through reusable resource development and administration is a vital topic of research to consider in assisting the continent's development. The Handbook of Research on Sustainable Development and Governance Strategies for Economic Growth in Africa provides emerging research on the strategies required to promote growth in Africa as well as the implications and issues of the expansion of prosperity. While highlighting sustainable education, pastoral development pathways and the public sector role, readers will learn about the history of sustainable development and governmental approaches to improving Africa's economy. This publication is a vital resource for policy makers, research institutions, academics, researchers, and advanced level students seeking current research on the theories and applications of development in societal and legal institutions.

Tackling Domestic Violence: Theories, Policies And Practice Harne, Lynne, Radford, Jill, 2008-07-01. This accessible text takes a multi-disciplinary approach to exploring issues surrounding domestic violence. It draws on contemporary research findings, policy developments, innovative practice and case studies to explore new directions in professional and voluntary sector responses to domestic violence.

Challenging Global Inequality Alastair Greig, David Hulme, Mark Turner, 2007-01-16. This major introductory text written by 3 leading names in the field provides an accessible overview of the challenges faced in overcoming global poverty and inequality in the 21st century. Through an in-depth assessment of development theory and practice, the authors set out to advance two key arguments: the first being the importance of historically contextualizing contemporary developmental problems in order to assess policy proposals, and the second that inequality matters and how this notion has continually remained a central feature of development debates from colonial times to present day. Ideal for undergraduate students taking development modules as part of political science and international relations degrees, this engaging text proves to be essential reading when exploring the impacts of development on today's international political economy. With each chapter covering inequalities from all different angles, the authors clearly outline the impact of models such as globalization and neoliberalism as well as offering alternative views on the challenges posed by the UN's Millennium Development Goals. Microcredit and Women's Empowerment Aminul Faraizi, Taskinur Rahman, Jim McAllister, 2014-04-04. Using a case study of Bangladesh and based on a long-term participatory observation method, this book investigates claims of the success of microcredit as well as the critiques of it in the context of women's empowerment. It confronts the distinction between women's increasing wealth as a consequence of the success of microcredit programmes and their apparent non-commensurate empowerment. Looking at two organisations, the Grameen Bank and the Bangladesh Rural Advancement Committee as they operate in two localities in rural Bangladesh in order to discover how enrichment and empowerment are often confused. The book goes on to establish that the well-publicised success stories of the microcredit programme are blown out of proportion and that the dynamics of collective responsibility for repayment of loans by a group of women borrowers usually seen to be a tool for the success of microcredit.

is in fact no less repressive than traditional debt collectors This book makes a contribution to development debates challenging adherents to more closely specify those conditions under which microcredit does indeed have validity as well as providing insights relevant to South Asian Studies and Development Studies Phases of Rural Development in Malaysia: Shifting Towards Human Resource Development and Well-being (UUM Press) Kalthum Hassan ,Chamhuri Siwar,2021-11-28

The rural development approach should be flexible and dynamic to correspond with the transformation of the rural economy and society Therefore the phases of rural development in Malaysia illustrate the transformation of rural development approaches in Malaysia and how these approaches have changed the overall rural landscape Different from other books on rural development this book presents discussion and analysis on rural development approaches since after independence until during the COVID 19 pandemic The content of the book is a mixture of primary and secondary information gathered from literature reviews interviews and on site observation It provides a diverse and rich discussion on various aspects of rural development approaches The early phase of development approach which was at macro level targeting the mass of rural poverty since the poverty incidence was high The goal of rural development was two prongs to develop the economy infrastructure and facility of the rural areas and to alleviate poverty As the incidence of poverty has reduced remarkably the development approach has separated from the poverty alleviation programmes Development initiatives was more to provide basic urban infrastructure and facilities to develop human resources through skill training and improve level of education of the rural residents In addition rural development provides employment opportunities through decentralization of industrial sector to rural areas and fosters entrepreneurship activities Meanwhile the poverty alleviation programmes are tackled at micro level that is more towards individual or a household level The outbreak of COVID 19 pandemic alters the approach of rural development focusing on providing facilities services and assistance to preserve the well being of rural community especially the low income group Religion and Development in Southern and Central Africa: Vol 2 Amanze, James N.,Masango, Maake,2020-01-19 This book is a result of a joint conference which was held from 18th 22nd July 2017 under the theme Religion Citizenship and Development Southern African Perspectives The theme of the conference was adopted in order to underline the importance and significance of religion in the socio economic development of people in the world generally and in Southern and Central Africa in particular The papers in the book are divided into two volumes Volume one consists of papers which directly discuss religion and development in one form or another The second volume contains papers that discuss religion and other pertinent issues related to development The papers are grouped into sub themes for ease of reference These include Citizenship and Development Migration and Development Disability and Development Pentecostal Churches and Development and Religion and Society All in all despite a divergence of sub themes in volume two all point to issues to do with the role of religion in development in Southern and Central Africa today Gender Economics: Breakthroughs in Research and Practice Management Association, Information Resources,2018-12-07 Gender Economics

