South Africa, Greece, Rome Grant Parker, 2017-08-31 How have ancient Greece and Rome intersected with South African histories This book canvasses architecture literature visual arts and historical memory Some of the most telling manifestations of classical reception in South Africa have been indirect for example neo classical architecture or retellings of mythical stories Far from being the mere handmaiden of colonialism and later apartheid classical antiquity has enabled challenges to the South African establishment and provided a template for making sense of cross cultural encounters Though access to classical education has been limited many South Africans black and white have used classical frames of reference and drawn inspiration from the ancient Greeks and Romans While classical antiquity may seem antithetical to post apartheid notions of heritage it deserves to be seen in this light Museums historical sites and artworks up to the present day reveal juxtapositions in which classical themes are integrated into South African pasts

Springboks On The Somme - South Africa in the Great War 1914 - 1918 Bill Nasson, 2012-10-02 The Great War of 1914 18 was a conflict which engulfed the whole world directly or indirectly It was an imperialist world war that tugged the new Union of South Africa and its people into a series of separate but connected conflicts from the domestic Afrikaner Rebellion on the highveld through the sands of German South West Africa the steamy bush of German East Africa and on to the mud and blood of France and Flanders This book is the first general study of the complex ways in which South Africans experienced the impact of the First World War and responded to its demands burdens and opportunities Told with his customary narrative energy and ironic style Bill Nasson s new history is a lively account not only of how South Africa fought the war but also of the miscalculations and illusions that surrounded its involvement and of how South African society came to imagine and remember that great and terrible conflict

M. Forster's 'Maurice' Emma Sutton,Tsung-Han Tsai,2020-03-26 This is the first book length study of Forster s posthumously published novel Nine essays focus exclusively on Maurice and its dynamic afterlives in literature film and new media during the twentieth and twenty first centuries Begun in 1913 and revised over almost fifty years Maurice became a defining text in Forster s work and a canonical example of queer fiction Yet the critical tendency to read Maurice primarily as a revelation of Forster s homosexuality has obscured important biographical political and aesthetic contexts for this novel This collection places Maurice among early twentieth century debates about politics philosophy religion gender Aestheticism and allegory Essays explore how the novel interacts with literary predecessors and contemporaries including John Bunyan Oscar Wilde Havelock Ellis and Edward Carpenter and how it was shaped by personal relationships such as Forster s friendship with Florence Barger They close read the textual variants of Forster's manuscripts and examine the novel's genesis and revisions. They consider the volatility of its reception, analysing how it galvanizes subsequent generations of writers and artists including Christopher Isherwood, Alan Hollinghurst, Damon Galgut, James Ivory, and twenty-first century online fanfiction writers. This series presents a comprehensive global and up-to-date history of English language prose fiction and written by an international team of scholars. dust jacket The Publishers Weekly, 1928 Shaping the African Savannah Michael Bollig, 2020-07-02. The southern African savannah landscape has been framed as an Arid Eden in recent literature as one of Africa's most sought-after exotic tourism destinations by twenty-first century travellers, as a last frontier by early twentieth-century travellers, and as an ancient ancestral land by Namibia's Herero communities. In this 150-year history of the region, Michael Bollig looks at how this Arid Eden came into being, how this last frontier was construed, and how local pastoralists relate to the landscape. Putting the intricate and changing relations between humans, arid savannah grasslands, and its co-evolving animal inhabitants at the centre of his analysis, this history of material relations of power struggles between commercial hunters and wildlife, between wealthy cattle patrons and foraging clients, between established homesteads and recent migrants, conservationists and pastoralists. Finally, Bollig highlights how futures are being aspired to and planned for between the increasing challenges of climate change, global demands for cheap ores, and quests for biodiversity conservation.
