Harnessing the Sky Frederick Trapnell, Dana Trapnell Tibbitts, 2015-07-15 Harnessing the Sky is one of the last untold stories in 100 years of naval aviation This biography of Vice Adm Frederick M Trapnell explores the legacy of the man who has been called the godfather of current naval aviation A pilot of calculated courage Trap entered the Navy when test pilots were more like stuntmen than engineers Airplanes had not yet come into their own as weapons of war and they had an undeveloped role in the fleet His vision and leadership shaped the evolution of naval aviation through its formative years and beyond When the threat of war in 1940 raised an alarm over the Navy's deficiency in aircraft especially fighters Trap was appointed to lead the Flight Test Section to direct the development of all new Navy airplanes He played a key role in expediting the evolution of the two superb fighters that came to dominate the air war against Japan the Corsair and Hellcat After World War II Trap returned as commander of the Naval Air Test Center to lead the Navy through the challenges of transitioning to jets Trap was not only the first U S Navy pilot to fly a jet but is also recognized for defining the operating requirements for carrier based jet propelled aircraft Over the course of two decades Trap tested virtually every naval aircraft prototype and pioneered the philosophy and the methods of the engineering test pilot He demanded comprehensive testing of each airplane in conditions and maneuvers it would face in wartime fleet operations These innovations kept the Navy at the forefront of modern aviation and stand as an enduring legacy to the man who is regarded as the foremost test pilot in a century of naval aviation

Dive Bomber: Learning To Fly The Navy's Fighting Planes Lt.-Cmdr. Robert A. Winston, 2015-11-06

Seized by an urge to learn flying Robert Alexander Winston would not be put off by the high fees charged by the private firms he decided to join the nascent Naval Air Service in 1935 In this fast paced witty and engaging memoir he describes his time spent as a Naval Cadet in learning to fly at the NAS Pensacola He passed his carrier qualification aboard USS Saratoga before being assigned to Fighting Squadron 6 flying off the USS Enterprise His four term hitch in the Navy ended in 1939 and he entered the Naval Reserve Robert A Winston was born in Washington Indiana in 1907 and graduated from Indiana University He worked for The New York Times and The New York News for five years before starting flight training with the navy in 1935 He flew in fighting squadrons on both coasts and as an instructor at Pensacola and he wrote about his initial aviation training in Dive Bomber published in 1939 when Winston held the rank of lieutenant In his second book Aces Wild he chronicled his experiences in Europe during 1939-40 as a test pilot accompanying a consignment of fighters destined for Finland Back on active duty in the United States he served as a flight instructor then in the public relations office in Washington D C After the attack on Pearl Harbor he was assigned to combat duty in the Pacific which he recounts in Fighting Squadron published in 1946 when Winston was a commander At the end of the war he was serving on Admiral Nimitz's staff on Guam From there he moved to Stockholm where he served as the naval air attaché

