Standards of American Legislation Ernst Freund, 2015-07-07 Excerpt from Standards of American Legislation An Estimate of Restrictive and Constructive Factors This book gives in somewhat expanded form the substance of a series of lectures delivered at Johns Hopkins University in March 1915 The origin of the book explains its character it is an essay of constructive criticism and not a systematic treatise Its purpose is to suggest the possibility of supplementing the established doctrine of constitutional law which enforces legislative norms through ex post facto review and negation by a system of positive principles that should guide and control the making of statutes and give a more definite meaning and content to the concept of due process of law It is hoped that the book may be found to be a slight contribution to the rapidly growing movement for the improvement of our statute law About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
