are the most important written source for 5th 7th century western British history Against a background for Old World prehistory and the classical civilizations this book focuses on the inscribed memorial stones of Demetia south west Wales modern day Dyfed and Dumnonia Devon Cornwall and part of Somerset The author looks at cultural change after AD 400 by analyzing the evidence or messages left on memorial stones The invention of the ogam script in Ireland and its use with implications for both paganism and Christianity on such stones is examined A group of chapters is devoted to a particular reconstruction of events in south west Wales between AD 400 and 600 the establishment of an Irish descended kingdom of Dementia The author demonstrates that the Dementians adopted first Latinity use of Roman names ets and only then Christinity influenced by sub Roman native kingdoms to the east The author then traces a remarkable venture to the interior the foundation of a small Dementian kingdom in the upper Usk valley and examines documentary evidence for the first settler king Brychan and as monk and saint his connection with Lundy Island in the Bristol Channel and north Devon Evidence for a post Roman native kingdom in Cornwall Devon and part of Somerset is next considered as is minor Irish settlement in west Cornwall around the year 400 and an isolated introduction of Christianity from 5th century Gaul Inscribed stones show that the conversion of Dumnonia to Christianity though field work has revealed that far from being a Land of Saints the deep south west did not become Christian until well into the 6th century     The Greek Stones Speak Paul Lachlan revealed about the ancient cultures of the Aegeans and Grecians It is a story that begins with the potsherds of Neolithic villages and climaxes in the glories of Lyric Classical and Hellenistic Greece Among its fascinating events is Ventris deciphering of the archaic Linear B script a breakthrough which revealed the secrets of the fabulous Minoan civilization Wedding the complex techniques of such archaeological methods as the carbon 14 dating of artifacts to an astonishingly complete cultural history of man in Greece the author has produced a lavishly illustrated study that will interest nonprofessionals as much as archaeologists historians travelers and students of the fine arts     The Rotarian ,1971-04

The Classical Parthenon William St Clair,2022-08-24 Complementing Who Saved the Parthenon this companion volume sets aside more recent narratives surrounding the Athenian Acropolis supposedly the very symbol of democracy itself instead asking if we can truly access an ancient past imputed with modern meaning And if so how In this book William St Clair presents a reconstructed understanding of the Parthenon from within the classical Athenian worldview He explores its role and meaning by weaving together a range of textual and visual sources into two innovative oratorical experiments a speech in the style of Thucydides and a first century CE rhetorical exercise which are used to develop a narrative analysis of the temple structure revealing a strange story of indigeneity origins and empire The Classical Parthenon offers new answers to old questions such as the riddle of the Parthenon frieze and provides a framing device for the wider relationship between visual artefacts built heritage and layers of accumulated cultural rhetoric This groundbreaking and pertinent work will appeal across the disciplines to readers interested in the classics art history and the nature of history while also speaking to a general audience that is interrogating the role of monuments in contemporary society

Early Christianity in South-West Britain

Elizabeth Rees, 2020-03-30 This book offers a new assessment of early Christianity in south west Britain from the fourth to the tenth centuries a rich period which includes the transition from Roman to native British to Saxon models of church The book will be based on evidence from archaeological excavations early texts and recent critical scholarship and cover Wessex Devon and Cornwall In the south west Wessex provides the greatest evidence of Roman Christianity The fifth century Dorset villas of Frampton and Hinton St Mary with their complex baptistery mosaics indicate the presence of sophisticated Christian house churches The fact that these two Roman villas are only 15 miles apart suggests a network of small Christian communities in this region The author uses evidence from St Patrick s fifth century Confessions to describe how members of a villa house church lived Wessex was slowly Christianised in Gloucestershire the pagan healing sanctuary at Chedworth provides evidence of later use as a Christian baptistery at Bradford on Avon in Wiltshire a baptistery was dug into the mosaic floor of an imposing villa which may by then have been owned by a bishop In Somerset a number of recently excavated sites demonstrate the transition from a pagan temple to a Christian church Beside the pagan temple at Lamyatt later female burials suggest unusually a small monastic group of women Wells cathedral grew beside the site of a Roman villa s funeral chapel In Street a large oval enclosure indicates the probable site of a Celtic monastery Early Christian cemeteries have been excavated at Shepton Mallet and elsewhere Lundy Island off the Devon coast provides evidence of a Celtic monastery with its inscribed stones that commemorate early monks At Exeter a Saxon anthology includes numerous riddles one of which describes in detail the production of an illuminated manuscript in a south western monastery Oliver Padel s meticulous documentation of Cornish place names has demonstrated that of all the Celtic regions Cornwall has by far the highest number of dedications to a single otherwise unknown individual typically consisting of a small church and a farm by the sea These small monastic cells have hitherto received little attention as a model of church in early British Christianity and the latter part of the text focuses on various aspects of this model as lived out in coastal and in upland settlements on islands and in relation to larger Breton monasteries Study of 60 Breton sites has demonstrated possible connections between larger Breton monasteries and smaller Cornish cells
