Statistical Consulting:

Statistical Consulting Javier Cabrera, Andrew McDougall, 2013-04-17 The motivation for this book arose from the statistical consulting course that we have taught regularly for several years In that course we focus on the themes Understanding the statistical consulting process Developing effective communication skills Obtaining experience through case studies In reality there is no substitute for consulting directly with a client and for this interaction to be effective good communication skills are essential Unfortunately this aspect of a statistician's training is often neglected and statistics graduates have little choice but to learn these skills on the job One of the purposes of this book is to address this need Statistical consulting occurs in a diverse range of environments and for tackling real life statistical problems the statistician needs to have a strong interest in the scientific method History itself provides the best examples for developing this interest and so we begin with a brief historical voyage in Chapter 1 There's no time like the present of course and in the remainder of this chapter we describe some of the environments in which statistical consulting plays a major role A detailed discussion on verbal and written communication skills that will be required in a consulting environment is presented in Chapter 2

Statistical Consulting Janice Derr, 2000 Dr Janice Derr covers all aspects of statistical consulting Using text and video she integrates three themes that form the perspective of the book First a statistician should treat each client as a potential collaborator Second diversity must be appreciated Students will see a variety of cultures styles of communication and negotiation and learning preferences in the book Third experienced statisticians and clients must work together in the process of training statistical consultants On the CD ROM video segments bring the material to life and cover each aspect of statistical consulting by demonstrating good and bad techniques

Teaching of Statistics and Statistical Consulting

Jagdish S. Rustagi, Douglas A. Wolfe, 2014-05-10 Teaching of Statistics and Statistical Consulting is a collection of papers dealing with graduate programs in statistics teaching service courses and short courses and training statisticians for employment in industry and government Some papers also deal with the role of statistical consulting in graduate training and teaching statistics at the Open University One paper describes some observations made on graduate program in statistics citing concerns of professionalism competency and a highly structured university curriculum Another paper takes a task analysis approach to designing a regression analysis course where with proper course structuring students will actively learn to do the objectives of the course Other papers discuss consulting and research work at the Australian Government's research organization as well as how to prepare statisticians for future government service or for the private industry One paper deals with some important things that a practicing statistician should know but which are seldom taught in statistics courses Another paper describes teaching statistics at a distance from the Open University in the United Kingdom The collection can prove helpful for academic statisticians in educational institutions to statisticians or to mathematicians employed in the public or private sectors

Promoting Statistical Practice and Collaboration in Developing Countries O. Olawale Awe, Kim Love, Eric A. Vance, 2022-06-07 Rarely but just often enough to rebuild hope something happens to confound my pessimism about the recent unprecedented happenings in the world This book is the most recent instance and I think that all its readers will join me in rejoicing at the good it seeks to do It is an example of the kind of international comity and collaboration that we could and should undertake to solve various societal problems This book is a beautiful example of the power of the possible It provides a blueprint for how the LISA 2020 model can be replicated in other fields Civil engineers or accountants or nurses or any other profession could follow this outline to share expertise and build capacity and promote progress in other countries It also contains some tutorials for statistical literacy across several fields The details would change of course but ideas are durable and the generalizations seem pretty straightforward This book shows every other profession where and how to stand in order to move the world I urge every researcher to get a copy David Banks from the Foreword Promoting Statistical Practice and Collaboration in Developing Countries provides new insights into the current issues and opportunities in international statistics education statistical consulting and collaboration particularly in developing countries around the world The book addresses the topics discussed in individual chapters from the perspectives of the historical context the present state and future directions of statistical training and practice so that readers may fully understand the challenges and opportunities in the field of statistics and data science especially in developing countries Features Reference point on statistical practice in developing countries for researchers scholars students and practitioners Comprehensive source of state of the art knowledge on creating statistical collaboration laboratories within the field of data science and statistics Collection of innovative statistical teaching and learning techniques in developing countries Each chapter consists of independent case study contributions on a particular theme that are developed with a common structure and format The common goal across the chapters is to enhance the exchange of diverse educational and action oriented information among our intended audiences which include practitioners researchers students and statistics educators in developing countries Statistical Consulting Javier Cabrera, Andrew McDougall, 2014-01-15

Strength in Numbers: The Rising of Academic Statistics Departments in the U. S. Alan Agresti, Xiao-Li Meng, 2012-11-02 Statistical science as organized in formal academic departments is relatively new With a few exceptions most Statistics and Biostatistics departments have been created within the past 60 years This book consists of a set of memoirs one for each department in the U S created by the mid 1960s The memoirs describe key aspects of the department s history its founding its growth key people in its development success stories such as major research accomplishments and the occasional failure story PhD graduates who have had a significant impact its impact on statistical education and a summary of where the department stands today and its vision for the future Read here all about how departments such as at Berkeley Chicago Harvard and Stanford started and how they got to where they are today The book should also be of interests to scholars in the field of disciplinary history Leadership in Statistics and Data Science Amanda L. Golbeck, 2021-03-22 This edited collection brings together voices of the strongest thought leaders on diversity equity and inclusion in the field of statistics and data science with the goal of encouraging and steering the profession into the regular practice of inclusive and humanistic leadership It provides futuristic ideas for promoting opportunities for equitable leadership as well as tested approaches that have already been found to make a difference It speaks to the challenges and opportunities of leading successful research collaborations and making strong connections within research teams Curated with a vision that leadership takes a myriad of forms and that diversity has many dimensions this volume examines the nuances of leadership within a workplace environment and promotes storytelling and other competencies as critical elements of effective leadership It makes the case for inclusive and humanistic leadership in statistics and data science where there often remains a dearth of women and members of certain racial communities among the employees Titled and non titled leaders will benefit from the planning evaluation and structural tools offered within to contribute inclusive excellence in workplace climate environment and culture Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 2002 United States.
