

An Overview of Clinical Experience with Solcoderm

W.C. Labhardt

Basle, Switzerland

This report summarizes the salient features of our detailed 'Clinical documentation on a chemosurgical alternative treatment for benign and malignant tumors in dermatological practice' [thesis, Basel 1980]. The material employed (Solcoderm) has the property of directly fixing the tissue to which it is applied. The devitalized tissue dries up, darkens, and spontaneously falls off as a mummified crust in 2-5 weeks.

There seems to be a difference in the action of corrosives against pathologically altered tissue, probably as a consequence of its frequently looser, less dense structure allowing easier and more rapid penetration of the applied material into the lesion with little or no damage to surrounding normal tissue. With some types of tumors (ex. dense verruca) penetration may be more limited and the therapeutic technique needs to vary accordingly. In any event, a specific action on neoplastically altered tissue need not be postulated to explain the differences in response to Solcoderm of normal versus some types of tumor tissues. We shall review below our experience with this topical product by type of skin tumor.

Verrucae

Since these dense lesions are not easily penetrated, light scarification with the applicator stick proved useful. It was often necessary to retreat after removing the cauterization crust until the desired result was achieved. Some hyperkeratotic warts were softened by pretreatment with a keratolytic such as salicylate vaseline to promote Solcoderm penetration and shorten treatment time. With plantar warts mechanical (but not operative) removal of the posttreatment cauterized area was found to be useful when retreatment was necessary. Of 24 verrucae (16 vulgaris, 7 plantaris, and 1 plana) well-documented follow-up was achieved in 22, and in 20 of these the results were good or very good, and in one satisfactory. The one failure was a problem patient of long-standing verruca plantaris.

Condyloma acuminata

These lesions are notorious for the low rate of spontaneous disappearance and high rate of recurrence after standard treatment (50% within 3 months). On application of Solcoderm the treated area immediately became colored, indicating rapid penetration of the lesion. A brief burning sensation was common, but swelling did not occur (in sharp contrast with the response to podophyllin). The presence of fissures limits the vigor of therapy since painful burning is more likely.

In 21 patients treated, lesions were present on the penis (14), intraurethral (8), anal
