Sex Trafficking Kimberly A. McCabe,Sabita Manian,2010-04-12 Global estimates of human trafficking range from 600 000 to four million victims each year with the majority being victims of sex trafficking This strikingly large range belies the difficulty in gathering defining and accountability of sex trafficking data Victims of sex trafficking may be forced into pornography prostitution for the military or militia spousal prostitution and prostitution for the sex tourism industry In response to the problem of sex trafficking many nations have either misunderstood the definition or failed to comprehend the magnitude that have occurs within their borders The United Nations has defined human trafficking as the recruitment transfer harboring or receipt of persons by threat or use of force Similarly the U S State Department s Trafficking Victims Protection Act 2000 describes severe forms of trafficking as a sex trafficking in which a commercial sex act is induced by force fraud or coercion or in which the person induced to perform such an act has not attained 18 years of age or b the recruitment harboring transportation provision or obtaining of a person for labor or services through the use of force fraud or coercion for the purpose of subjection to involuntary servitude peonage debt bondage or slavery In Sex Trafficking A Global Perspective sex trafficking is discussed in terms of its multiple purposes and its victims The essays provide information to build upon the limited knowledge base on the subject of sex trafficking and the legislative responses to human trafficking by the various highlighted countries This collection is unique because it serves the needs of those studying human trafficking from a global perspective by targeting the issue within every geographic region it provides a general profile of geographic regions in terms of demographic characteristics and political conditions that may support the growth of sex trafficking and it is written on a basic information supply level to provide readers with a fo The Seventeenth-Century Customs Service Surveyed William B. Stephens,2016-03-03 In January 1682 William Culliford a loyal and experienced officer in the King s customs service began an extraordinary journey under Treasury orders to investigate the integrity and efficiency of the customs establishments of southwest England and south Wales as part of a drive to maximize the Crown s income from customs duties on which it relied for much of its revenue Starting at Bristol Culliford eventually completed this daunting task in Cornwall over two years later in the spring of 1684 His report on each of the ports he inspected the primary source for this book revealed widespread smuggling and fraud in the context of a customs service both lacking in efficiency and riddled with corruption The book documents the varied frauds and wide ranging abuses uncovered and their facilitation by customs officers only too ready to collude with smugglers dishonest merchants and seamen and to accept bribes to ignore tax evasion It describes too Culliford s assessment of the administrative practices of each port inspected and his judgment on the levels of probity and efficiency of individual officers detailing his recommendations for procedural improvements and the treatment of the corrupt and incompetent and incidentally of those suspected of political and religious dissent Additionally the book presents a body of statistical data on the customs revenue actually collected at individual ports in the 1670s and 1680s and surveys the extent and nature of the maritime trade of the ports Culliford examined It thus not only throws light on the history of the customs service but provides a rare insight into the interactions of economic social and political issues in the later seventeenth century and makes a valuable contribution to the particular histories of the ports and maritime districts visited by this energetic and tenacious investigator
