The Column Show Metaphor And Motif:

The Column Show ,1986 The Pasadena Armory Show, 1989 ,1989 Birth Metaphors in the Book of Job Lisa Plantin,2025-11-21 This dissertation offers a detailed analysis of birth metaphors in Job 1 3 10 38 and 39 by using blending theory supplemented by conceptual metaphor theory It explores both metaphors that describe birth and those that use birth as a metaphor for other concepts such as creation and death It also concerns related concepts such as fetal formation womb and stillbirth The metaphors are studied in their cultural and literary contexts as well as how they are grounded in embodied experiences of birth Blending theory explains various cognitive processes and can analyze both conventional metaphors and new complex ones It explains the debated expression of death as a return to the womb in Job 1 21 based on a cognitive process where something is understood through negated features of its antonym A detailed mapping of the metaphors in Job 3 reveals contrary to the dominant interpretation that Job does not wish to curse all of creation but only the day he was born Furthermore it shows that the womb is blended with the grave and Sheol but without projecting any positive associations of the womb to the realm of death This study examines how conventional metaphors are replaced by new ones and demonstrates how the birth metaphors in Job 38 39 challenge the traditional combat motif where God is seen as combating the sea and wild chaotic forces The portrayal of God as a midwife includes an act of breaking the limit to the sea which contradicts the combat motif Rather than dominating creation God is depicted as a midwife and a parent who is close to it providing all wild creatures with food and freedom Overall the study underscores the central position of birth metaphors in these key chapters of Job A close analysis of the metaphors contributes to the interpretation of the biblical text from the understanding of specific Hebrew words to how innovative metaphors challenge both the beliefs of their time and current interpretations Agon, Logos, Polis Jóhann Páll Árnason,2001 Ten papers from a conference held at Ohio State University in 1997 reconsider Greek experience and its lessons for later cultures from a variety of perspectives The contributions reflect in particular the central role of politics and the Polis so distinctively and uniquely Greek in the development of Greek culture The papers also consider Greek philosophy drama and the Greek view of the natural and divine world around them and demonstrate the continuing influence of Hellenism by discussing modern adaptations of Greek models Contributors include Johann Arnason Cornelius Castoriadis Vassilis Lambropoulos Christian Meier Oswyn Murray Peter Murphy Kurt Raaflaub Louis Ruprecht Jean Pierre Vernant and Pierre Vidal Naquet New Perspectives on People and Forests Eva Ritter,Dainis Dauksta,2011-04-29 The aim of this book is to elucidate the role of forests as part of a landscape in the life of people Most landscapes today are cultural landscapes that are influenced by human activity and that in turn have a profound effect on our understanding of and identification with a place The book proposes that a better understanding of the bond between people and forests as integrated part of a landscape may be helpful in landscape planning and may contribute to the discussion of changes in forest cover which has been motivated by land use changes rural development and the global climate debate To this end people's perception of forest landscapes the reasons for different perceptions and future perspectives are discussed Given the wide range of forest landscapes and cultural perspectives which exist across the world the book focuses on Europe as a test case to explore the various relationships between society culture forests and landscapes It looks at historical evidence of the impacts of people on forests and vice versa explores the current factors affecting people's physical and emotional comfort in forest landscapes and looks ahead to how changes in forest cover may alter the present relationships of people to forests Drawing together a diverse literature and combining the expertise of natural and social scientists this book will form a valuable reference for students and researchers working in the fields of landscape ecology and landscape architecture geography social science environmental psychology environmental history It will also be of interest to researchers government agencies and practitioners with an interest in issues such as sustainable forest management sustainable tourism reserve management urban planning and environmental interpretation

Chinese Architecture and Metaphor Jiren Feng, 2012-05-31 Investigating the historical tradition of Chinese architectural writing from antiquity to the twelfth century Chinese Architecture and Metaphor reveals significant and fascinating social and cultural phenomena in the most important primary text for the study of the Chinese building tradition Unlike previous scholarship which has reviewed this imperially commissioned architectural manual largely as a technical work this volume considers the Yingzao fashi's unique literary value and explores the rich cultural implications in and behind its technical content Utilizing a philological approach the author pays particular attention to the traditional and contemporary architectural terminology presented in the Yingzao fashi In examining the semantic meaning of the architectural terms used in the manual he uncovers a systematic architectural metaphor wherein bracketing elements are likened to flowers flowering branches and foliage Thus pillars with bracketing above are compared to blossoming trees More importantly this intriguing imagery was shared by different social groups in particular craftsmen and literati and craftsmen themselves employed literary knowledge in naming architectural elements Relating these phenomena to the unprecedented flourishing of literature the literati's greater admiration of technical knowledge and the higher intellectual capacity of craftsmen during the Song Architecture and Metaphor demonstrates how the learned and unlearned cultures entangled in the construction of architectural knowledge in premodern China It convincingly shows that technical language served as a faithful carrier of contemporary popular culture and aesthetic concepts Chinese Architecture and Metaphor demonstrates a high level of engagement with a broad spectrum of sophisticated Chinese sources It will become a classic work for all students and scholars of East Asian architecture

Construing Experience Through Meaning M.A.K. Halliday, Christian Matthiessen, 2006-05-16 The subject of this book is how human beings construe their experience of the world The construction of experience is usually thought of as knowledge represented in the form of conceptual taxonomies schemata scripts and the like The authors offer an interpretation that is complementary to this treating experience not as knowing but as meaning and hence as something that is construed in language In other words the concern is with the construal of human experience as a semantic system and since language plays the central role not only in storing and exchanging experience but also in construing it language is taken as the interpretative base The focus of the book is both theoretical and descriptive The authors consider it important that theory and description should develop in parallel with constant interchange between the two The major descriptive component is an account of the most general features of the ideational semantics of English which is then exemplified in two familiar text types recipes and weather forecasts There is also a brief reference to the semantics of Chinese Theoretical issues are raised throughout as they become relevant to the discussion with the theoretical base being drawn from systemic functional linguistics Both the theoretical and descriptive proposals offered in the book are compared and contrasted with approaches deriving from AI cognitive science and cognitive linguistics
