School Effectiveness for Whom? Roger Slee, Sally Tomlinson, Gaby Weiner, 2003-05-20 School effectiveness research together with what is now described as the school improvement movement Barber 1996 has captured both the Conservative and New Labour imaginations as a basis for educational planning and policy making in the UK Internationally school effectiveness enjoys an expanding and enthusiastic audience This book provides a critique of this research genre particularly in the light of the recent calls for teaching to go back to the basics The editors argue that this school effectiveness research is simplistic in its analysis of educational problems Far from getting to the bottom of the problem of failing students and schools they argue these movements are merely scratching at the surface of the problems and coming up with notions for superficial improvements

Global Nation? John Wiseman, 1998-11-13 Globalisation was one of the most ubiquitous buzzwords of the late twentieth century yet its meaning was often elusive Retrenchments trade alliances global warming currency devaluations and so on are often explained as unavoidable consequences of globalisation and even everyday things from the food we eat to the television we watch and the clothes we wear are apparently impacted upon by globalisation This 1998 book provides an accessible exploration of the meanings and implications of globalisation The discussion is carefully grounded in the changing social economic ecological and political relationships of Australia Global Nation also looks at a range of existing and potential responses to the globalisation process arguing that there may be alternatives even though we are increasingly told that there are not

Rethinking Australian Citizenship Wayne Hudson, John Kane, 2000-06 The notion of citizenship is now being taken up internationally as a way to rethink questions of social cohesion and social justice In Europe the concept of national identity is under close scrutiny while the pressures of globalizing markets and the power of transnational corporations everywhere raise questions about the true place and meaning of citizenship in civil society In Australia a traditional view of citizens belonging to a single nation made up of one people with a special relationship to one land has been thrown open to challenge by a range of differing perspectives Rethinking Australian Citizenship considers the major debates Some chapters look at contemporary theoretical debates while others reinvent Australian citizenship from a particular perspective on civil life The result is a rich and coherent volume that shows the diverse ways in which Australian citizenship can be rethought

Contemporary Nationalism David Brown, 2003-09-02 This book examines the problematic politics of contemporary nationalism and the worldwide resurgence of ethno nationalist conflict It analyses the core theories of nationalism building

Interrogating Conceptions of “Vulnerable Youth” in Theory, Policy and Practice Kitty te Riele,Radhika Gorur,2015-06-25 Young people who are considered vulnerable or at risk are a particular target of various policies schemes and interventions But what does vulnerability mean Interrogating Conceptions of Vulnerable Youth explores this question in relation to various policy fields that are relevant to young people as well for how this plays out in practice and how it is experienced by young people themselves What makes this book unique is that most authors had the opportunity to jointly explore these issues during a two day workshop and their chapters are informed by their cross agency and cross discipline discussions making for a nuanced and thoughtful set of contributions This collection is highly recommended for researchers and research students in the social sciences as well as professional staff working in youth policy and youth services in government departments and in NGOs Those who are most vulnerable should receive our greatest moral attention However the translation of generalised moral principles into effective policy and programs has never been easy Political interests have invariably intervened leading to complex debates about how vulnerability should be defined classified measured and represented In recent years these debates have become further complicated as nation states around the world have preached austerity This timely book suggests that the responsibility for protecting the vulnerable cannot be left to individuals but demands collective action through institutions such as education health and welfare It examines some of the ways in which public policies and programs represent those who are vulnerable involving a range of assumptions about the social economic and political conditions that produce their vulnerabilities From the Foreword by Professor Fazal Rizvi

Australian Foreign Policy in Asia Allan Patience,2017-12-12 This book sets out to discuss what kind of middle power Australia is and whether its identity as a middle power negatively influences its relationship with Asia It looks at the history of the middle power concept develops three concepts of middle power status and examines Australia s relationships with China Japan and Indonesia as a focus It argues that Australia is an awkward partner in its relations with Asia due to both its historical colonial and discriminatory past as well its current dependence upon the United States for a security alliance It argues this should be changed by adopting a new middle power concept in Australian foreign policy
