of the field so far including work relevant to human geography cartography and geographic information science

Imagery and Spatial Cognition Tomaso Vecchi, Gabriella Bottini, 2006-01-01 The relationships between perception and imagery imagery and spatial processes memory and action These are the main themes of this text The interest of experimental psychology and cognitive neuroscience on imagery and spatial cognition is remarkably increased in the last decades Different areas of research contribute to the clarification of the multiple cognitive processes subserving spatial perception and exploration and to the definition of the neurophysiological mechanisms underpinning these cognitive functions The aim of this book is to provide the reader post graduate students as well as experts with a complete overview of this field of research It illustrates the way how brain behaviour and cognition interact in normal and pathological subjects in perceiving representing and exploring space Series B Spatial Information Theory Stephan Winter, Matt Duckham, Lars Kulik, Ben Kuipers, 2007-08-26 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 8th International Conference on Spatial Information Theory COSIT 2007 held in Melbourne Australia in September 2007 The 27 revised full papers were carefully reviewed from 102 submissions and they are organized in topical sections on cultural studies semantics similarity mapping and representation perception and cognition reasoning and algorithms navigation and landmarks as well as uncertainty and imperfection Spatial Cognition ,2005 Spatial Information Theory Sara Irina Fabrikant, Martin Raubal, Michela Bertolotto, Clare Davies, Scott Freundschuh, Scott Bell, 2015-09-29 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 12th International Conference on Spatial Information Theory COSIT 2015 held in Santa Fee NM USA in October 2015 The 22 papers presented in this book were carefully reviewed and selected from 52 full paper submissions The following topics are addressed formalizing and modeling space time qualitative spatio temporal reasoning and representation language and space signs images maps and other representations of space navigations by humans and machines

Constructions in Cognitive Contexts Franziska Günther, 2016-11-07 In what ways are language cognition and perception interrelated Do they influence each other This book casts a fresh light on these questions by putting individual speakers cognitive contexts i e their usage preferences and entrenched patterns of linguistic knowledge into the focus of investigation It presents findings from original experimental research on spatial language use which indicate that these individual specific factors indeed play a central role in determining whether or not differences in the current and or habitual linguistic behaviour of speakers of German and English are systematically correlated with differences in non linguistic behaviour visual attention allocation to and memory for spatial referent scenes These findings form the basis of a new speaker focused usage based model of linguistic relativity which defines language perception cognition effects as a phenomenon which primarily occurs within individual speakers rather than between speakers or speech communities Strategies of Orientation in Environmental Spaces Tobias Meilinger, 2008 Spatial Information Theory Thora Tenbrink, John Stell, Anthony Galton, Zena Wood, 2013-08-20 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 11th International Conference on Spatial Information Theory COSIT 2013 held in Scarborough UK in September 2013 The 28 papers presented in this book were carefully reviewed and selected from 62 full paper submissions The following topics are addressed spatial change wayfinding and assistance representing spatial data handling language data spatial language and computation spatial ontology spatial reasoning and representation Spatial Language and Dialogue Kenny R.
