Ralph Stockman Tarr

Snow In Summer:

Snow in Summer Jane Yolen, 2011-11-10 An unforgettable take on a favorite fairy tale by multi award winning author Jane Yolen Summer's life in the mountains of West Virginia feels like a fairy tale her parents dote on her and she's about to get a new baby brother But when the baby dies soon after he's born taking their mother with him Summer's life turns grim Things get even worse when her father marries a woman who brings poisons and magical mirrors into Summer's world Stepmama puts up a pretty face and Summer's father is under her spell but Summer suspects she's up to no good and is afraid she is powerless to stop her

Home in the Howling Wilderness Peter Holland, 2013-11-01 During the 19th century New Zealand's South Island underwent an environmental transformation at the hands of European settlers They diverted streams and drained marshes burned native vegetation and planted hedges and grasses stocked farms with sheep and cattle and poured on fertilizer Through various letter books ledgers diaries and journals this book reveals how the first European settlers learned about their new environment talking to Maori and other Pakeha observing weather patterns and the shifting populations of rabbits reading newspapers and going to lectures at the Mechanics Institute As the New Zealand environment threw up surprise after surprise the settlers who succeeded in farming were those who listened closely to the environment This rich and detailed contribution to environmental history and the literature of British colonial history and farming concludes contrary to the assertions of some North American environmental historians that the first generation of European settlers in New Zealand were by no means unthinking agents of change

Biogeographical Processes I. G. Simmons, 2019-09-18 Originally published in 1982 Biogeographical Processes is a concise introduction to biogeography aimed at undergraduate students It provides a detailed overview of man and his environment and includes data from such research projects as that of the International Biological Programme The book argues that natural processes can be viewed as a datum line to which the human impact through time is added It suggests that through this datum line the man and the biological environment are inextricably linked The book firstly examines the fundamental processes determining the distribution of plants and animals and the interactions between such processes leading to the concept of the ecosystem The book also examines major world ecosystems or biomes such as forests grasslands and oceans as if they were in a natural condition and discusses the affect of human impact upon such systems The book also discusses the alternative future relationships of man and other living organisms Although over 30 years old the book still contains a useful and detailed overview of biogeography It will be of interest to students or lecturers in ecology biology and the environmental sciences
