Such Women Are Deadly:

Fatal Women of Romanticism Adriana Craciun, 2002-12-12 Incarnations of fatal women or femmes fatales recur throughout the works of women writers in the Romantic period Adriana Craciun demonstrates how portrayals of femmes fatales or fatal women played an important role in the development of Romantic women's poetic identities and informed their exploration of issues surrounding the body, sexuality and politics Craciun covers a wide range of writers and genres from the 1790s through the 1830s She discusses the work of well known figures including Mary Wollstonecraft as well as lesser known writers like Anne Bannerman By examining women writers fatal women in historical, political and medical contexts Craciun uncovers a far ranging debate on sexual difference She also engages with current research on the history of the body and sexuality providing an important historical precedent for modern feminist theory's ongoing dilemma regarding the status of woman as a sex Dangerous Women, Deadly Words Nina Cornyetz, 1999 This is a materialist feminist psychoanalytic analysis of a modern Japanese literary trope the dangerous woman linked to archaisms and magical realms and found throughout the Japanese canon in the works of three 20th century writers Izumi Kyoka 1873-1939 Enchi Fumiko 1905-86 and Nakagami Kenji 1946-92 Deadly Desires Julie Lokis-Adkins, 2018-05-01 During the fin de siècle stories about hysterical women filled the air of Paris and the novels emerging during this era conveyed this hysteria and openly portrayed the symptoms of the women being treated at the Salpetrière This book examines the emergence of hysterical discourse and its influence on women's writing specifically focusing on the presentation of female sexuality in three different narratives Violence Against Women and Children Carol J. Adams, Marie Fortune, 1995-11-01 Violence against women and children has reached epidemic proportions It cuts across all economic strata and is found in our urban centers and the farthest corners of the nation This is the only sourcebook on domestic violence for clergy and counselors Lethal Intersections Patricia Hill Collins, 2023-10-09 School shootings, police misconduct and sexual assault where people are injured and die dominate the news What are the connections between such incidents of violence and extreme harm In this new book world renowned sociologist Patricia Hill Collins explores how violence differentially affects people according to their class, sexuality, nationality and ethnicity These invisible workings of overlapping power relations give rise to what she terms lethal intersections where multiple forms of oppression converge to catalyze a set of violent practices that fall more heavily on particular groups Drawing on a rich tapestry of cases Collins challenges readers to reflect on what counts as violence today and what can be done about it Resisting violence offers a common thread that weaves together disparate antiviolence projects across the world When parents of murdered children organize against gun violence when Black citizens march against the excessive use of police force in their neighborhoods and when women and girls report sexual abuse by employers, coaches and community leaders the ideas and actions of ordinary people lay a foundation for new ways of thinking about and combating violence Through its ground breaking analysis Lethal Intersections aims to stimulate debate about

Ogle, Susan Jacobs, 2002-08-30 Battering relationships often escalate to a point where the battered woman commits homicide When such homicides occur attention is usually focused on the final violent encounter however Ogle and Jacobs argue while that act is the last homicidal encounter it is not the only one This important study argues that the battering relationship is properly understood as a long term homicidal process that if played out to the point that contrition dissipates is very likely to result in the death of one of the parties In that context Ogle and Jacobs posit a social interaction perspective for understanding the situational cultural social and structural forces that work toward maintaining the battering relationship and escalating it to a homicidal end This book details this theory and explains how to apply it in a trial setting Elements of self defense law are problematic for battered women who kill their abusers These include imminence reasonableness of the victim s perception of danger and reasonableness of the victim s choice of lethal violence and their proportionality Social interaction theory argues that once contrition dissipates imminence is constant The victim functions in an unending state of extreme tension and fear This allows us to understand the victim s view of the violence as escalating beyond control thereby increasing her reasonable perception of danger and lethality After social resources for whatever reason fail to end the violence it is then reasonable for the victim to conclude that she will have to act in her own defense in order to survive Tobacco's Deadly Secret United States.
