Subject Analysis in Online Catalogs Hope A. Olson, John J. Boll, 2001-09-15 A detailed analysis of the complex process of providing subject access in online catalogues The text examines the interaction of the several necessary components such as the catalogue database users hardware and software and search and retrieval software Subject Control in Online Catalogs Robert P Holley, 1990-01-23 Is the quality of subject access significantly better with the online catalog than with the card catalogs For many years librarians have been discontent with the quality of subject access in card catalogs and they hoped that the online catalog would offer significant improvements This new book addresses this question from five different perspectives research studies opinion pieces from public and technical services librarians special needs the international perspective and a comprehensive annotated bibliography of previous work By exploring the progress of the online catalog to date and making suggestions for future research the contributors to Subject Control in Online Catalogs provide important reading for public services and technical services librarians as well as systems librarians In one this single volume you will find research studies promising new paths for systems developments descriptions of international developments that have vital implications for American subject access and the valuable perspectives of innovative public and technical services librarians

Subject Analysis in Online Catalogs Rao Aluri, 1991 Introduction to Cataloging and Classification Daniel N. Joudrey, Arlene G. Taylor, David P. Miller, 2015-09-29 A new edition of this best selling textbook reintroduces the topic of library cataloging from a fresh modern perspective Not many books merit an eleventh edition but this popular text does Newly updated Introduction to Cataloging and Classification provides an introduction to descriptive cataloging based on contemporary standards explaining the basic tenets to readers without previous experience as well as to those who merely want a better understanding of the process as it exists today The text opens with the foundations of cataloging then moves to specific details and subject matter such as Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records FRBR Functional Requirements for Authority Data FRAD the International Cataloging Principles ICP and RDA Unlike other texts the book doesn't presume a close familiarity with the MARC bibliographic or authorities formats ALA's Anglo American Cataloging Rules 2nd Edition revised AACR2R or the International Standard Bibliographic Description ISBD Subject access to library materials is covered in sufficient depth to make the reader comfortable with the principles and practices of subject cataloging and classification In addition the book introduces MARC BIBFRAME and other approaches used to communicate and display bibliographic data Discussions of formatting presentation and administrative issues complete the book questions useful for review and study appear at the end of each chapter Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Cataloging Policy,2013      Reference Services and Technical Services Gordon Stevenson,Sally Stevenson,2019-12-05 This book first published in 1984 analyses the provision of more effective library service by relying more heavily on collaboration between reference and technical services librarians      Relationships in the Organization of Knowledge A. Bean,R. Green,2013-04-17 Relationships abound in the library and information science LIS world Those relationships may be social in nature as for instance when we deal with human relationships among library personnel or relationships i e public relations between an information center and its clientele The relationships may be educational as for example when we examine the relationship between the curriculum of an accredited school and the needs of the work force it is preparing students to join Or the relationships may be economic as when we investigate the relationship between the cost of journals and the frequency with which they are cited Many of the relationships of concern to us reflect phenomena entirely internal to the field the relationship between manuscript collections archives and special collections the relationship between end user search behavior and the effectiveness of searches the relationship between access to and use of information resources the relationship between recall and precision the relationship between various bibliometric laws etc The list of such relationships could go on and on The relationships addressed in this volume are restricted to those involved in the organization of recorded knowledge which tend to have a conceptual or semantic basis although statistical means are sometimes used in their discovery      Introduction to Technical Services G. Edward Evans,Sheila S. Intner,Jean Weihs,2010-11-11 Used in library schools worldwide this standard text provides students with a thorough understanding of technical services Updated and expanded the eighth edition further emphasizes the rapidly changing environment in which technical services are conducted The book covers all aspects of the field from acquisitions to managing the cataloging department with five new chapters Technical Services Issues includes material related to physical space needs E resources Issues examines how the growth of e materials impact technical services work Copy Cataloging reflects the ever increasing need to be more efficient and also to save limited funds for technical services activities Overview and Decisions addresses the issue of why and how the local OPAC has become a gateway to the universe of knowledge and Processing Materials covers the activities involved in making sure items that go into a library s collection are properly identified as belonging to the library and where the item is physically located in the collection All other chapters have been extensively rewritten and updated to reflect 2010 technical service functions and activities Complete with helpful illustrations statistics and study guide questions this text is a must for library and information science students      Academic Library Cataloging Practices Benchmarks ,2008 This 254 page report presents data from a survey of the cataloging practices of approximately 80 North American academic libraries In more than 630 tables of data and related commentary from participating librarians and our analysts the report gives a broad overview of academic library cataloging practices related to outsourcing selection and deployment of personnel salaries the state of continuing education in cataloging and much more Survey participants also discuss how they define the catalogers range of responsibilities how they train their catalogers how they assess cataloging quality whether they use cataloging quotas or other measures to spur productivity what software and other cataloging technology they use and why and how they make outsourcing decisions and more Data is broken out by size and type of college and for public and private colleges Just a few of the reports many findings are presented below More than 70% of the libraries in the sample say that their catalogers have salary levels that are comparable to those of public service librarians at their institutions About 27 3% of the survey participants routinely use paraprofessional staff for original cataloging Public colleges were more than three times more likely than private colleges to use paraprofessionals for original cataloging and larger colleges were more than twice as likely as smaller ones to do so 41 56% of the libraries in the sample outsource authority control obtaining new and updated authority records About 15 6% of the libraries in the sample outsource the cataloging of e journals close to 28% of research universities do so 20 78% of libraries in the sample use MarcEdit or other MARC editor to preview records and globally edit to local standards prior to loading 29 7% of the libraries in the sample have technical services areas that track turnaround time from Acquisitions receipt to Cataloging to shelf ready distribution About 24 7% of the libraries in the sample use paraprofessional support staff for master bibliographic record enrichment in OCLC Most of those doing so were public colleges and offered beyond the B A degree Authority control experience was considered a very important criterion for hiring by only 8 11% of survey participants while a bit more than 35% considered it important 21 62% considered authority control experience not so important as a hiring criterion

