The Collected Horace: School structure and design Kathleen Cushman,1998 Selected articles from various issues of Horace the Journal of the Coalition of Essential Schools with concrete examples of the work of the CES schools across the country

Blueprint for Tomorrow Prakash Nair,2019-01-02 The United States has about 2 trillion tied up in aging school facilities School districts throughout the country spend about 12 billion every year keeping this infrastructure going Yet almost all of the new money we pour into school facilities reinforces an existing and obsolete model of schooling In Blueprint for Tomorrow Prakash Nair one of the world s leading school designers explores the hidden messages that our school facilities and classrooms convey and advocates for the alignment of the design of places in which we teach and learn with twenty first century learning goals Blueprint for Tomorrow provides simple affordable and versatile ideas for adapting or redesigning school spaces to support student centered learning In particular the author focuses on ways to use current spending to modify existing spaces and explains which kinds of adaptations offer the biggest return in terms of student learning The book is organized by area from classrooms to cafeterias and is richly illustrated throughout including before and after features smart idea sidebars and do now suggestions for practical first steps It outlines key principles for designing spaces that support today s learning needs and includes tools to help educators evaluate the educational effectiveness of their own spaces Blueprint for Tomorrow will open educators eyes to the ways that architecture and learning are entwined and will challenge them to rethink the ways they teach and work together

Planning and Designing Scho C. William Brubaker,Raymond Bordwell,Gaylaird Christophe,1998 With a new baby boom on the horizon for the 21st century large increases in the number of school age children will drive the rehabilitation of outdated facilities and the construction of new ones The school market from elementary through university is thriving and comprehensive analysis of the requirements of tomorrow s schools is sorely needed New educational tools new mixes of student bodies and new philosophies of learning characterize today s schools this book illuminates the design implications for the retrofitting and new construction of elementary and secondary schools

School Design Matters Harry Daniels,Andrew Stables,Hau Ming Tse,Sarah Cox,2019-03-06 Presenting qualitative and quantative findings from the unique multi disciplinary project Design Matters this timely book explores the complex relationship between school design and practice to consider how environmental aspects impact on the day to day perceptions actions and behaviours of pupils teachers leaders and professionals within the school community Exploring debates and issues from a number of different professional and academic perspectives School Design Matters results from a rich collaboration between schools architects engineers educationalists and policymakers to consider what an inspiring teaching and learning environment might look like Case studies and first hand student and teacher experience allow analysis of the ways in which environmental factors might transform pedagogy shape patterns of leadership improve student engagement and enhance social interactions within and beyond the school community Experts in their fields authors acknowledge the significance of sociocultural contexts reference relevant policy and tackle the tensions dilemmas and contradictions which frequently arise as schools and professionals in the design and construction sectors collaborate in the creation of buildings which fulfil the needs of diverse invested parties Offering a uniquely holistic approach to understanding the ways in which design may contribute shape and mediate teaching and learning this comprehensive text will be essential reading for educationalists architects policymakers and professionals involved in the design construction and use of school buildings

School Design Henry Sanoff,1994 Shaping the learning environment to support educational objectives is a central theme of this collection of unusual school building projects The projects exemplify the participatory design process where it is recognized that the student the teacher the parent the administrator and the architect are all vital to the process of educational change A wide range of school types are included from children s centers to university settings public and private wherever formal learning occurs Many of the case studies were built or in construction while others not built are included for their innovative techniques of user involvement Thoroughly illustrated bandw Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

Schools and Kindergardens Mark Dudek,2007 As a new generation of educational environments are designed and built this design manual helps architects to grasp the underlying educational theories and how they can be realized in built form so that the building fulfills its role as a 3 dimensional curriculum plan It presents over 80 international case studies
