The Message Beyond Words: The Illusion of Death and the Reality of Living: Talks on the Kathopanishad Osho, 2025-04-10 The Message beyond Words is an invitation to understand what death really is and thus transform the way you live These talks are based on the ancient Kathopanishad which tells the story of a small boy Nachiketa who is sent by his father to face the Lord of Death This Upanishad is traditionally read as someone is dying to inspire the people they love the people who are present to begin their search for a conscious life By exploring the methods described in this book a person frozen in their fear of death can melt flow and really begin to live for the first time Once you really face your fears about death says Osho your life will automatically transform and become conscious joyful and silent Osho defies all categorization As he says I am not much of a religious person I am not a saint I have nothing to do with spirituality All those categories are irrelevant about me You cannot categorize me you cannot pigeonhole me But one thing can be said that my whole effort is to help you release the energy called love intelligence If love intelligence is released you are healed

The Vedanta-Sutras \(Complete\) Ramanuja,2020-09-28 To the sacred literature of the Brahmins in the strict sense of the term i e to the Veda there belongs a certain number of complementary works without whose assistance the student is according to Hindu notions unable to do more than commit the sacred texts to memory In the first place all Vedic texts must in order to be understood be read together with running commentaries such as S yana s commentaries on the Samhit s and Br hmanas and the Bh shyas ascribed to Sankara on the chief Upanishads But these commentaries do not by themselves conduce to a full comprehension of the contents of the sacred texts since they confine themselves to explaining the meaning of each detached passage without investigating its relation to other passages and the whole of which they form part considerations of the latter kind are at any rate introduced occasionally only The task of taking a comprehensive view of the contents of the Vedic writings as a whole of systematising what they present in an unsystematical form of showing the mutual co ordination or subordination of single passages and sections and of reconciling contradictions which according to the view of the orthodox commentators can be apparent only is allotted to a separate s tra or body of doctrine which is termed M m ms i e the investigation or enquiry viz the enquiry into the connected meaning of the sacred texts Of this M m ms two branches have to be distinguished the so called earlier p rva M m ms and the later uttara M m ms The former undertakes to systematise the karmak nda i e that entire portion of the Veda which is concerned with action pre eminently sacrificial action and which comprises the Samhit s and the Br hmanas exclusive of the ranyaka portions the latter performs the same service with regard to the so called g nak nda i e that part of the Vedic writings which includes the ranyaka portions of the Br hmanas and a number of detached treatises called Upanishads Its subject is not action but knowledge viz the knowledge of Brahman At what period these two s stras first assumed a definite form we are unable to ascertain Discussions of the nature of those which constitute the subject matter of the P rva M m ms must have arisen at a very early period and the word M m ms itself together with its derivatives is already employed in the Br hmanas to denote the doubts and discussions connected with certain contested points of ritual The want of a body of definite rules prescribing how to act i e how to perform the various sacrifices in full accordance with the teaching of the Veda was indeed an urgent one because it was an altogether practical want continually pressing itself on the adhvaryus engaged in ritualistic duties And the task of establishing such rules was moreover a comparatively limited and feasible one for the members of a certain Vedic s kh or school had to do no more than to digest thoroughly their own br hmana and samhita without being under any obligation of reconciling with the teaching of their own books the occasionally conflicting rules implied in the texts of other s kh s It was assumed that action as being something which depends on the will and choice of man admits of alternatives so that a certain sacrifice may be performed in different ways by members of different Vedic schools or even by the followers of one and the same s kh The Uttara M m ms s tra may be supposed to have originated considerably later than the P rva M m ms In the first place the texts with which it is concerned doubtless constitute the latest branch of Vedic literature And in the second place the subject matter of those texts did not call for a systematical treatment with equal urgency as it was in no way connected with practice the mental attitude of the authors of the Upanishads who in their lucubrations on Brahman and the soul aim at nothing less than at definiteness and coherence may have perpetuated itself through many generations without any great inconvenience resulting therefrom
