Standing Ovation:

Complex Adaptive Systems John H. Miller, Scott E. Page, 2009-11-28 This book provides the first clear comprehensive and accessible account of complex adaptive social systems by two of the field's leading authorities. Such systems, whether political parties, stock markets, or ant colonies, present some of the most intriguing theoretical and practical challenges confronting the social sciences. Engagingly written and balancing technical detail with intuitive explanations, Complex Adaptive Systems focuses on the key tools and ideas that have emerged in the field since the mid 1990s as well as the techniques needed to investigate such systems. It provides a detailed introduction to concepts such as emergence, self-organized criticality, automata, networks, diversity, adaptation, and feedback. It also demonstrates how complex adaptive systems can be explored using methods ranging from mathematics to computational models of adaptive agents. John Miller and Scott Page show how to combine ideas from economics, political science, biology, physics, and computer science to illuminate topics in organization, adaptation, decentralization, and robustness. They also demonstrate how the usual extremes used in modeling can be fruitfully transcended.

Gapology Mark Thienes, Brian Brockhoff, 2015-04-20 Gapology is the term Mark Thienes and Brian Brockhoff coined to describe what winning leaders do to identify and close performance gaps in their teams. Gapology is their process. For more than a decade they analyzed the results, leadership behaviors, and tactics of winning leaders as compared to those of leaders who were not winning. They wanted to understand how winning leaders win and if winning could be replicated. They were deeply curious about whether winning can be taught to those not winning or if winning leaders are simply born with the skills to win. As they interviewed and documented their conversations with winning leaders, they found commonalities. The most amazing was that all performance gaps are either Knowledge Gaps, Importance Gaps, Action Gaps, or some combination of the three. Gapology provides the keys to unlock these mysteries in the form of nine root solutions that when applied intentionally close the performance gaps quickly and permanently. Gapology is for all leaders regardless of the size of the team or the industry in which they work. As long as people are being led, Gapology is needed. These discoveries are now at your fingertips. Achieve your full potential with Gapology.

Serious Grownup Sh*t Dr. Brandon Day, 2024-11-23 After a lifetime of bad decisions, job after job, excessive indulgence in drugs and booze, a massive accumulation of debt, and a couple of unwanted divorces, none of which were his fault, of course, bestselling author and comedian Dr. Brandon Day has lots to share with his readers. But those listeners need to prepare for a bucket load of barely credible, sometimes shocking experiences delivered with an earful of expletives, a bottomless pit of clever analogies, lots of self-deprecation, a good measure of sarcasm, and lots of tongue-in-cheek humor. Dr. Brandon Day has elected to laugh at his messy life, can be, and he invites us to laugh along with him. Though circumstances differ, many of us will see ourselves in Dr. Brandon. He connects with us, draws us in, and leaves us thinking about the many issues, political, social, and cultural, that he addresses ever so subtly and sometimes like a brick over the head Are you ready for an outrageous often irreverent read Brace yourself I always hated being an adult I resented the idea of being so caught up in all of that silly grown up stuff like forgetting to pay my bills finding socks that matched and lying about why I was late for work everyday that I lost sight of everything that ever made me happy as a child I gave up on popping wheelies I stopped ding dong ditching the crazy old cat lady who lived down the street I didn't even think spitballs or really loud farts were as funny as they used to be and I hadn't drawn a dick on a school desk or a bathroom stall in years Heck I couldn't even remember the last time I threw an underage drinking party at my parent's house when they weren't home or when I had sex with a sixteen year old girl in the back seat of my mom's car By my 40th birthday I was completely broken and just a shell of that spry boy who left the loudest farts in the 5th grade It was sometime after I graduated college when I realized that I needed to find a fucking job and move the hell out so I could start paying my own goddamn bills already At least that's what my parents were always telling me What my parents didn't understand was that I was a Psychology major and we Psychology majors well we don't do stuff like get good jobs or move out of our parent's house With a shitty college major and not enough charm or good looks to enter the lucrative world of pharmaceutical sales like my mom and dad wanted me to it looked like I was destined to smoke pot all day and live with my parents forever But with a little luck and a lot of white privilege my life is finally on the right track I healed the damaged relationship with my father even though he could be a real dick sometimes I also awakened my inner child Now I am the same fun loving happy go lucky kid who used to masturbate five times a day and played with matches I have dental insurance an amicable divorce and two kids who aren't in therapy yet I am even back to drawing dicks on people's stuff at work again Let's just say my life turned out exactly as God had planned Hide Long Description Verbal Ability And

Dying to Do Letterman Steve Mazan, 2011-10-17 The comedian describes his life and battle with liver cancer which prompted him to pursue his dream of appearing on Late Night with David Letterman Music, Performance, and the Realities of Film Ben Winters, 2014-02-05 This book examines the relationship between narrative film and reality as seen through the lens of on screen classical concert performance By investigating these scenes wherein the performance of music is foregrounded in the narrative Winters uncovers how concert performance reflexively articulates music s importance to the ontology of film The book asserts that narrative film of a variety of aesthetic approaches and traditions is no mere copy of everyday reality but constitutes its own filmic reality and that the music heard in a film s underscore plays an important role in distinguishing film reality from the everyday As a result concert scenes are examined as sites for provocative interactions between these two realities in which real world musicians appear in fictional narratives and an audience s suspension of disbelief is problematised In blurring the musical experiences of onscreen observers and participants these concert scenes also allegorize music s role in creating a shared subjectivity between film audience and character and prompt Winters to propose a radically new vision of music s role in narrative cinema wherein musical underscore becomes part of a shared audio visual space that may be just as accessible to the characters as the music they encounter in scenes of concert performance Inflation of Symbols Orrin Edgar Klapp, 1991-01-01 Today Americans are used to keeping tabs on inflation through the use of price indexes and interest rates and to restraining it through the use of Federal Reserve monetary policy. No tabs however are kept on other kinds of inflation of symbols other than money. Klapp looks into what the inflation of value might mean and how it occurs in social relations, popular culture, mass contagions, fads and fashions, even smiles and kisses. In Klapp's view, symbolic or cultural inflation applies to all social processes in which enlargement, expansion or oversupply leads to the diminishing of value of a symbol. Its symptoms have been noted in the arts, in communications and in politics, but there have been few if any attempts to analyze the mechanism by which such inflation occurs. The author attempts such an analysis, structuring it around those mechanisms he terms social magnifiers. On the simplest level, there is mere overstatement, the exaggeration of claims that lose credibility as the reality is seen to fall short. More socially complex are types of magnifiers that involve shared cultural values and large groups of people. These include crusading, the rhetorical inflation of a conflict into a war of good versus evil, emotional contagion, which through uncritical suggestibility draws large numbers of people into actions that exaggerate value and self expansion through identification with others, the vicarious triumphs and careers of heroes and celebrities, a process Klapp terms emotional hitchhiking. Finally, there is the market-like type of cultural inflation in which oversupply of a symbol leads to a weakening of its power to elicit desired responses. Klapp demonstrates how this market concept applies to such symbols as credentials, medals, smiles, kisses, greeting cards, religious tokens, fashions, and finally to information itself. The result of Klapp's study is to bring into focus this vast, pervasive, largely unwitting sort of inflation that eats away at cultural values that carry no price in the money market and to isolate various conditions: massness, egalitarianism, loss of scarcity that favor social inflation, and thereby help us to understand even to control it as a source of disappointment in modern society. This book will be of interest to sociologists, economists, and students of American culture concerned with the erosion of values in an information age.
