Sur Le Vif:

Sur le Vif Hannelore Jarausch, Clare Tufts, 1993-07-15 Sur le vif is a one semester program that seeks to revive students' enthusiasm about communicating in French. Text is in two parts. Part 1 for classroom use contains Francophone and French readings from literary and journalistic sources and engaging activities. Part 2 is a concise intermediate level grammar review for out of class use.

Picturing the Western Front Beatriz Pichel, 2021-05-18 Between 1914 and 1918 military press and amateur photographers produced thousands of pictures. Either classified in military archives specially created with this purpose in 1915, collected in personal albums or circulated in illustrated magazines, photographs were supposed to tell the story of the war. Picturing the Western Front argues that photographic practices also shaped combatants and civilians' war experiences. Doing photography, taking pictures, posing for them, exhibiting, cataloguing and looking at them allowed combatants and civilians to make sense of what they were living through. Photography mattered because it enabled combatants and civilians to record events, establish or reinforce bonds with one another, represent bodies, place people and events in imaginative geographies and making things visible while making others such as suicide invisible. Photographic practices became thus frames of experience.

Radaelli, Philipp Trein, 2018-04-28 This book explains the causal pathways, the mechanisms and the politics that define the quantity and quality of policy learning. A rich collection of case studies structured around a strong conceptual architecture, the volume comprises fresh original empirical evidence for a large number of countries, sectors and multi level governance settings including the European Commission, the European Union and individual countries across Europe, Australia, Canada and Brazil. The theoretically diverse chapters address both the presence of learning and its pathologies, deploying state of the art methods including process tracing, diffusion models and fuzzy set techniques.

She demonstrates how that cliché of modern life, the family dog, reveals the tensions that modernity created for the Parisian bourgeoisie. Kete's study draws on a range of literary and archival sources from dog care books to veterinarians' records to Dumas's musings on his cat. The fad for aquariums, attitudes toward vivisection, the dread of rabies, the development of dog breeding, all are shown to reflect the ways middle class people thought about their lives. Petkeeping, says Kete, was a way to imagine a better, more manageable version of the world; it relieved the pressures of contemporary life and improvised solutions to the intractable mesh that was post-Enlightenment France. The faithful, affectionate family dog became a counterpoint to the isolation of individualism and lack of community in urban life. By century's end, however, animals no longer represented the human condition with such potency, and even the irascible, autonomous cat had been rehabilitated into a creature of fidelity and affection. Full of fascinating details, this innovative book will contribute to the way we understand culture and the creation of class. Les eaux fortes et les lithographies que nous présentons ont paru offrir de grands avantages. Présenter l'œuvre dans le catalogue, ont-ils dans la mesure du de Bresdin par catégorie, aurait manqué de logique possible classées par ordre chronologique, bien des gardes sans rendre plus clair, bien au contraire. Ce classement s'est révélé difficile pour les œuvres traitant l'ensemble de l'œuvre datant d'avant 1850, la documentation faisant défaut. La Troisième Partie du Volume 1 présente la page. La classification choisie constitue donc souvent une 154, un tableau synthétique des vingt lithographies de l'artiste, hypothèse encore que quelques dates connues tablissent certains points de repère. Nous nous référons donc à une faon générale, les gravures n'ont pas eu aussi la Troisième Partie du Volume I.
