"[This little azure-coloured book] is the true Apocalypse, this where the 'Open Secret' becomes revealed to a man. I rejoice much in the glad serenity of soul with which you look out on this wondrous Dwelling-place of yours and mine,—with an ear for the Ewigen Melodien which pipe in the winds round us and utter themselves forth in all sights and sounds and things."

America Fredrick B. Pike, 2010-07-05 The lazy greaser asleep under a sombrero and the avaricious gringo with money stuffed pockets are only two of the negative stereotypes that North Americans and Latin Americans have cherished during several centuries of mutual misunderstanding This unique study probes the origins of these stereotypes and myths and explores how they have shaped North American impressions of Latin America from the time of the Pilgrims up to the end of the twentieth century Fredrick Pike's central thesis is that North Americans have identified themselves with civilization in all its manifestations while viewing Latin Americans as hopelessly trapped in primitivism the victims of nature rather than its masters He shows how this civilization nature duality arose from the first European settlers perception that nature and everything identified with it including American Indians African slaves all women and all children was something to be
