

The Summer Day

by Mary Oliver

Who made the world?
Who made the swan, and the black bear?
Who made the grasshopper?
This grasshopper, I mean –
the one who has flung herself out of the grass,
the one who is eating sugar out of my hand,
who is moving her jaws back and forth instead of up and down –
who is gazing around with her enormous and complicated eyes.
Now she lifts her pale forearms
and thoroughly washes her face.
Now she snaps her wings open, and floats away.
I don't know exactly what a prayer is.
I do know how to pay attention, how to fall down into the grass, how to kneel down in the grass,
how to be idle and blessed,
how to stroll through the fields,
which is what I have been doing all day.
Tell me, what else should I have done?
Doesn't everything die at last, and too soon?
Tell me, what is it you plan to do with your one wild and precious life?

realized The change there had been undramatic it had been devoid of all those picturesque accompaniments that had been so romantic and even sensational in the South but with the perspective of half a century we can see now that it had been no less thoroughgoing and revolutionary The first effect of the war had come from the sudden shifting of vast numbers of the population from a position of productiveness to one of dependence A people who knew only peace and who were totally untrained even in the idea of war were called upon suddenly to furnish one of the largest armies of modern times and to fight to an end the most bitterly contested conflict of a century First and last upwards of two millions of men the most of them citizen volunteers drawn all of them from the most efficient productive class were mustered into the federal service alone It changed in a moment the entire equilibrium of American industrial life This great unproductive army had to be fed and clothed and armed and kept in an enormously wasteful occupation But the farms and the mills and the great transportation systems had been drained of laborers to supply men for the regiments The wheatfields had no harvesters the Mississippi the great commercial outlet of the West had been closed by the war and the railroads were insufficient to handle the burden
