Creating Conditions for Growth Renée E. Thompson, 2018-09-15. This book examines the critical role that teachers play in supporting at-risk student populations to stay in school and successfully complete their graduation requirements. Thompson addresses how high schools may support marginal students in achieving success by the implementation of teacher self-efficacy and a positive classroom environment. The study identifies ways in which administrators at all levels can support teacher's professional development and student success through reinforced accountability and consistency. The study also addresses how to grow and strengthen students to not only stay in the traditional school setting but to ensure the process will prepare students to be academically, socially, and emotionally ready for college and a career. Fostering this environment requires collaboration and teamwork from teachers, administrators, and parents. Students will demonstrate academic achievement when the school environment is positive equitable safe and rigorous Invisible Forces Pei Pei Liu, 2023-12-01 Explores the critical role that classroom educators play in supporting student motivation throughout the transition from high school to college Educators consistently identify student motivation as a top concern particularly during the transition to college but often feel helpless to influence it Some assume that students are simply motivated or not Others are daunted by trying to shape an unobservable psychological phenomenon Invisible Forces provides a framework for thinking of student motivation as a set of internal mindsets that are promoted or thwarted through a complex ecology of personal classroom institutional and systemic factors Using the method of portraiture Pei Pei Liu brings this ecology to life The book presents a series of four rich case studies of educators efforts to support student motivation and the challenges they encounter in secondary and postsecondary writing classrooms Attuned to the unique status of writing based courses as a near universal academic experience throughout the transition from high school to college these portraits shed light on different strategies make a case for institutional support of instructors and pave the way for greater alignment between secondary and postsecondary settings
