Starting Over William F. Willingham, 2005 And 1890s the second wave of settlement from 1890 to 1910 and social and economic changes up to 1920 One chapter addresses social conflict and violence during the settlement period Distributed by the U of Washington Press Annotation 2006 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews.com Frontier Boosters Elaine Naylor, 2014-04-01 Frontier Boosters is a compelling social history of urbanization and economic development in the nineteenth century American West Focusing on Port Townsend Washington and the surrounding Puget Sound region Elaine Naylor examines economic development boosterism and the dynamics of class and race in frontier settlement In the late nineteenth century Seattle had not yet fully emerged as the premier city of the Pacific Northwest and the residents of Port Townsend had every reason to imagine their town located at the entrance to Puget Sound the waterway for the timber resources that drove Washington's frontier economy as the region's burgeoning metropolis Naylor argues that the promotion of local economic development defined as boosterism and commonly linked with land speculators investors and businessmen was in fact embraced by ordinary frontier citizens As such a booster mentality became integrated into Port Townsend's social dynamics shaping the town's class and race relations specifically between its Euro American Native American and Chinese communities Frontier Boosters illuminates the importance of economic development to ordinary settlers and highlights the complex interrelationship between the social dynamics of class and race within the context of the American frontier

Alfred Emanuel Smith, Francis Walton, 1885 Sanctified Landscape David Schuyler, 2012-04-27 The Hudson River Valley was the first iconic American landscape Beginning as early as the 1820s artists and writers found new ways of thinking about the human relationship with the natural world along the Hudson Here amid the most dramatic river and mountain scenery in the eastern United States Washington Irving and James Fenimore Cooper created a distinctly American literature grounded in folklore and history that contributed to the emergence of a sense of place in the valley Painters led by Thomas Cole founded the Hudson River School widely recognized as the first truly national style of art As the century advanced and as landscape and history became increasingly intertwined in the national consciousness an aesthetic identity took shape in the region through literature art memory and folklore even gardens and domestic architecture In Sanctified Landscape David Schuyler recounts this story of America's idealization of the Hudson Valley during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Schuyler's story unfolds during a time of great change in American history At the very moment when artists and writers were exploring the aesthetic potential of the Hudson Valley the transportation revolution and the rise of industrial capitalism were transforming the region The first generation of American tourists traveled from New York City to Cozzens Hotel and the Catskill Mountain House in search of the picturesque Those who could afford to live some distance from jobs in the city built suburban homes or country estates Given these momentous changes it is not surprising that historic preservation emerged in the Hudson Valley the first building in the United States preserved for its historic significance is Washington's Headquarters in Newburgh Schuyler also finds the seeds of the modern environmental movement in the transformation of the Hudson Valley landscape Richly illustrated and compellingly written Sanctified Landscape makes for rewarding reading Schuyler expertly ties local history to national developments revealing why the Hudson River Valley was so important to nineteenth century Americans and why it is still beloved today The Centennial History of Oregon, 1811-1912 Joseph Gaston, 1912 History of Oregon Charles Henry Carey, 1922 Library has vol 1 2 3 The National Register of Historic Places, 1976 Ronald M.
