O'Brien, 2005-09 Getting Away with Torture Christoher H. Pyle, 2009-06 That American forces should torture prisoners in their war on terror is disturbing but more shocking still is that the highest officials of the Bush Cheney administration planned authorized encouraged and concealed these war crimes When the Supreme Court ruled that the officials were bound by the Geneva Conventions a Republican Congress responded by granting amnesty to all responsible from lowly interrogators to the president while conservative judges erected a wall of secrecy to protect them even from civil liability Meanwhile timid Democrats have shown little stomach for repealing the amnesty law and bringing those responsible to justice Many Americans including those who endorsed torture to find ticking bombs that never were are now embarrassed by credible reports of CIA kidnappings for purposes of torture secret prisons into which prisoners have disappeared without a trace and rigged tribunals to convict al Qaeda s criminals on evidence obtained by torture But the problem is not just embarrassment it is the widespread acceptance of unaccountable secret government that now threatens to destroy the very foundations of constitutional government The moral standing of the United States will not be restored Christopher Pyle argues until a concerted effort is made to bring our secret government under the rule of law The World Factbook 2009 , 2009 In general information available as of January 1 2009 was used in the preparation of this edition Provides brief information on the geography people government economy communications and defense of countries and regions around the world Contains information on international organizations Designed to meet the specific requirements of United States Government Officials in style format coverage and content Includes 3 unattached maps The World Factbook Central Intelligence Agency, 2010-07-01 By intelligence officials for intelligent people Hijacked Justice Jelena Subotić, 2011-02-23 What is the appropriate political response to mass atrocity In Hijacked Justice Jelena Subotic traces the design implementation and political outcomes of institutions established to deal with the legacies of violence in the aftermath of the Yugoslav wars She finds that international efforts to establish accountability for war crimes in the former Yugoslavia have been used to pursue very different local political goals Responding to international pressures Serbia Croatia and Bosnia have implemented various mechanisms of transitional justice the systematic addressing of past crimes after conflicts end Transitional justice in the three countries however was guided by ulterior political motives to get rid of domestic political opponents to obtain international financial aid or to gain admission to the European Union Subotic argues that when transitional justice becomes hijacked for such local political strategies it fosters domestic backlash deepens political instability and even creates alternative politicized versions of history That war crimes trials such as those in The Hague and truth commissions as in South Africa are necessary and desirable has become a staple belief among those concerned with reconstructing societies after conflict States are now expected to deal with their violent legacies in an institutional setting rather than through blanket amnesty or victor s justice This new expectation however has produced paradoxical results In order to avoid the pitfalls of hijacked justice Subotic argues the international community should focus on broader and deeper social transformation of postconflict societies instead on emphasizing only arrests of war crimes suspects A Decade Under Chavez , Killer Commodities Merrill Singer,Hans A.
