Memories of Colonisation in Medieval and Modern Castile Rebecca De Souza, 2024-10-31 Memories of Colonisation in Medieval and Modern Castile Rereading and Refashioning al Andalus traces the evolving memory of a dominant al Andalus in medieval Castilian and later modern Spanish literature and its overlap with contemporary formations of collective identity race and nation It presents a series of close readings of neomedievalist literary works that look back to the socioeconomic apogee of al Andalus the tenth century Umayyad Caliphate of Cordoba from the thirteenth to the nineteenth century These works rewrite what has become known as the story of the siete infantes de Lara although it is their Andalusí half brother Mudarra who takes centre stage from the early modern period on In its earliest form it is a story of a weak conflictual county of Castile dependent socioeconomically and morally upon Andalusí intervention This book therefore traces how a story of Castilian weakness is repeatedly rewritten once the reverse colonial dynamic had taken hold and Castile had begun conquering al Andalus Memories of Colonisation asks why Mudarra and the infantes continue to reappear in medieval chronicles from the Estoria de España to lesser known regional historiography early modern ballads comedias and nineteenth century Romantic poetry and prose By examining how each of these texts remember tenth century Iberia's fluid geographical and interracial boundaries it explores how they support or challenge dominant contemporary discourses of collective identity race and nation from the neogothic aspirations of thirteenth century Castile to the antisemitism of fifteenth century Toledo expansion in the Mediterranean the Islamophobia of the morisco expulsion and the partisan manipulation of al Andalus under nineteenth century liberalism As the first study of the development of Spanish neomedievalism it explores how this serves as a productive prescient discourse of cultural memory through which chroniclers poets playwrights and authors can look forward It questions the inevitability of Christian Castilian colonial hegemony by invoking a narrative of Christian Iberia's own subjugation by a superior Umayyad Caliphate It also explores how each text exposes the task of reconstructing historical memory in the present and thereby challenges the notion of a stable incontestable past for Castile and Spain

Luis de Molina Kirk R. MacGregor, 2015-11-03 When Luis de Molina died in Madrid in 1600 he had every reason to believe he was about to be anathematized by Pope Clement VIII The Protestant Reformation was splitting Europe tribunals of the Inquisition met regularly in a dozen Spanish cities and the Pope had launched a commission two years earlier to investigate Molina's writings Molina was eventually vindicated though the decision came seven years after his death In the centuries that followed Molina was relegated to relatively minor status in the history of theology until a renaissance of interest in recent years His doctrine of God's middle knowledge in particular has been appropriated by a number of current philosophers and theologians with apologist William Lane Craig calling it one of the most fruitful theological ideas ever conceived In Luis de Molina The Life and Theology of the Founder of Middle Knowledge author Kirk R MacGregor outlines the main contours of Molina's subtle and far reaching philosophical theology covering his views on God's foreknowledge salvation and predestination poverty and obedience and social justice Drawing on writings of Molina never translated into English MacGregor also provides insight into the experiences that shaped Molina recounting the events of a life fully as dramatic as any of the Protestant Reformers With implications for topics as wide ranging as biblical inerrancy creation and evolution the relationship between Christianity and world religions the problem of evil and quantum indeterminacy Molina's thought remains as fresh and relevant as ever Most significantly perhaps it continues to offer the possibility of a rapprochement between Calvinism and Arminianism a view of salvation that fully upholds both God's predestination and human free will As the first full length work ever published on Molina Kirk MacGregor's Luis de Molina provides an accessible and insightful introduction for scholars students and armchair theologians alike

Geographies of Philological Knowledge Nadia R. Altschul, 2024-05-31 Geographies of Philological Knowledge examines the relationship between medievalism and colonialism in the nineteenth century Hispanic American context through the striking case of the Creole Andrés Bello 1781-1865 a Venezuelan grammarian editor legal scholar and politician and his lifelong philological work on the medieval heroic narrative that would later become Spain's national epic the Poem of the Cid Nadia R Altschul combs Bello's study of the poem and finds throughout it evidence of a colonality of knowledge Altschul reveals how during the nineteenth century the framework for philological scholarship established in and for core European nations France England and especially Germany was exported to Spain and Hispanic America as the proper way of doing medieval studies She argues that the global designs of European philological scholarship are conspicuous in the domain of disciplinary historiography especially when examining the local history of a Creole Hispanic American like Bello who is neither fully European nor fully alien to European culture Altschul likewise highlights Hispanic America's intellectual internalization of coloniality and its understanding of itself as an extension of Europe A timely example of interdisciplinary history interconnected history and transnational study Geographies of Philological Knowledge breaks with previous nationalist and colonialist histories and thus forges a new path for the future of medieval studies Between Demonstration and Imagination John David North, Lodi W. Nauta, Arie Johan