The Flying Life Stefan A. Cavallo, 2024-05-31

The Flying Life is the life story of our father Stefan Cavallo a test pilot at Langley Field during World War II who passed away peacefully on September 25 2022 at 101 While attending the School of Aeronautical Engineering at New York University he also took flying lessons at Teterboro Airfield in New Jersey through a government sponsored program and graduated with a combination aeronautical engineering degree and pilot's license in April 1942 just five months after Pearl Harbor. He was immediately picked up by NACA a precursor of NASA and became one of their civilian test pilots one of only five men. He had a remarkable seventy-five year career in aviation. As a NACA test pilot for six years three of them during the war he flew and tested every version of the P51 Mustang the A, B, D and H prototypes as well as dozens of other aircraft from rocket powered planes to amphibians and helicopters. Late in the war when P51s were escorting B47 bombers over Germany we discovered that we were mysteriously losing too many of the fighter planes in thunderstorms over Europe the P51s went down while the B47s came safely home. The NACA pilots were given the assignment of determining the cause of these failures most of the pilots and engineers were convinced that the plane's wings had sustained heavy damage and had even fallen off but the planes went down over enemy territory so there was no way to know for sure. A test was designed to see if NACA could solve the mystery. Stefan Cavallo my father was assigned to fly a P51 deliberately into a thunderstorm with the task of finding out what was causing the crash. And find out he did losing his burning plane in the process and bailing out over rural Virginia. Surprisingly it wasn't the wings that were the problem it was the engine which caught fire almost immediately in the windstorm. After he left NACA Stefan Cavallo continued test flying for about five years with EDO a seaplane manufacturing company and then retired from commercial aviation. In June 2010 while flying his Cessna 210 his engine seized five miles off the Long Island coastline. He was able at the age of eighty-nine to make a dead stick landing in between a heavily populated beach and a full parking lot in a very small patch of sand. There were no injuries to him or anyone else. He made that night's six o'clock news. Our father loved to fly. His book is a love letter to aeronautics and a great read. Flying Officers of the United States Navy 1917-1919 Schiffer Publishing, Ltd., 1997. This book originally published just after World War I is the definitive reference to United States Naval aviators in World War I. Also included a history of naval aviation operations in World War I. Our Navy, the Standard Publication of the U.S. Navy, 1919. The Flying Firsts of Walter Hinton Benjamin J. Burns, 2012-01-09. Walter Hinton was a pilot on the first plane to cross the Atlantic eight years before Lindbergh a four engine Navy Curtiss flying boat with a crew of six in May 1919. Based on more than 40 hours of personal interviews with Hinton this volume chronicles that first flight and Hinton's other remarkable adventures in aviation which include being lost in a downed balloon in the Canadian Arctic and believed dead making the first flight to Rio de Janeiro from New York pursuing the first aerial exploration of the Amazon and undertaking a nationwide promotion of aviation and airports for the Exchange Clubs in the United States. With the dramatic and adventurous story of Hinton a lost chapter in the history of flight in America is uncovered. An Analysis of the Navy's Fiscal Year 2011 Shipbuilding Plan, 2010. The Navy is required by law to submit a report to the Congress each year that projects the service's shipbuilding requirements procurement plans inventories and costs over the coming 30 years. Since 2006 the Congressional Budget Office CBO has been performing an independent analysis of the Navy's latest shipbuilding plan at the request of the Subcommittee on Seapower and Expeditionary Forces of the House Armed Services Committee. This CBO report, the latest in that series, summarizes the ship requirements and purchases described in the Navy's 2011 plan and assesses their implications for the Navy's funding needs and ship inventories through 2040. The new plan appears to increase the required size of the fleet compared with earlier plans while reducing the number of ships to be purchased and thus the costs for ship construction over the next three decades. Despite those reductions, the total costs of carrying out the 2011 plan would be much higher than the funding levels that the Navy has received in recent years. Fly Navy Philip Kaplan, 2001. Describes aircraft carriers of the past and present, the planes that have flown from them, and the lives of the men and women who run the ships and fly the planes.

Flying Adventurers David K. Vaughan, 2023-05-24. Aviation books were a unique and prolific subgenre of American juvenile literature from the early to mid 20th century, drawing upon the nation's intensifying interest. The first books of this type, Harry L. Saylor's series Airship Boys, appeared shortly after the Wright brothers' first successful flight in 1909. Following Charles Lindbergh's solo flight across the Atlantic, popular series like Ted Scott and Andy Lane established the golden age of juvenile aviation literature. This work examines the 375 juvenile aviation series titles published between 1909 and 1964. It weaves together several thematic threads, including the placement of aviation narratives within the context of major historical events, the technical accuracy in depictions of flying machines, and the ways in which characters reflected the culture of their eras. Three appendices provide publication data for each series, a list of referenced aircraft, and an annotated bibliography; there is a full index. This is an independent analysis of the Navy's latest shipbuilding plan. This study summarizes the ship inventory goals and purchases described in the Navy's FY 2012 plan and assesses their implications for the Navy's funding needs and ship inventories through 2041. The Navy currently envisions buying a total of 275 ships during the next 30 years at an average annual cost of nearly 16 billion in 2011 dollars for new construction alone or a little more than 17 billion for total shipbuilding. By comparison, this report estimates that the cost of the Navy's plan will average 18 billion per year for new construction or 20 billion per year for total shipbuilding. Charts and tables.
