Subjects On Display:

Subjects on Display Beth Newman, 2004 Through a consideration of fiction by Charlotte Brontë Charles Dickens George Eliot and Henry James Newman shifts the inquiry toward the observed in the experience of being seen In the process she reopens the question of the gaze and its relation to subjectivity Jacket Proceedings, 1966 Objects and Other Subjects William D. Davies, Stanley Dubinsky, 2012-12-06 The papers in this volume examine the current role of grammatical functions in transformational syntax in two ways i through largely theoretical considerations of their status and ii through detailed analyses for a wide variety of languages Taken together the chapters in this volume present a comprehensive view of how transformational syntax characterizes the elusive but often useful notions of subject and object examining how subject and object properties are distributed among various functional projections converging sometimes in particular languages

Understanding Critical Social Psychology Keith Tuffin, 2005 Understanding Critical Social Psychology is an exciting new textbook providing a comprehensive and reader friendly approach to the theories and methods surrounding Critical Social Psychology This book combines a critical examination of the traditional philosophies practices and topics with an emphasis on introducing innovative and contemporary developments in social psychological research In this way Tuffin integrates newer insights with established modes of thinking Atypical Cognitive Deficits in Developmental Disorders Sarah H. Broman, Jordan Grafman, 2014-02-25 This volume is based on a conference held to examine what is known about cognitive behaviors and brain structure and function in three syndromes and to evaluate the usefulness of such models The goal of this endeavor is to add to the knowledge base of cognitive neuroscience within a developmental framework Most of what is known about the neurological basis of cognitive function in humans has been learned from studies of central nervous system trauma or disease in adults Certain neurodevelopmental disorders affect the central nervous system in unique ways by producing specific as opposed to generalized cognitive deficit Studies of these disorders using neurobiological and behavioral techniques can yield new insights into the localization of cognitive function and the developmental course of atypical cognitive profiles The focus of this book is a discussion of the multidisciplinary research findings from studies of autism and Williams and Turner syndromes The approaches methods techniques and findings reported are at the cutting edge of neuroscience research on complex behavior patterns and their neural substrates Each disorder is accompanied by some degree of general cognitive impairment or mental retardation Of greater interest are the atypical deficits in which a cognitive function is spared such as language in Williams syndrome or is disproportionately depressed as are spatial discrimination skills and visual motor coordination in Turner syndrome Drastically reduced or seemingly absent language capabilities and little interaction with other people characterize the core autism syndrome A comprehensive and critical discussion of appropriate statistical techniques is made vivid by examples given from studies of small groups or single subjects in neurolinguistics and related fields Journal of the National Cancer Institute, 2008 Analyzing Within-subjects

Experiments John W. Cotton, 2013-05-13 Most behavioral scientists know two important concepts how to analyze continuous data from randomly assigned treatment groups of subjects and how to assess practice effects for a single group of subjects given a constant treatment at each of several stages of practice However except in the case of the repeated measures Latin square design researchers are not facile in analyzing data from different subjects receiving different treatments at various times in an experiment This book helps fill the void

Cataloging Cultural Objects Murtha Baca, 2006-06-12 In a visual and artifact filled world cataloging one of a kind cultural objects without published guidelines and standards has been a challenge Now for the first time under the leadership of the Visual Resources Association a cross section of five visual and cultural heritage experts along with scores of reviewers from varied institutions have created a new data content standard focused on cultural materials This cutting edge reference offers practical resources for cataloging and flexibility to meet the needs of a wide range of institutions from libraries to museums to archives Consistently following these guidelines for selecting ordering and formatting data used to populate metadata elements in cultural materials catalog records Promotes good descriptive cataloging and reduces redundancy Builds a foundation of shared documentation Creates data sharing opportunities Enhances end user access across institutional boundaries Complements existing standards AACR This is a must have reference for museum professionals visual resources curators archivists librarians and anyone who documents cultural objects including architecture paintings sculpture prints manuscripts photographs visual media performance art archaeological sites and artifacts and their images

