Learning and Teaching English in India Ravi Sheorey, 2006-03-09 This book presents empirical studies on the various factors that influence English language learning and teaching in India. In particular, the author examines whether and to what extent the variables which have been shown to influence second language learning in monolingual countries also apply to the Indian situation which is characterized by multilingualism and multiculturalism. Among the various aspects discussed in this book are Indian students and their teachers' theories about learning English, their preferences or styles for language learning, the learning and reading strategies they use to enhance their competence in English, the degree of language learning anxiety they experience and their attitudes toward and motivation for learning English. Ravi Sheorey also explores Indian teachers' judgments of the errors they come across in the writings of their students. The results are compared to studies with subjects from other countries and the implications for the learning and teaching of English are discussed in each chapter.

The Learning and Teaching of Phonological Decoding in Chinese EFL Children Keren Hua, 2024-08-30. This book presents the learning and teaching of phonological decoding in Chinese EFL primary classrooms. The phonological decoding ability of the children is described, interpreted, and evaluated; the teaching materials are analyzed and the classroom instruction observed; and the links between these various facets are explored using both quantitative and qualitative techniques: textbook analysis, classroom observations, interviews with teachers, and a textbook writer reading test and nonword reading test. This book provides insights into Chinese children's phonological decoding profile, including performance in decoding different types of orthographic units, the strategies children at different levels of reading ability use to sound out vowel graphemes, and their decoding ability in relation to reading ability. The investigation of the teaching practices reveals how the decoding instruction is designed, developed, and delivered to the children and thereby informs the interplay between the classroom instruction and children's development of phonological decoding skills.
