So You Want a Meade LX Telescope! Lawrence Harris, 2010-07-20 Computers and Astronomy Perhaps every generation of astronomers believes that their telescopes are the best that have ever been They are surely all correct The great leap of our time is that computer designed and machined parts have led to more accurately made components that give the astronomer ever better views The manual skills of the craftsman mirror grinder have been transformed into the new age skills of the programmer and the machine maker The new products did not end the work of craftsman telescope makers though Many highly skilled amateur professional opticians continued to produce good quality mirrors that are still seen today Amateur priced telescopes are now capable of highly accurate tracking and computer control that were once only the province of professionals This has greatly increased the possibilities of serious astronomy projects for which tailor made software has been developed Add a CCD camera to these improved telescopes see Chap 3 and you bring a whole new dimension to your astronomy see Fig 1 1 Look Before You Leap But first a word of caution Unless you are already familiar with astronomy and basic telescopes it is not wise to start spending large amounts of money on a we featured telescope Such an instrument might otherwise be subsequently abandoned due to a perceived overcomplexity coupled with a waning interest

Drawing from Nature Lloyd Godman,2023-10-23 While art critics have often pitched drawing and photography as a dichotomy Drawing from Nature fuses the two The artist places photographs of city scenes on a sheet of black paper and then draws with pen and ink from the organic aspects of the photographs Volcanic rock pitted with holes that form the corner of a gutter water streaming down the gutter plants and limestone cliffs provide a starting point for the drawings which extend outwards and defy the rectangle of the photograph The series points to the importance of nature in the concrete jungles that have become our cities This Lloyd Godman exhibition again shows that crisp clear vision we have come to expect from his work Auckland seen from the ground up as no Aucklander sees it This is not so much a homage to the city as a delightful quirky outsider s view There is something at once amusing and provocative in this vision of our Queen city This is not a glossy presentation of the City of

Sails but rather a city in decay or at least a place reminded of its eventual past Detail and texture offer us visual questions which have become the trademark of Godman s work In this exhibition he complements the photographic drawn questions with a catalogue that deepens and sustains this questioning Catalogues can help or hinder the understanding of works Some indeed render images the viewer judges clear totally opaque This catalogue reveals the artists intent his philosophy and the links these have with the images presented Here photographs no longer can be discussed as records of the past but by combining the drawn image they become prophecies received from the past Godman presents to the spectator a vision of the moment and complements that instant of communication with deeper questions within the catalogue Nature here is observed from an often idiosyncratic angle liberated from the confines of the rectangular format Added to the photographic image is a drawn one lovingly detailed and richly textured emphasising Godman s photographic trademark What is clearly important are the questions we are confronted with Ken Laraman Cartographic Aerial Photography United States. Department of the Army,1970 Studio Photography: Essential Skills John Child,2013-03-05 Studio photography is a common career path for aspiring photographers and students but the professional and commercial nature of the field makes it a challenging area to break into Whilst other introductory books on the subject are often bogged down with too much technical detail or too many show off shots Studio Photography Essential Skills offers a practical and accessible guide to the fundamental techniques for successful studio photography Whether photographing a person or a product you need control over the light mood and look to arrive at the perfect result for a particular assignment This book takes a commercial and creative approach and considers the important elements of lighting exposure capture art direction and the studio setting to ensure a successful shoot With a clearly structured learning approach and a wide variety of activities and assignments to inspire and engage you this is an informative stimulating guide to the basics Broaden your skills and increase your earning potential with Studio Photography Essential Skills Magic Lantern Guides®: Nikon D300 Simon Stafford,2009-06-02 Simon Stafford the Technical Editor to the Nikon Owners Club International s Nikon Owner magazine tells all about the company s new semi pro camera the D300 He explains how to make the most of the model s up to the minute attributes including the 12.3 effective megapixel Nikon DX format CMOS image sensor with integrated A/D converter and the increased bit precision of selectable 14 bit NEF RAW output

Adopting the Melody of Phrase: An Emotional Symphony within The Focal Guide To Larger Format Cameras

In a world used by monitors and the ceaseless chatter of immediate interaction, the melodic beauty and mental symphony developed by the prepared word frequently diminish in to the backdrop, eclipsed by the constant noise and disruptions that permeate our lives. However, situated within the pages of The Focal Guide To Larger Format Cameras a charming literary value full of raw emotions, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Crafted by a masterful composer of language, this charming masterpiece conducts viewers on a mental trip, skillfully unraveling the concealed songs and profound influence resonating within each cautiously constructed phrase. Within the depths with this touching assessment, we shall examine the book is key harmonies, analyze its enthralling publishing fashion, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