Expert Systems in Reference Services Christine Roysdon,Howard D. White,2019-12-06 This book first published in 1989 introduces readers to expert systems applications in many areas of library and information science and presents design and implementation issues encountered by librarians who have developed early systems to address the library reference function Systems for ready reference online database access and enhancement of subject searching in online catalogues are all explored Theoretical issues related to expert systems are balanced with descriptions of actual systems currently operating or under development Reference librarians interested in computing and automation library managers and administrators as well as teachers and students in library schools will be fascinated by this account of how expert systems are helping to make the expertise of the reference librarian available in a more consistent and timely fashion and reduce the burden of repetitive predictable questions for the professional

Cataloging and Classification Standards and Rules John J Riemer,2013-04-03 This is the first book to examine standards specifically as they apply to cataloging and classification while at the same time considering the field of library science as a whole The developments in standards detailed in Cataloging and Classification Standards and Rules portend great time savings in the cataloging process for those catalogers willing to advocate the necessary programming to their systems officer or bibliographic utility Standards in the library and information science community underlie and impact the work of librarians and information specialists on a daily basis yet remain inconspicuous to even the most knowledgeable in the field Cataloging and Classification Standards and Rules reviews the state of a full range of formal and informal standards and rules utilized in cataloging and classification. It also provides historical perspective, commentary, assessment of significance, and anticipation of future developments and evaluates the connections and interrelationships that exist among the various standards. Chapters in Cataloging and Classification Standards and Rules are written by professionals who have been key figures in the development of standards and have accessed primary source material for the preparation of their articles. They address these: what exactly constitutes a standard; how something becomes a standard; how standards undergo change; evaluation of and commentary on the effectiveness of current standards; the latest information on several standards currently in development; testing or implementation; what the future may hold. Cataloging and Classification Standards and Rules is a valuable reference book for both beginning and experienced professional librarians. As managers and consumers of bibliographic information, it is crucial that librarians understand the nature and status of a variety of formal and informal standards. This book will assist them in this task. Library school students specializing in cataloging and classification will also find this book an indispensable guide as they prepare themselves for employment in the field.

Cataloging and Classification Lois Mai Chan, Theodora Hodges, 2007. Cataloging and Classification Third Edition is a text for beginning students and a tool for practicing cataloging personnel. All chapters have been rewritten in this latest edition to incorporate recent developments, particularly the tremendous impact metadata and the Web have had on cataloging and classification.

Technical Services Management, 1965-1990 Ruth C. Carter, Linda C. Smith, 2012-10-12. Gain an in-depth understanding of changes in technical services that have taken place over a quarter century and look at future trends and changes that may occur. Technical Services Management surveys and analyzes technical services in libraries from 1965 to 1990, a formative period and one of great change in library operations. The book also identifies trends that continue to impact technical services operations in libraries today. Readers gain a comprehensive knowledge of where the field has been and where it is now to help them plan and prepare more effectively for the future. Most chapters are historical, combined with a firm grasp of the present and a glimpse or more at the future. They are grouped to reflect the various aspects of technical services. Trends in technical services are considered in chapters on the development of technical services literature and the major changes in technical services in school libraries. Chapters on the major subdivisions within technical services: acquisitions and collection development; cataloging and preservation; trace changes in library operations and the impact of automation. Issues in catalog design are explored in chapters on the emergence of online public access catalogs; bibliographic utilities and approaches to authority control. Efforts to improve subject access are addressed through chapters on subject cataloging; the Dewey Decimal Classification and indexing in the U.S. and Great Britain. To keep pace with changes in technical services, changes in professional education and development are needed, as documented in chapters on cataloging education; continuing education in technical services; and the role of professional organizations. The final chapter outlines new challenges in the future and new roles for librarians in an electronic environment Effective planning for the future includes learning about the past Technical Services Management 1965 1990 is a vital resource for library historians library educators technical services librarians and graduate students in library and information science who need to know how things were in order to see more clearly how things will be An Analysis of Search Failures in Online Library Catalogs Yasar Ahmet Tonta,1992
