

Sun Protection Policy Guidelines for Schools

Science is facts often being buildings, pillars, reasoning and wisdom. While science may seem like a growing organism, its efforts can feel a bit more. Research shows that children's bodies are more sensitive to sun exposure than adults, and that children's bodies are more sensitive to sun exposure than adults. But it can be prevented. Think of it as a shield that people are less prone to skin cancer due to science progress in that skin, but they can still suffer from skin damage.

By implementing a sun protection policy in schools, we can significantly reduce the risk of skin cancer and promote healthier lifestyles among students and staff.

What Schools Can Do

- Schools have a unique opportunity to educate learners' sun exposure for several reasons:
- Children spend more of their school days outdoors during peak sun hours.
- The school gates are critical for sun exposure protection.
- Schools can influence behavior through education.
- Implementing sun protection measures can help create a healthier school environment.

Why Cancer Prevention Education

Education plays a crucial role in preventing skin cancer, given the amount of sun exposure learners experience during school activities. Skin cancer is preventable, especially through education. The sun protection programme aims to:

- Increase learners' awareness of skin cancer risks and protection measures.
 - Change learners' attitudes about sun protection.
 - Encourage responsible decision-making about sun care.
- Involve learners, parents, teachers, and the school community in creating this culture.

Adopt a Sun Protection Policy

A sun protection policy encourages schools to ensure everyone (all students, staff, and visitors) is protected from the sun's harmful rays. The policy should be adopted in all schools at all levels of sun exposure, especially between 10 AM and 3 PM. Schools should adopt a sun protection policy that:

- provides effective sun protection education.
- minimizes the use of available shade for outdoor activities.
- plans activities to ensure sun exposure during high-risk times.
- includes lessons on planning and using appropriate clothing.
- considers sun protection when discussing school uniform changes.
- requires learners to wear protection clothing, including hats, umbrellas.
- provides sunscreen use in outdoor areas.
- encourages parents, teachers, and visitors to model sun protection behavior.
- informs parents about the school's sun protection policy during activities.

Guidelines on Protection

To ensure effective sun protection, schools should:

- implement broad-based measures that protect the face, neck, and ears.
- consider hats as part of the school uniform.
- encourage learners during breaks, lunchtimes, and outdoor activities.
- implement display boards of skin cancer materials with key messages and advice.
- provide the use of SPF30 or higher sunscreen, and educate learners on its proper application.

Guidelines on School Organization

Schools should organize activities to minimize sun exposure, including:

- holding outdoor assemblies in shaded areas.
- ensuring sun protection during outdoor physical education and sports.
- scheduling outdoor events of high-risk times.
- applying the sun protection policy in swimming programmes.
- ensuring that learners are actively competing under appropriate sun protection.
- requiring suitable hats, clothing, and sunscreen on camps and excursions.
- enabling greater sun protection influence by teachers and parents.

Guidelines for the School Environment

To create a sun-safe school environment, consider:

- ensuring that school grounds are used in relation to shade availability.
- facilitating the development of long-term shade strategies for school grounds.
- identifying possible areas and their reasons for use.
- determining which areas best support shade.
- planning for the reorientation of students or planning more time to provide shade.
- temporary shade structures.
- providing shade for high-risk areas for learners and visiting guests.

By implementing these guidelines, schools can help protect their learners' health and well-being of learners and staff.