The Oxford Guide to Library Research Thomas Mann, 2005-10-27 Publisher Description Graphic Presentation of Statistical Information, 1978 Technical Paper, 1978 Technical Paper (United States. Bureau of the Census)., 1978 The Reinforcement Sensitivity Theory of Personality Philip J. Corr, 2008-04-10 One of the major neuropsychological models of personality developed by world renowned psychologist Professor Jeffrey Gray is based upon individual differences in reactions to punishing and rewarding stimuli This biological theory of personality now widely known as Reinforcement Sensitivity Theory RST has had a major influence on motivation emotion and psychopathology research In 2000 RST was substantially revised by Jeffrey Gray together with Neil McNaughton and this revised theory proposed three principal motivation emotion systems the Fight Flight Freeze System FFFS the Behavioural Approach System BAS and the Behavioural Inhibition System BIS This is the first book to summarise the Reinforcement Sensitivity Theory of personality and bring together leading researchers in the field It summarizes all of the pre 2000 RST research findings explains and elaborates the implications of the 2000 theory for personality psychology and lays out the future research agenda for RST

Sex, Breath, and Force Ellen Mortensen, 2006-01-01 Living in the post modern age there is a growing sentiment of disenchantment in relation to the most facile aspects of dogmatic feminism Nevertheless the question of sexual difference still remains Sex Breath and Force asks how we should approach such a questioning today given the fall of the great narratives and the plethora of theoretical discourses in circulation What are the conditions of possibility for thinking of sexual difference as a foundational problem in the age of technology And how do the disciplines of social science literary studies philosophy and film studies answer this challenge This collection of essays provides a reassessment of the question of sexual difference taking into account important shifts in feminist thought post humanist theories and queer studies The contributors offer new and refreshing insights into the complex question of sexual difference from a post feminist perspective and how it is reformulated in various related areas of study such as ontology epistemology metaphysics biology technology and mass media

Minnesota Symposia on Child Psychology W. A. Collins, 2013-05-13 Published in 1978 Minnesota Symposia on Child Psychology is a valuable contribution to the field of Developmental Psychology

Cardiovascular Psychophysiology Paul A. Obrist, A.H. Black, Jasper Brener, Leo V. DiCara, 2017-11-13 The literature relating to the learned control of autonomic processes especially cardiovascular processes demonstrating that the activities of visceral response systems may be modified by operant reinforcement and biofeedback procedures has grown exponentially This research seems to show behavioral properties in the cardiovascular system that were previously believed to be exclusive attributes of the somatic response systems the implications of this for possible therapeutic use have received widespread publicity Questions remained unanswered about the nature of voluntary control and the conditions necessary for establishing it the reciprocal effects of conditioned changes in cardiovascular and psychological or behavioral functioning the use of cardiovascular events to index behavioral states and the principles and techniques whereby operant conditioning of the cardiovascular system can be clinically applied

Subject Properties in Early Modern Germanic Languages Pierre-Yves Modicom, 2025-04-21 This monograph is devoted to the cross linguistic profile of subjects in Early Modern Germanic languages The typologically complex question of subject criteria is addressed in a functional framework relying on recent developments in Construction Grammar The set of data is extracted from a parallel corpus made up of the 1587 German chapbook about the life of Dr Faustus and its English Dutch and Danish translations all of which had been published by 1592 At that time the syntactic features of English subjects were still comparable to Continental languages like Danish facilitating the inclusion of English in a cross Germanic analysis The analysis makes use of two comparative concepts of subjecthood

argumental subjecthood centred on the argument structural characteristics of subjects and informational subjecthood which corresponds to the syntacticization of information structural properties Subjecthood is defined as a labile multi level configuration of argumental and informational parameters This approach sheds new light on notorious tricks of Germanic syntax such as oblique subjects expletives scrambling and subjectless passives
