Suffragettes In The Purple White And Green London 19061914:

The Suffragette Bombers Simon Webb,2014-07-02 In the years leading up to the First World War the United Kingdom was subjected to a ferocious campaign of bombing and arson Those conducting this terrorist offensive were members of the Women s Social and Political Union better known as the suffragettes The targets for their attacks ranged from St Paul s Cathedral and the Bank of England in London to theatres and churches in Ireland The violence which included several attempted assassinations culminated in June 1914 with an explosion in Westminster Abbey Simon Webb explores the way in which the suffragette bombers have been airbrushed from history leaving us with a distorted view of the struggle for female suffrage Not only were the suffragettes far more aggressive than is generally known but there exists the very real and surprising possibility that their militant activities actually delayed rather than hastened the granting of the parliamentary vote to British women

Modernist Literature and Postcolonial Studies Rajeev S. Patke, 2013-05-20 Provides a fresh account of modernist writing in a perspective based on the reading strategies developed by postcolonial studies Neither modernity nor colonialism and likewise neither postmodernity nor postcoloniality can be properly understood without recognition of their intertwined development This book interprets modernity as an asymmetrically global phenomenon complexly connected to the course of Western imperialism and demonstrates how the impact of Western modernism produced new developments in writing from all the former colonies of Europe and the US These developments constitute the afterlife of Western modernism The various ways in which the aesthetic ideologies and writing strategies of Western modernism have been adapted transposed and modified by some of the most innovative writers of the twentieth century is demonstrated in the book through a set of case studies each of which juxtaposes a canonical modernist text with a postcolonial text that shows how modernist modes metamorphosed in interaction with the turbulent and volatile realities of colonies and new nations struggling to arrive at a modernity of their own in contexts marked by colonial histories Thus Kafka's allegories are juxtaposed with the use of allegory in writers like Salman Rushdie and J M Coetzee the gendered modernity of Virginia Woolf is juxtaposed with the disturbing and powerful fictions of writers such as Jean Rhys and Katherine Mansfield the intellectualized and urbanized spirituality of T S Eliot's The Waste Land is re-read in the revisionist contexts created by the brilliant and troubled urban spirituality of writers such as Arun Kolatkar from India and a text such as The Woman Who Had Two Navels from the Philippines

Shopping for Pleasure Erika Rappaport, 2021-06-08 In Shopping for Pleasure Erika Rappaport reconstructs London's Victorian and Edwardian West End as an entertainment and retail center In this neighborhood of stately homes royal palaces and spacious parks and squares a dramatic transformation unfolded that ultimately changed the meaning of femininity and the lives of women shaping their experience of modernity Rappaport illuminates the various forces of the period that encouraged and discouraged women's enjoyment of public life and particularly shows how shopping came to be seen as the quintessential leisure activity for middle and upper class women Through extensive histories of department stores women's magazines clubs teashops restaurants and the theater as interwoven sites of consumption Shopping for Pleasure uncovers how a new female urban culture emerged before and after the turn of the twentieth century Moving beyond the question of whether shopping promoted or limited women's freedom the author draws on diverse sources to explore how business practices legal decisions and cultural changes affected women in the market In particular she focuses on how and why stores presented themselves as pleasurable secure places for the urban woman in some cases defining themselves as instrumental to civic improvement and women's emancipation Rappaport also considers such influences as merchandizing strategies credit policies changes in public transportation feminism and the financial balance of power within the home Shopping for Pleasure is thus both a social and cultural history of the West End but on a broader scale it reveals the essential interplay between the rise of consumer society the birth of modern femininity and the making of contemporary London

100 ans de luttres pour l'égalité Claude

Mesmin, Sonia Bressler, 2020-07-22 Diplôme est la revue de l'Association Française des Femmes Diplômées des Universités AFFDU. Revue scientifique comitée de rédaction elle a pour vocation de promouvoir la recherche et la visibilité des femmes chercheuses en Europe. 100 ans de luttesses pour l'égalité est un numéro particulier. Il s'agit pour l'AFFDU de fêter son centenaire. Un siècle de luttesses pour convaincre de la nécessité de l'égalité mais aussi soutenir l'éducation des femmes. Depuis sa création en 1920 l'AFFDU ne cesse d'affirmer que ce sont là deux facteurs de paix. Cependant fêter les 100 années passées ne suffit pas. Nous devons aussi regarder le futur et proposer aux nouvelles générations de prendre la continuité de la lutte. Et comment fêter les 100 ans sans appeler nos sœurs de luttesses. Ce numéro relève ainsi le siècle en faisant le point sur les luttesses passées mais cherche aussi à poser les questions du futur.
