Supporting Young Adolescents:

The Young Adolescent and the Middle School Steven B. Mertens, Vincent A. Anfara, Micki M. Caskey, 2007-04-01
Sponsored by the Middle Level Education Research SIG and the National Middle School Association The Young Adolescent and the Middle School focuses on issues related to the nature of young adolescence and the intersection of young adolescence with middle level schooling This volume of the Handbook of Research in Middle Level Education marks the sixth installment in the series The Handbook series begun in 2001 by Vince Anfara the series editor has addressed varying thematic issues important to middle level education research This volume The Young Adolescent and the Middle School focuses on the unique developmental needs of young adolescents and the role of the middle school in attending to these needs The contributing authors in this volume address one of three developmental areas critical to young adolescents physical development intellectual cognitive development or social and personal development and how these developmental characteristics affect the educational environment and the organization of middle schools Supporting Young People in Europe: Lessons from the 'second seven' Council of Europe international reviews of national youth policy Howard Williamson, 2002-01-01 This monograph has two purposes The first is to develop the framework that was initially established through a grounded reading of the material from the first seven international reviews of national youth policy conducted by the Council of Europe Youth Directorate between 1997 and 2001 This has involved a careful reading of the subsequent national and international reports produced between 2002 and 2006 to identify either issues that merit greater prominence or new issues to be addressed in the future The outcome of this exercise is the proposal of a new framework for European level debates on the subject of youth policy The second purpose is through consultation with those who took part in the second cycle of reviews to refine further the process by which international reviews are carried out A number of observations suggest that immediate action can be taken to improve the experience of participating in review teams and ultimately the quality of the international reports Supporting disclosure among children and adolescents living with HIV World Health Organization, 2025-07-08 Children and adolescents experience persistent challenges to HIV testing linkage to care and retention One critical gap for children and adolescents aged 6-19 is disclosure of HIV status Being aware of one's own HIV status as well as being able to share this with others safely and when ready is key to closing gaps in prevention and care and enhancing treatment outcomes Disclosing HIV status to children and adolescents is a critical first step to building health literacy and empowering them to be engaged in and lead decision making about their own health This capability is essential to lifelong health Despite emerging resources that provide guidance on supporting disclosure for children and adolescents there is limited evidence on the effectiveness of approaches to support HIV status disclosure to and by children and adolescents Building on the WHO guidelines for disclosure to children up to age 12 in 2011 this implementation guidance provides evidence on existing interventions that support children and adolescents living with HIV in the process of disclosure

It includes interventions that focuses on safe disclosure as well as supporting children and adolescents with onwards disclosure Specifically this brief collates existing interventions via a scoping review assesses key interventions through a realist evaluation lens identifying what works for whom and in what contexts and highlights emerging considerations key gaps and key actions

Spirituality for Youth-Work Phil Daughtry,2016-09-23 This book addresses a systemic gap in existing studies on human services and youth work While the notion of spirituality does make rare appearances in such literature it is often vaguely defined and underdeveloped both as a concept and as a mode of practice This ambiguity is symptomatic of the broader shift in the sociological context of Western and global societies that has been referred to variously as post modern late modern and post secular From the perspective of the relationship between human development and the spiritual theological we live in a time between times We have not yet worked out how to speak of spirit nor how to include its meanings in positive youth intervention and developments in our language for a public spiritual consciousness remain in a state of cultural flux This book offers a coherent vocabulary and narrative from which to construct a more explicit and deliberate practice of spiritual care education and professional identity for youth workers It speaks directly to youth work practitioners managers of youth services those providing youth work education and anyone with an interest in youth and spirituality research and practice

Family Therapy for Adolescent Eating and Weight Disorders Katharine L. Loeb, Daniel Le Grange, James

Lock, 2015-03-27 Family based treatment FBT for eating disorders is an outpatient therapy in which parents are utilized as the primary resource in treatment. The therapist supports the parents to do the work nurses would have done if the patient were hospitalized to an inpatient refeeding unit and are eventually tasked with encouraging the patient to resume normal adolescent development. In recent years many new adaptations of the FBT intervention have been developed for addressing the needs of special populations. This informative new volume chronicles these novel applications of FBT in a series of chapters authored by the leading clinicians and investigators who are pioneering each adaptation. Research and Resources in Support of This We Believe Vincent A. Anfara, P. Gayle Andrews, 2003 Reforming Middle Level Education Sue C. Thompson, Vincent A. Anfara, 2004-06-01 This volume of The Handbook of Research in Middle Level Education is a significant contribution to the literature on middle level schools because it is written specifically with policymakers in mind. Middle level scholars have illuminated the most important issues concerning the education of young adolescents of which policymakers must be knowledgeable. It is only by having informed policymakers that middle level schools can truly thrive and provide the kind of education that every young adolescent deserves. The future of our country depends on it.
