Labour Control and Union Agency in Global Production Networks Tatiana López, 2023-03-15 This book puts Indian garment workers and their organisations at the centre of the analysis Taking the Bangalore export garment cluster as a case study the book explores the conditions that enable but also constrain the capacities of garment workers unions to build collective power vis vis employers and thereby improve their conditions Drawing on theoretical concepts from labour geography relational economic geography and Global Production Network GPN analysis the book highlights on the one hand how the complex labour control regime in the Bangalore export garment cluster poses manifold challenges and constraints for workers and unions collective agency On the other hand the book illustrates the various networked agency strategies that local garment unions in Bangalore have developed over the years to overcome these constraints by tapping into coalitional power resources from worker consumer and labour rights organisations in the Global North This book is therefore highly relevant for economic geographers and other scholars interested in dynamics of labour and development in GPNs as well as for unionists and labour rights activists committed to improving working conditions in the global garment industry This is an open access book

The Routledge Companion to Alternative Organization Martin Parker, George Cheney, Valérie Fournier, Chris Land, 2014-01-03 Despite the Great Recession slightly different forms of global capitalism are still portrayed as the only game in town by the vast majority of people in power in the world today Unbridled growth trade liberalisation and competition are advocated as the only or best ways of organizing the contemporary world Unemployment yawning gaps between rich and poor political disengagement and environmental devastation are too often seen as acceptable side effects of the dominance of neo liberalism But the reality is that capitalism has always been contested and that people have created many other ways of providing for themselves This book explores economic and organizational possibilities which extend far beyond the narrow imagination of economists and management theorists Chapters on co operatives community currencies the transition movement scrounging co housing and much more paints a rich picture of the ways in which another world is not only possible but already taking shape The aim of this companion is to move beyond complaining about the present and into exploring this diversity of organisational possibilities Our starting point is a critical analysis of contemporary global capitalism is merely the opening for thinking about organizing as a form of politics by other means and one that can be driven by the values of solidarity freedom and responsibility This comprehensive companion with an international cast of contributors gives voice to forms of organizing which remain unrepresented or marginalised in organizational studies and conventional politics yet which offer more promising grounds for social and environmental justice It is a valuable resource for students activists and researchers interested in alternative approaches to economy and society in a variety of disciplinary and interdisciplinary fields
