Philosophising By Accident Bernard Stiegler,2017-04-27 This new translation of four revised radio interviews conducted in December 2002 at France Culture with Elie During is the best introduction to Stiegler s Time and Technics series This collection includes a new interview conducted specially for this volume and an interview with Artpress from 2001 In Philosophising By Accident Stiegler introduces some of the key arguments about the technical constitution of the human and its relation to politics aesthetics and economics He reads philosophical texts from the perspective of his controversial thesis about the three types of memory and speaks about concepts central to his later works such as synchrony diachrony grammatisation and the industrial temporal object Discovering the Human Ralf Haekel,Sabine Blackmore,2013-08-14

Discovering the Human investigates the emergence of the modern human sciences and their impact on literature art and other media in the 18th and the 19th centuries Up until the 1830s science and culture were part of a joint endeavour to discover and explore the secret of life The question What is life unites science and the arts during the Ages of Enlightenment and Romanticism and at the end of the Romantic period a shift of focus from the human as an organic whole to the specialized disciplines signals the dawning of modernity The emphasis of the edited collection is threefold the first part sheds light on the human in art and science in the Age of Enlightenment the second part is concerned with the transitions taking place at the turn of the 19th century The chapters forming the third part investigate the impact of different media on the concept of the human in science literature and film Re-Thinking Agency Joanna Godlewicz-Adamiec, Paweł Piszczatowski, 2024-10-07 The book explores the multi faceted nature of contemporary reflections on agency focusing on various discursive practices that shape the posthumanist approach to the relationship between the human and non human world from a planetary perspective The chapters delve into critical human animal studies examine new non anthropocentric identity constructs and offer analyses that reinterpret meanings through semiotic inversions and challenge static cultural patterns The book concludes with discussions on decolonization practices that aim to liberate agency from oppressive systems particularly those dominated by imperial phallogocentrism The Sublime Lap-Chuen Tsang, 1998 An important work offering a viable theory for the concept of Sublime in philosophy This is a work of quite unusual philosophical interest original and deeply insightful Dr Tsang argues on the one hand that sublimity is not a property of objects regarded as sublime but belongs to our construal of objects while on the other he also argues that when we so construe an object we are giving expression to some limit to our life not an external barrier but a limit internal to it But what lies at the limit cannot be represented So the sublime can be evoked by language but not represented in it This leads Dr Tsang on to a philosophical analysis of evocation and of the evocative possibilities of a sublime object What he says about evocation presupposes and requires for its completion an account of how affective elements are involved in the experience of the sublime and what he claims here is that there is no one feeling or type of feeling involved in the experience of the sublime but that a wide range of different feelings may be involved on different occasions The quality of the feeling is closely bound up with the character of the experience of the sublime as a limit experience Finally Dr Tsang considers the cultural and social context of experiences of the sublime both what is universally recognized as sublime because bound up with the general conditions of human life and what is specific to particular cultural and social contexts He then moves to the conclusion to examine the relationship of the sublime to human willing As a postscript there is an excellent treatment of Kant s theory of the sublime Philosophy After Nature Rosi Braidotti, Rick Dolphijn, 2017-06-23 The significant changes that have dominated the social and the scientific world over the last thirty years have brought about upheavals and critical re appraisals that have proved quite positive in fostering 21st century thought This interdisciplinary collection of state of the art essays offers innovative and thought provoking insights concerning contemporary philosophical and cultural reflection on the nature culture interaction Starting from the assumption that the binary opposition between the two terms has been replaced by a continuum of the two the volume explores both the terms of this new interaction and its implications Technology occupies a central place in the shift towards a nature cultural continuum but it is not the only factor The consequences of economic globalization notably the global spread of digital mediation also account for this change of perspective Last but not least the climate change issue and a renewed urgency around the state of the environmental crisis also contribute to bring the natural much closer to home Digital mediation has by now become a standard way to live and interact The electronic frontier has altered dramatically the practice of education and research especially in the Humanities and social sciences with direct consequences for the institutional practice and the methodology of these disciplinary fields This book aims to explore the implications of these complex shifts for the practice of critical thinking

Literature and The Contemporary Roger Luckhurst, Peter Marks, 2014-07-22 At the end of the century much criticism has become devoted to last things the end of history the end of the subject the end of the novel the end even of the end Literature and the Contemporary in contrast aims to provide through twelve essays evidence of the way in which the literature of the 1990s is constantly engaging in questions of memory and history and the representation of time in the present day The essays in the book survey theories of temporality from various cultural and philosophical standpoints and represent critics writing from feminist postcolonial and queer perspectives discussing literature in our time The collection addresses such central issues as the politics of memory colonial legacies women s time racial and sexual identities in the 1990s and covers a wide range of contemporary authors works and issues some of which are treated for the first time Among the contemporary works discussed are the prize winning books Graham Swift s Last Orders Anne Michaels Fugitive Pieces and Jane Smiley s A Thousand Acres While discussing some of the most significant novels of the 1990s this collection also offers a diverse yet cohesive critique of the millennial leanings of much postmodernist criticism which it argues should be replaced by more variously nuanced engagements with literature and the contemporary

