Sense Of Style W. J. Keith, 1989 A discussion of the work of 10 fiction writers representing the range of Canadian fiction during the past 50 years that emphasizes artistry rather than theme or the exploration of national identity The writers considered are Margaret Atwood Robertson Davies Mavis Gallant Jack Hodgins Hugh Hood Margaret Laurence W O Mitchell Alice Munro Howard O Hagan and Ethel Wilson The Isolation Booth Hugh Hood, 1991 The Isolation Booth is the third volume in Hugh Hood's Collected Stories it contains short fiction written between 1957 and 1966 While all of the stories have been previously published in various magazines this is the first time they are available in book form The title story was first published in The Tamarack Review in 1958 the paid to Hood for that story represents the first income he ever made from his writing Since then Hugh Hood has become one of Canada's most prolific short story writers and novelists William French The Globe they may have powerful friends These stories reflect the variety of Hood's experiments with the form as well as his continuing concern with the human condition which prompted William Blackburn to comment Hood's thirty year career demonstrates his profound and compassionate sensitivity to our human predicament Canadian Book Review Annual As Hood writes in the introduction to The Isolation Booth Surely the society that invents a space called the isolation booth isn't far removed from the subliminal motivations of the torturers in prisons and camps of one kind or another I've always shuddered remembering the phrase yet it was in common use among millions of weekly viewers of big money TV quiz programmes like The 64 000 Question These concerns are unfortunately as meaningful now as when The Isolation Booth was written in 1958

The Canadian Short Story Reingard M. Nischik, 2007 Beginning in the 1890s reaching its first full realization by modernist writers in the 1920s and brought to its heyday during the Canadian Renaissance starting in the 1960s the short story has become Canada's flagship genre It continues to attract the country's most accomplished and innovative writers today among them Margaret Atwood Mavis Gallant Alice Munro Carol Shields and many others Yet in contrast to the stature and popularity of the genre and the writers who partake in it surprisingly little literary criticism and theory has been devoted to the Canadian short story This collection redresses that imbalance by providing the first collection of critical interpretations of a range of thirty well known and often anthologized Canadian short stories from the genre's beginnings through the twentieth century A historical survey of the genre introduces the volume and a timeline comparing the genre's development in Canada the US and Great Britain via representative examples completes it The collection is geared both to specialists in and to students of Canadian literature For the latter it is of particular benefit that the volume provides not only a collection of interpretations but a comprehensive introduction to the history of the Canadian short story Reingard M Nischik is professor
