African American Student's Guide to College Success F. Erik Brooks, Glenn L. Starks, 2015-10-21 This encouraging guide coaches African American and first generation college students on strategies for maximizing their experiences and success on university campuses. Marked gaps in academic achievements continue to exist between white and black students on college campuses in America. This motivational book with contributions from academic role models from within the African American community provides tools to help ethnically diverse students choose the best college, improve their study skills, and cope with academic anxiety. From college selection to graduation, this practical resource provides firsthand accounts of successful college experiences and the strategies used by former students to obtain their degrees. This work is divided into four parts. After an introductory section that addresses how to find the right college for aspiring students, the second part discusses the culture of an academic environment and reveals what incoming students may discover on a new campus. The third section introduces the language and lingo used in college settings. Finally, the guide concludes with conversations with successful African Americans who have achieved their undergraduate, graduate, and professional degrees. The content also features a helpful college and university directory.

Teaching First-Year College Students Bette LaSere Erickson, Calvin B. Peters, Diane Weltner Strommer, 2009-11-24 Teaching First Year College Students is a thoroughly expanded and updated edition of Teaching College Freshmen which has become a classic in the field since it was published in 1991. The book offers concrete suggestions about specific strategies and approaches for faculty who teach first year courses. The new edition is based on the most current research on teaching and learning and incorporates information about the demographic changes that have occurred in student populations since the first edition was published. The updated strategies are designed to help first year students adjust effectively to both the academic and nonacademic pressures of college. The authors also help faculty understand first year students and show how their experiences in high school have prepared or not prepared them for the world of higher education.

Challenges and Transitions in Education in Times of Crisis Purpuri, Leah, Gray, Sancha, 2024-07-26

The COVID 19 pandemic emerged as a disruptive force that exposed numerous challenges From the sudden shift to virtual learning accompanied by technology disparities to issues of diversity equity and inclusion the crisis impacted students families educators and leaders alike The social and emotional well being of learners took center stage and the need for academic rigor became even more pressing as learning gaps widened Teachers faced the challenge of maintaining motivation while complications in students home lives became increasingly apparent The involvement or lack thereof of families and communities in the education process added another layer of complexity It is within this complex educational landscape that our book presents itself as a beacon of hope and transformation Challenges and Transitions in Education in Times of Crisis is the solution to the unprecedented challenges that COVID 19 brought to the education sector It goes beyond just analyzing the problems and delves deep into innovative and actionable solutions that have emerged from this crisis The book provides a comprehensive overview of the educational environment from pre pandemic to post pandemic through a lens of opportunity It is a guide for all stakeholders in education presenting evidence based strategies and best practices to address the complex issues facing our schools

The Meaning of Learning and Knowing Erik Jan van Rossum, Rebecca Hamer, 2010-01-01

The Meaning of Learning and Knowing co authored by Erik Jan van Rossum and Rebecca Hamer brings together empirical studies on epistemology student thinking teacher thinking educational policy and staff development forging a solid and practical foundation for educational innovation Since the 1980s they developed and published about a six stage developmental model describing the qualitatively different ways students and teachers view learning and good teaching A model with far reaching consequences for education educational innovation and democratic society Their comprehensive review of research from many disciplines underpins the empirical evidence of over 650 students and teachers Each of the six worldviews results in a unique way of meaning making These six Ways of Knowing or Orders of Consciousness are characterised by increasing complexity of thinking with fourth level thinking or self authorship representing the most common espoused goal of higher education Ample evidence is presented that higher education is not attaining its own espoused goals One explanation may be that many teachers in higher education have not themselves reached the minimum required way of knowing preventing them from constructing a developmental path for their students Van Rossum and Hamer s epistemological model provides clear signposts on the developmental education highway and has proven its worth as an instrument for curriculum design measurement of epistemological development and as a tool for staff development
