Sublime Historical Experience F.R. Ankersmit, 2022 Why are we interested in history at all Why do we feel the need to distinguish between past and present In this book the author argues that the past originates from an experience of rupture separating past and present Think of the radical rupture with Europe's past that was effected by the French and the Industrial Revolutions Sublime Historical Experience investigates how the notion of sublime historical experience complicates and challenges existing conceptions of language truth and knowledge These experiences of rupture are paradoxical since they involve both the separation of past and present and at the same time the effort to overcome this separation in terms of historical knowledge The experience unites feelings of loss pain with those of love satisfaction and thus is in agreement with how sublime experience is ordinarily defined The experience is also precognitive since it precedes the possibility of historical knowledge As such it is a challenge to traditional conceptions of the relationship between experience and truth or language It compels us to disconnect the notions of experience and truth

History and Its Limits Dominick LaCapra, 2011-02-23 Dominick LaCapra's History and Its Limits articulates the relations among intellectual history cultural history and critical theory examining the recent rise of Practice Theory and probing the limitations of prevalent forms of humanism LaCapra focuses on the problem of understanding extreme cases specifically events and experiences involving violence and victimization He asks how historians treat and are simultaneously implicated in the traumatic processes they attempt to represent In addressing these questions he also investigates violence's impact on various types of writing and establishes a distinctive role for critical theory in the face of an insufficiently discriminating aesthetic of the sublime often unreflectively amalgamated with the uncanny In History and Its Limits LaCapra inquires into the related phenomenon of a turn to the postsecular even the messianic or the miraculous in recent theoretical discussions of extreme events by such prominent figures as Giorgio Agamben Eric L Santner and Slavoj Žižek In a related vein he discusses Martin Heidegger's evocative if not enchanting understanding of The Origin of the Work of Art LaCapra subjects to critical scrutiny the sometimes internally divided way in which violence has been valorized in sacrificial regenerative or redemptive terms by a series of important modern intellectuals on both the far right and the far left including Georges Sorel the early Walter Benjamin Georges Bataille Frantz Fanon and Ernst Jünger Violence and victimization are prominent in the relation between the human and the animal LaCapra questions prevalent anthropocentrism evident even in theorists of the posthuman and the long standing quest for a decisive criterion separating or dividing the human from the animal LaCapra regards this attempt to fix the difference as misguided and potentially dangerous because it renders insufficiently problematic the manner in which humans treat other animals and interact with the environment In raising the issue of desirable transformations in modernity History and Its Limits examines the legitimacy of normative limits necessary for life in common and explores the disconcerting role of transgressive initiatives beyond limits including limits blocking the recognition that humans are themselves animals of European and American historical thinking and practice since the early 18th century A History of History confronts several basic assumptions about the nature of history Among these are the concept of historical realism the belief in representationalism and the idea that the past possesses its own narrative What is offered in this book is a far reaching and fundamental rethinking of realist and representationalist history of a particular kind by addressing and explaining the ideas of major philosophers of history over the past three hundred years and those of the key theorists of today In pursuing this radical analysis the understanding of history as a narrative is evaluated along with contemporary notions such as the continuing presence of the past and the idea of its lessons Written by one of the leading thinkers on the subject A History of History provides an accessible and radical history of history while offering new insights into the pressing questions of the nature purpose and function of history This book is an essential text for all students teachers and consumers of history

Imagination and the Contemporary Novel John J. Su, 2011-05-26 Imagination and the Contemporary Novel examines the global preoccupation with the imagination among literary authors with ties to former colonies of the British Empire since the 1960s John Su draws on a wide range of authors including Peter Ackroyd Monica Ali Julian Barnes Andr Brink J M Coetzee John Fowles Amitav Ghosh Nadine Gordimer Hanif Kureishi Salman Rushdie and Zadie Smith This study rehabilitates the category of imagination in order to understand a broad range of contemporary Anglophone literature The responses of such literature to shifts in global capitalism have often been misunderstood by the dominant categories of literary studies the postmodern and the postcolonial As both an insightful critique into the themes that drive a range of today's best novelists and a bold restatement of what the imagination is and what it means for contemporary culture this book breaks new ground and the historical sublime this volume demonstrates how opera's ability to represent and evoke historical events and historical experience differs fundamentally from the representations and recreations of other modes specifically literary and dramatic representations Building on the work of performance scholars such as Joseph Roach Rebecca Schneider and Diana Taylor and in consultation with recent debates in the philosophy of history the book will be of interest to a wide range of scholars and researchers particularly those working in the areas of opera studies and performance studies

