Successful Grant Writing Kevin J. Lyons PhD, Laura N. Gitlin PhD, 2008-05-05 This fully updated and revised edition of a classic guide to grant writing for health and human service professionals reflects the two major changes in the field: new NIH application processes and an increased emphasis on interprofessional and team approaches to science. New case examples reflect grant writing strategies for a great variety of health and human service professions and the text includes an enhanced focus on online methods for organizing grant submissions. A new section on special considerations for submitting grants addresses specific types of research including community based participatory research, mixed methods, behavioral intervention research, and dissertation and mentorship proposals. The new chapter on common writing challenges and solutions provides examples of strong and weak statements and highlights the importance of writing with precision. Additionally, this new edition provides an expanded section on post award requirements and links to NIH videos about grant writing. Written for individuals in both academic and practice settings, the guide addresses step by step the fundamental principles for effectively securing funding. It is the only book to provide grant writing information that encompasses many disciplines and to focus on building a research career with grant writing as a step by step process. It provides detailed, time tested strategies for building an investigative team, highlights the challenges of collaboration, and describes how to determine the expertise needed for a team and the roles of co investigators. The book addresses the needs of both novice and more experienced researchers. New to the Fourth Edition: Reflects recent changes to the field including an emphasis on interprofessional approaches to science and new NIH application processes. Offers additional case examples relevant to social work, nursing, psychology, rehabilitation, and occupational physical and speech therapies. Provides links to NIH websites containing videos on grant writing. Includes chapter opener objectives. Expands section on post award requirements. Focuses on electronic mechanisms for organizing grant submissions.

Program Development and Grant Writing in Occupational Therapy Joy Doll, 2010-10-22 A practical guide to program development and grant writing, this text describes the process of developing a good idea into a sustainable and meaningful program related to occupational therapy principles and client needs.

Get Money for Your Classroom Barbara Gottschalk, 2017-11-10 Do you have a great teaching idea but no way to pay for it? No problem! A successful grant proposal can be the answer. Get Money for Your Classroom guides you through each step of the grant writing process, answering common questions and providing examples from real successful grant proposals. The first half of the book breaks down the nuts and bolts of a grant application; the second half introduces the author's MONEY TALKS acronym to illustrate ten important tips for writing a successful grant application: M Make Time, T Tell a Story, O Obey the Application Rules, A Ask for Action Items, N Never Start New, L Learn What's Funded, E Everybody Involved, K Keep Trying, Y Youth Input, S Show Sustainability. Each chapter is full of examples, what to do and what to avoid from the author's own grant applications. The book's appendix includes a list of national and regional grant programs appropriate for teachers. These helpful resources and the author's practical advice will give you the confidence and motivation to start applying on your own. Writing Successful Science Proposals, Second Edition Andrew J. Friedland, Carol L. Folt, 2009-01-01. This fully revised edition of the most authoritative guide to science proposal writing is essential for any scientist embarking on a thesis or grant application. Completely updated and with entirely new chapters on private foundation funding and interdisciplinary research, the book explains each step of the proposal process in detail. Praise for the first edition: This exceptionally useful and affordable handbook will serve as a refresher to seasoned writers and as a guide and source of encouragement for first-time authors. C. L. Sagers, Ecology. This inexpensive book could prove to be your best investment of the year. Bioscience. The Art of Funding and Implementing Ideas Arnold R. Shore, John M. Carfora, 2010-04-07. Takes the reader to a new level in proposal writing. The authors have captured the gestalt of grant writing in a lucid fashion. In short, I think students would appreciate the clarity and insights this book offers. Robert J. Hard, University of Texas at San Antonio. As a research scientist who is frequently involved in proposal development myself, it is clear to me that the authors have travelled the grant writer's path before. John V. Stone, Michigan State University. This resource provides a step-by-step approach to turning a research idea into a proposal worthy of funding, demystifying the process as a result. The authors present a proven approach to the development of research ideas alongside a systematic treatment of proposals, section by section, and project management function by function. Highly accessible, this book gives examples for each aspect of the proposal development and works through sketches of ideas to fully developed proposal sections. Key Features: Contains idea development linked to specific proposal sections. Supports creativity that can be captured effectively and systematically, one step at a time. Uses sketches to facilitate idea development and make enhancement and revisions easy. Allows for ease in trying out alternative formulations and revising preliminary approaches. Provides international research proposals. Key to understanding resources for proposing international research collaborations. Shows how to manage a funded project. Guides researchers and research staff in effectively implementing a funded project. This book is appropriate for all graduate students across the health, social, and behavioral sciences who need guidance on writing successful, compelling funding proposals.
