In 1925 Leonard Rhinelander the youngest son of a wealthy New York society family sued to end his marriage to Alice Jones a former domestic servant and the daughter of a colored cabman After being married only one month Rhinelander pressed for the dissolution of his marriage on the grounds that his wife had lied to him about her racial background The subsequent marital annulment trial became a massive public spectacle not only in New York but across the nation despite the fact that the state had never outlawed interracial marriage Elizabeth Smith Pryor makes extensive use of trial transcripts in addition to contemporary newspaper coverage and archival sources to explore why Leonard Rhinelander was allowed his day in court She moves fluidly between legal history a day by day narrative of the trial itself and analyses of the trial s place in the culture of the 1920s North to show how notions of race property and the law were and are inextricably intertwined

The Jury Summation as Speech Genre Bettyruth Walter,1988-01-01 The American courtroom trial is a speech situation Everything occurs through the spoken word The summation as speech event embedded within the trial which is the chronological and psychological culmination of it is one of the few opportunities for the lawyer to communicate directly with jurors But the speech genre summation involves preliminaries as well as the event itself and it can affect the aftermath of the trial for the decisions of the jurors may be influenced by this discourse This ethnographic study considers the summation from three perspectives that of the producer from the point of view of the ethnographer who observed and analyzed sixty six actual summations and from that of the receivers of the speech event who must act upon it Information was obtained from post deliberation questionnaires completed by 223 jurors plus 35 alternate jurors
