The Telecoms Trade War Mark Naftel, Lawrence J Spiwak, 2001-01-15 If one were to believe the politicians and pundits in the trade press the world is in midst of a telecoms revolution resulting from the deregulation and new competitive opportunities represented by the 1997 World Trade Organisation Agreement on Basic Telecommunications Services This may be true Unfortunately however the actions of many regulators and industry participants more accurately reveal not a telecoms revolution but instead a growing telecoms trade war that is dangerously close to spiralling out of hand In this book Naftel and Spiwak review U S and European competition and regulatory initiatives post WTO and provide both a useful roadmap to today s U S EU and WTO telecoms regulation and an examination of various case studies to illustrate their points In so doing the authors discover unfortunately the sad reality that despite the political rhetoric regulators on both sides of the Atlantic have eschewed innovative and indeed productive solutions to create a market structure conducive to long term competitive rivalry Instead the authors demonstrate that current policies reveal a growing cynicism towards the maximisation of consumer welfare that will be difficult if not outright impossible to remove

Telecommunication in the 21st Century Michel Feneyrol, 2012-12-06 As we enter the next millennium the technological revolution is all set to speed up Advances will be shaped by many factors technological breakthroughs market forces politics and economics Yet more importantly they will be shaped by human and social factors and the success or failure of products and services will largely be driven by consumer demand This illuminating look into the future sets out to distinguish between what will become reality and what will remain hypothetical focusing on the most feasible developments This is not a book of visionary ideals but a practical view of the next century of telecommunication
