The Guinness Of Clocks:

Selfe,2023-04-28 A friendship first made on a 1950s holiday a document unsigned at the last moment the suggestion made by a stranger a photograph taken in Spain all elements in a chain of events leading to a totally unexpected romantic encounter quite late in life This is the story of a childhood in the 1930s taking us through carefree days at the seaside when it is never too young to fall in love An account of wartime on the east coast and day to day work behind a pharmacy counter in those long dark years is interlaced with notes on severe winters from a daily 80 year record kept by a dedicated amateur weatherman Along the way there are accounts of incidents of a supernatural nature how a smoking habit may have saved a life which it took away in later years encounters with fire in one case a little too close for comfort Readers can form their own opinion as to whether the happenings set down in these pages are just a matter of random chance or is there indeed a guiding thread of predestination leading to a totally unexpected change of lifestyle Ireland's Eye Mark Anthony Jarman,2005-03-01 On August 28 1922 the martyred Irish patriot

Michael Collins was buried Businesses across Dublin closed as thousands came out to pay their respects On the same day Michael Lyons a cooper from the Guinness factory drowned in Dublin s Royal Canal This peculiar confluence is Mark Anthony Jarman s starting point for a meditation on the intertwined history of a nation and his family Jarman s pursuit of the circumstances of his grandfather s drowning leads him through a modern Ireland that teems with ghosts from the past Thwarted by family gossip aunts who can t drive a stick shift cousins more interested in pubs than lore and his own fascination with the many Irelands that have been Jarman finds what he s seeking despite or perhaps because of the antics and the unreliable histories What he reconfigures is a revelation and an enchanting and engrossing read