Where Is History Today? Laura Mulvey, Frank Ankersmit, Daniel Pick, Tomáš Jirsa, Martin Elbel, Jiří Lach, 2015-02-05 History no longer belongs only to historians but is woven into the fabric and discourse of daily life This fresh and wide ranging survey explores how new media and new historiographic approaches are dramatically expanding what we understand by history today Controversy about the aims and limits of historical analysis has raged ever since the rise of postmodern history in the 1970s But these debates have rarely affected the understanding of history in Central and Eastern Europe The volume confirms the crucial importance of audiovisual and mass media from film to television and radio to comics but does not exclude literary scholars and art historians who are also rethinking their methods taking note of their new consumers If history formerly appeared to be a one way transmission of expertise it is increasingly a dynamic engagement between researchers and audiences

Roth, 2011-11-22 Memory trauma and history is composed of essays that fall into five overlapping subject areas history and memory psychoanalysis and trauma postmodernism scholarship and cultural politics photography and representation and liberal education Introduction

Memory in Shakespeare's Histories Jonathan Baldo, 2011-12-22 A distinguishing feature of Shakespeare's later histories is the prominent role he assigns to the need to forget This book explores the ways in which Shakespeare expanded the role of forgetting in histories from King John to Henry V as England contended with what were perceived to be traumatic breaks in its history and in the fashioning of a sense of nationhood For plays ostensibly designed to recover the past and make it available to the present they devote remarkable attention to the ways in which states and individuals alike passively neglect or actively suppress the past and rewrite history Two broad and related historical developments caused remembering and forgetting to occupy increasingly prominent and equivocal positions in Shakespeare's history plays an emergent nationalism and the Protestant Reformation A growth in England's sense of national identity constructed largely in opposition to international Catholicism caused historical memory to appear a threat as well as a support to the sense of unity The Reformation caused many Elizabethans to experience a rupture between their present and their Catholic past a condition that is reflected repeatedly in the history plays where the desire to forget becomes implicated with traumatic loss Both of these historical shifts resulted in considerable fluidity and uncertainty in the values attached to historical memory and forgetting Shakespeare's histories in short become increasingly equivocal about the value of their own acts of recovery and recollection The Aesthetic Life of Cyril Scott Sarah Collins,2013

Theological Poverty in Continental Philosophy Colby Dickinson,2021-03-25 Colby Dickinson proposes a new political theology rooted in the intersections between continental philosophy heterodox theology and orthodox theology Moving beyond the idea that there is an irresolvable tension at the heart of theological discourse the conflict between the two poles of theology is made intelligible Dickinson discusses the opposing poles simply as manifestations of reform and revolution characteristics intrinsic to the nature of theological discourse itself Outlining the illuminating space of theology Theological Poverty in Continental Philosophy breaks new ground for critical theology and continental philosophy Within the theology of poverty the believer renounces the worldly for the divine Through this focus on the poverty intrinsic to religious calling the potential for cross pollination between the theological and the secular is highlighted Ultimately situating the virtue of theological poverty within a poststructuralist postmodern world Dickinson is not content to position Christian philosophy as the superior theological position moving away from the absolute values of one tradition over another This universalising of theological poverty through core and uniting concepts like grace negation violence and paradox reveal the theory's transmutable strength By joining up critical theology and the philosophy of religion in this way the book broadens the possibility of a critical dialogue both between and within disciplines Manifestos for History Sue Morgan,Keith Jenkins,Alun Munslow,2007-09-12

Written by some of the world's leading historians and theorists of history Manifestos for History draws together a series of manifestos that address the question of what kinds of histories we ought to be considering and making in and for the twenty first century With a foreword by Joanna Bourke and an afterword by Hayden White these manifestos critical innovative reflexive inspirational are absolutely essential reading not just for those embarking on the study of history but for all those who would think seriously about the nature of history in its present and possible future forms This collection establishes a benchmark for all future considerations upon the discourse of history