Making a Difference D. Hulme, 2013-11-05 As Western aid budgets are slashed and government involvement with aid programmes reduced NGOs in the voluntary sector are finding themselves taking an ever increasing share of development work overseas As they do so they are forced to grow and to assume new responsibilities taking more important and wide ranging decisions in many cases without having had the chance to step back and review the options before them and the best ways of maximizing the impact they make This collection of essays explores the strategies available to NGOs to enhance their development work reviewing the ways that options can be understood appropriate programmes and likely problems

Science and Technology in a Developing World T. Shinn, J. Spaapen, V.V. Krishna, 2013-04-17 block possible Soviet expansion by mobilizing European democracies the policy soon extended to some developing countries in Asia and Latin America In response the USSR gradually initiated development programs for newly independent nations in Asia and Africa In this context super power rivalry operated in the South to i expand spheres of influence and control ii guard Southern nations from the influence and incursions launched by the opposed camp iii stimulate indigenous development With few exceptions Southern nations provided little input to the definition and execution of North South dynamics during this period In the case of Africa and to some extent Asia the acquisition of independence was so recent and often sudden that there was little time to reflect on the kind of policies and measures needed to build balanced relations with the former mother country In Latin America the Monroe Doctrine had long insured that the region was a virtual captive of the US Aid for development was contingent on conformity to US political and economic interests The cognitive component of South North dealings strongly reflected the two above mentioned dispositions The relative lack of political experience in the South and the dearth of an organized and sizable intellectual academic community meant that there were few cognitive and human resources for undertaking careful study and analysis of the conditions and needs of development from a Southern perspective influential exceptions existed though such as Raul Prebisch in Latin America or Gandhi in India

Theoretical Perspectives on Gender and Development Jane L. Parpart, Patricia Connelly, Eudine Barriteau, 2000 Theoretical Perspectives on Gender and Development demystifies the theory of gender and development and shows how it plays an important role in everyday life It explores the evolution of gender and development theory introduces competing theoretical frameworks and examines new and emerging debates The focus is on the implications of theory for policy and practice and the need to theorize gender and development to create a more egalitarian society This book is intended for classroom and workshop use in the fields of development studies development theory gender and development and women's studies Its clear and straightforward prose will be appreciated by undergraduate and seasoned professional alike Classroom exercises study questions activities and case studies are included It is designed for use in both formal and nonformal educational settings

State and Rural Development in the Post-Revolutionary Iran A. Shakoori, 2001-05-04 Rural reform policy has been an important part of the government policy in post revolutionary Iran This book seeks to examine the post revolutionary rural policies and their socio economic impact on rural people After reviewing the main debates on rural development literature and providing the historical background of agrarian change in the pre revolutionary era it examines the post revolutionary rural reforms in separate parts the effects of the government agricultural policies on agricultural performance and the post revolutionary reorganisational policies and the impact of rural strategies on the socio economy of the rural life at village level

Comparative Sociology and Social Theory Graham Crow, 1997-06-09 Recent developments have made obsolete the division of the globe into three worlds of capitalist state socialist and underdeveloped countries This book traces the interconnectedness of the disorganisation of capitalism in the industrialised west the transformation of former state socialist societies and the divergent fortunes of third world countries It argues that comparative sociology continues to have relevance in the age of globalisation and provides a framework within which these developments can be placed in their proper perspective

Development as Process John Farrington, David Mosse, Alan Rew, 2005-08-16 Process approaches to economic and social development appear to be more flexible and offer greater prospects of success than traditional project methods Development as Process addresses the questions raised by the different natures of the two approaches The authors examine development projects through experience in water resources development in India and in organizational learning by a Bangladeshi NGO Inter agency contexts are examined in the setting of an aquaculture project in Bangladesh and in the setting of agriculture and natural resources development in Rajasthan India Finally the role of process monitoring is explained in the context of policy reform with illustrations from forestry in India and land reform in Russia