Solidarities with the Non/Human, or, Posthumanism in Literature Stefan Herbrechter, 2024-11-18 This volume collects essays written over the last decade by one of the founders and leading figures of the theoretical movement of critical posthumanism The readings of literary texts gathered here from Shakespeare Keats Camus Vittorini Kundera Haushofer Atwood Eagleman Crace and DeLillo focus on posthumanist moments in which questions of postanthropocentrism and the nonhuman become prominent are negotiated and ultimately foreclosed They show how a deconstructively minded way of reading humanistically motivated texts can help making these texts relevant for our so called posthuman times In doing so these critical posthumanist readings demonstrate that literature remains one of the privileged cultural institutions and practices from which solidarities both with and between the human and nonhuman can be formed and negotiated

The Scent of Time Byung-Chul Han, 2017-09-25 In his philosophical reflections on the art of lingering acclaimed cultural theorist Byung Chul Han argues that the value we attach today to the vita activa is producing a crisis in our sense of time Our attachment to the vita activa creates an imperative to work which degrades the human being into a labouring animal an animal laborans At the same time the hyperactivity which characterizes our daily routines robs human beings of the capacity to linger and the faculty of contemplation It therefore becomes impossible to experience time as fulfilling Drawing on a range of thinkers including Heidegger Nietzsche and Arendt Han argues that we can overcome this temporal crisis only by revitalizing the vita contemplativa and relearning the art of lingering For what distinguishes humans from other animals is the capacity for reflection and contemplation and when life regains this capacity this art of lingering it gains in time and space in duration and vastness

Lyotard and Critical Practice Kiff Bamford, Margret Grebowicz, 2022-08-25 Jean Fran ois Lyotard 1924 1998 was one of the previous century s most provocative thinkers Can his work help us address the crisis currently facing the humanities The dominant economic discourse sees the humanities as low value an irritation at best Lyotard helps us to think against this pervasive dismissal of creative activity not by defending the honor of the humanities but by inviting critical practices which aggravate this irritation Critical practices trouble what counts as critique embrace incertitude and listen for silenced voices Twelve essays by artists and researchers take up Lyotard s invitation and begin to develop the idea of critical practice in the contemporary context Three sections titled What resists thinking Long views and distances and Why art practice address contemporary concerns like affectivity aesthetics economic imperatives militarism pedagogy posthumanism and the closure of what in Lyotard s time was called the West Four short pieces by Lyotard intervene in and buttress the discussion Apathy in Theory and Interview with Art Pr sent here published in English for the first time and Affect phrase and The Other s Rights republished here to highlight his prescient concern for that which cannot be articulated

Philosophy and the Arts Bert Olivier, 2009 This collection of philosophical essays addresses important issues in the arts encompassing painting sculpture photography film and architecture The author s point of departure is the conviction that art in all its manifestations is an extremely significant cultural practice because it embodies a creative reflective appropriation of social political economic religious historical and ecological developments and as such merits close philosophical scrutiny reflection and interpretation The question of whether painting is still a viable artistic practice in our technocratic society is considered here and it is no accident that both this issue and that of artificial intelligence are approached from the perspective of the phenomenological thought of Maurice Merleau Ponty among other thinkers Equally important is the consideration of the relationship between art and the ethical as highlighted by significant recent artistic events as well as discussion of the transformational influence of ecological art and the culturally symptomatic meaning of kitsch Other themes discussed include play and artistic tradition formulating a suitable model for art beyond Kierkegaard s aesthetic and ethical models the meaning of 9 11 for architecture and Lyotard s claim that today only an aesthetic of the sublime instead of the beautiful can help us make sense of art

Mimetic Posthumanism , 2024-10-21 It is tempting to affirm that on and about November 2022 post human character changed The revolution in A I simulations certainly calls for an update of the ancient realization that humans are imitative animals or homo mimeticus But the mimetic turn in posthuman studies is not limited to A I from simulation to identification affective contagion to viral mimesis robotics to hypermimesis the essays collected in this volume articulate the multiple facets of homo mimeticus 2 0 Challenging rationalist accounts of autonomous originality internal to the history of Homo sapiens this volume argues from different artistic philosophical technological perspectives that the all too human tendency to imitate is paradoxically central to our ongoing process of becoming posthuman
